HAMON CASE TO JURY LATE TODAY

ATTACKED BY TWO MASKED BANDITS ON STEPS OF NINICH HOME.

LASTRO FATALLY SHOT MILAM NINICH STABBED

One Of Bandits Knocked Sprawling On The Lawn When Diamonds Are Demanded.

By United Press.

DALLAS, TEXAS, March 17.—P. W. Lastro, 51, was shot fatally and Milam Ninich, a confectioner, his brother-in-law, was stabbed and seriously wounded in a desperate battle with two masked highwaymen on the steps of Ninich home on Reiger street early today.

Lastro died on the operating table at the hospital. Five squads of police took up pursuit of the highwaymen and all roads and railroad stations were patrolled today to prevent the bandits from escaping from the city.

Lastro and Ninich were held up as they stepped onto the porch of the Ninich home.

"Give us that diamond," commanded one as he seized Ninich by the throat, referring to a $3,000 diamond ring Ninich wore. The other holdup man demanded the $1,000 stud Lastro wore. Lastro knocked the bandit sprawling onto the lawn.

"Shoot him, damn him, shoot," shouted the man struggling with Ninich. He hit Ninich between the eyes with a gun, dazing the confectioner, who had also been slashed with a knife. He went to the aid of the companion who was in hands of Lastro. One of them shot Lastro and then both ran.

At the hospital this morning it was said Ninich may recover. He was a member of the firm of Dimitri & Ninich.

GRAY CHECKERED CAP IS ONLY CLUE TO MURDER

DALLAS, TEXAS, March 17.—A gray checkered cap is the only clue police had today to the identification of two men, who, shortly after midnight, killed Peter Lastro, 50, and wounded Milan Ninich, 45, Dallas business men, in an attempted holdup. Ninich and Lastro were attacked in front of the Ninich home and offered resistance. A two minute scuffle followed during which the bandits shot and killed Lastro. Ninich's wound is not serious. One of the would-be robbers left his cap.

PACKER EMPLOYES VOTE FOR A STRIKE

Result Of Referendum Said To Be Almost Unanimous In Favor Of Proposal.

By United Press.

CHICAGO, March 17.—Packer employes have voted practically unanimously in favor of a strike, union leaders said today.

Official results of the vote probably will be announced today.

Union delegates to the conference to be held in Washington next Monday will urge that the Alshuler arbitration pact, recently cancelled by the packers, be enforced on the ground that it is still legally in effect.

Heads of the organizations of packer workers decided to vest the power to call a strike in Dennis Lane, secretary of the Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers' union, and Attorney Redmond S. Brennan, delegate to the packing house wage conference.

A further conference of union leaders will be held in Washington Monday, it was said.

NINETY-EIGHT OF THE FIRST ONE HUNDRED FOR STRIKE

KANSAS CITY, MO., March 17.—Official count of the first hundred ballots in the packing house strike vote taken yesterday, showed 98 in favor of a walkout and two opposed, union officials announced today. The vote is being completed today with the taking of ballots from the workers at the Swift and Wilson packing plants and the count probably will be completed by midnight, according to union officials.

WILL SET ASIDE RATES ON FEEDER CATTLE FOR THE SUMMER SHIPMENT

WASHINGTON, March 17.—An informal agreement to set aside during the summer present rates on shipment of feeder cattle from the southwest pasturage in the northwest and restore the tariffs existing before the increase was made was reached today between representatives of the railways and livestock organizations in conference with Chairman Clark of the interstate commerce commission. The new rates will be effective April 1 to July 1, after the commission has received and approved the new schedules.

BINGHAMPTON PAPER RESUMES PUBLICATION

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., March 17.—Binghampton newspapers resumed publication today after a lapse of eight days, due to a strike of union printers. The Press (afternoon) issued an eight page paper with advertising eliminated. The Morning Sun is arranging to resume publication tomorrow morning. Forces of non-union linotype operators and compositors were working for the papers. The strikers asserted today that they would continue their strike with support from the international union.

INDICTMENTS AGAINST SEVEN BALL PLAYERS DISMISSED BY JUDGE

VOTE CONFIDENCE IN BRIAND GOVERNMENT

By Associated Press.

PARIS, March 17.—The chamber of deputies voted confidence in the government of Premier Briand today at the end of the debate on the reparations decisions arrived at in the London conference. The vote was 489 to 67.

CHICAGO, March 17.—The state today dropped the cases against all of the White Sox baseball players indicted for the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series except Chick Gandil.

The action was taken after Judge Wm. E. Dever had refused to grant a continuance of more than 60 days in the case. The state demanded six months, on the grounds that it would take that length of time to gather evidence which would give the prosecution a chance of conviction.

Immediately after the action had been taken, Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney announced that an attempt would be made to gather evidence and that new indictments would be sought when obtainable. The players whose cases were dropped were those who had surrendered and given bail, namely Claude Williams, Joe Jackson, Oscar Felsch, Swede Risberg, Eddie Cicotte, Buck Weaver and Fred McMullin.

Stricken From Docket.

The cases of Gandil, Hal Chase, Abe Attell, Rachel Brown, Joseph J. Sullivan and Bill Burns were stricken off the court call by Judge Dever. They were charged with being the men who arranged the alleged conspiracy. Taking the cases off the call prevents calling them up again for six months

Mr Crowe, in his announcement that the cases were dropped, said that he "was convinced that a crime had been committed, but that corruption of the state's principal witnesses made it impossible to go on with the case."

"Joe Jackson, Eddie Cicotte and Claude Williams, the men who confessed to the grand jury, have been corrupted," he declared.

"With their evidence available, we would have a clean cut case against these men and be sure of obtaining convictions. Without their evidence our case is hopeless.

Case Not Finished.

"This case is not finished, however, and these men have not escaped punishment. We are going right after the evidence that will convict and we know where to get it.

"When this evidence has been procured I shall personally go before the grand jury and seek new indictments. And there will be no mistakes next time."

Michael Ahearn, of counsel for Weaver, Felsch, McMullin and Risberg, issued a statement saying they always had been ready for trial and had assumed that the state's attorney himself would meet the expectations of the public and dispose of the matter fully and promptly.

"Our clients," the statement said, "do not want a half way vindication as a result of the nolle prosse. They want to be fully cleared. If there are new indictments, we will demand an immediate trial."

Mr. Crowe in his statements also said that a "news syndicate in some underhanded way obtained copies of the grand jury testimony," and offered it for sale, thus making it plain the defense was in "full possession of all our evidence and to proceed would be useless." The testimony has never been published.

JUDGE LANDIS DECLINES TO COMMENT ON ACTION

CHICAGO, March 17.—Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, refused to comment today on the action of the state in dropping the baseball gambling cases.

"They've what," he shouted, when told that the cases had been dropped. "I can't say a word," he continued.

AIR SERVICE IS TO GAS A BATTLESHIP AS DEMONSTRATION

EXPECTS TO PROVE BIG VESSEL CAN BE FORCED INTO SUBMISSION.

POSSIBILITIES OF GAS ASTOUNDING SAYS OFFICER

Air Battle Will Probably Take Place First Week In June, It Is Announced.

By RALPH H. TURNER
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 17. — The army air service is preparing to gas a battleship.

When the army planes gather over an obsolete battleship next June to demonstrate that surface craft is helpless under a shower of bombs, the air service also intends to show that a battleship can be forced into virtual submission by the use of gas.

This was revealed today by Brigadier General William M. Mitchell, assistant general director of the air service, and Colonel A. E. Fries, head of the chemical warfare section, who is co-operating with Mitchell in the proposed gas attack.

The possibilities of gas bombs "are so astounding as to make one wince," Colonel Fries told the United Press today.

"Any form of gas," Fries said, "varying from the kind that puts men gently asleep to the poisonous mustard variety and the tear gas, can be placed in explosive shells and dropped by airplanes on an enemy fleet below. The was would permeate a battleship, some kinds continuing their effect for several days. The crew of the enemy ship presumably would don gas masks and rubber suits, but this would greatly incapacitate them for work aboard ship and some gases are so powerful as to defy artificial protection."

Liquid gas, Fries explained, could be showered on a battle fleet by a host of airplanes so that it would descend in a steady mist. Progress by the United States in chemical warfare, Fries said, also has reached the point where floating bombs can be dropped in the water, creating a smoke cloud both poisonous and obstructive to a ship's visibility.

The air battle probably will take place the first week in June. Mitchell plans to employ 100 planes, raining bombs as great as a ton in weight upon the battleship which will be sacrificed for the science of war.

FRANCE IS REPORTED READY TO RECOGNIZE GOVERNMENT MEXICO

Cheer Up; Mercury At 90, and Summer Just 3 Months Off

The man who remembers that year when we had a big snow in April was fussing Thursday because the electric fan wouldn't run.

The guy who recalls the year when he didn't take 'em off until nearly June was wrapping himself around a cold one (less than ½ per cent) at the soda fountain.

The little birdlets are building their nestlets in the treelets. The ice men are wearing looks of ill-concealed satisfaction.

The thermometer at Art's store registered 90 degrees Thursday afternoon, after flirting around 75 and 80 all week.

The straw hat market is dull, but trade in bee-vees is reported brisk.

YOUNG MEN GIVE HOUSTON CITIZEN SEVERE WHIPPING

HOUSTON, TEXAS, March 17.—Silence today surrounded the kidnaping and whipping given by a party of young men last night to A. V Hopkins, local business man. Hopkins was called from a business meeting, seized on a downtown street, carried to a lonely spot several miles south of the city and heavily lashed He was warned not to "let it happen again."

While rumors were rife as to what caused the affair Hopkins was not "at home" it was stated at his apartment.

BOLSHEVIKI CAPTURE KRONSTADT FORTRESS SAYS LATE DISPATCH

RIGA, March 17.—The mission here asserted today that the bolsheviki captured Kronstadt from the revolutionists Wednesday night.

COPENHAGEN, March 17.—The bolshevik batteries on the Karelian headland opened a strong fire against Kronstadt yesterday, says the Helsingfors correspondent of the Berlingske Tidende today.

The bombardment from Kronstadt caused four extensive fires along the coast toward Petrograd, the warships at Kronstadt participating in the bombardment, the correspondent adds.

Finnish refugees from Systerbak report the bolshevik are making extensive preparations for a new attack on Kronstadt, four artillery divisions with forty-eight four-inch and six-inch guns being concentrated between Systerbak and Petrograd.

Last night there was a violent artillery duel between the fortress at Kronstadt, Krasynaye Gorka and Oranienbaum.

IMPORTANT TOWNS ARE OCCUPIED BY SEMENOFF

By Associated Press.

PARIS, March 16.—Occupation of the two towns of Kiakhta and Troitskosavsk, located on the frontier between Mongolia and Siberia about 170 miles southeast of Irkutsk, by General Byron Michael Ungern-Sternberg, chief lieutenant of General Semenoff, is reported here. These towns are about 125 miles south of Verkhnie Udinsk, through which runs the Trans-Siberian railway. They were formerly of great commercial importance, being trading stations at which Chinese and Russian merchants met.

General Semenoff's forces have been in the process of organizing around Khailar, northwestern Manchuria, but the capture of the city of Urga, about 175 miles southeast of Kiakhta, in January, showed that anti-bolshevik elements had moved westward from Manchuria to a point within striking distance of the Siberian frontier.

There have been reports of an anti-bolshevik uprising at Irkutsk and other points west of Lake Baikal, and it seems probable that the occupation of Kiakhta and Troitskosavsk may foreshadow an attempt on the part of General Semenoff's followers to join forces with elements in Siberia which are opposing the authority of the soviet government in Moscow.

FRENCH TURKISH FORCES ARE ENGAGED IN FIGHTING

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 17.—French Turkish forces in Cilicia have been engaged in renewed fighting there, it is said in advices received in this city. Further uprising against the bolshevik in Kuban, Terek and Daghestan are reported.

COSTA RICA BEING SHARPLY CRITICISED

Opponents Of Government Do Not Approve Action In Dealing With Panama Situation.

SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, March 17.—Opponents of the government of Costa Rica are sharply criticizing the administration for terminating hostilities between this country and Panama following intervention by the United States.

Exciting scenes are occurring in congress, many members of which are denouncing the government as favoring Panama and endangering the independence of Costa Rica.

The government is making conciliatory replies to the criticisms and endeavoring to calm the storm.

Costa Rican interests in Panama have been placed in the hands of the Spanish minister there. The Panaman government has repatriated many Costa Ricans who were taken prisoner during the recent fighting and has sent them to Puerto Limon. United States warships are reported to be watching the Costa Rican and Panaman coast.

URGENT DEMAND FOR AN IMMEDIATE SETTLEMENT

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—An urgent demand that the government of Panama immediately settle its boundary dispute with Costa Rica, is made by the United States in a note dispatched to Panama Tuesday and made public by the state department today.

The note insists that Panama abide by the boundary decision of Chief Justice White and that the United States "would view with apprehension a continuance of the dispute which has already given rise to hostilities with loss of life."

TOSSING OF BOMBS FEATURE OF DUBLIN ST. PATRICK'S DAY

LARGE GATHERINGS BARRED BUT MANY PEOPLE APPEAR ON THE STREETS.

RIFLE FIRE OF TROOPS WOUND EIGHT CIVILIANS

An Effort Is Made To Have The Day Mark The Turning Point Toward Peace.

DUBLIN, March 17. — Tossing of bombs ushered in St. Patrick's day today.

Irishmen were awakened by the reverberations of explosions, echoing through the streets Three military motor lorries were attacked, but were undamaged. The rifle fire of the troops wounded eight civilians.

Large gatherings were barred in Dublin, but many persons appeared in the streets wearing the ancient Gaelic costume, talking Gaelic.

British soldiers were noticed with shamrocks on their jackets.

Unofficially an effort was made to have the day mark the turning point toward peace

Word reached sinn fein leaders that Great Britain is ready to recognize the Irish parliament as comprising the duly elected representatives of the Irish people. The recognition will be based, it was said, on the fact that the Dail Eireann is composed of men elected to British house of commons, but refusing to serve.

With that fairly definite assurance, Ireland's peace leaders hoped for the aid of the churches today to arouse a peace sentiment.

Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, requested that the special services today include prayers for peace.

At the same time a peace drive was launched in England where the archbishop of Canterbury has appealed for special prayers to mark the day

St. Patrick's day found a British army of sixty thousand men scattered through the isle.

Opposing this force was a sinn fein army of five times that many men.

Despite the numerical superiority, there was little talk in Irish gatherings of driving the British out. The superior equipment of the military, the fact that it is mobilized at all times and that it could count speedy reinforcement were recognized.

IRELAND OBSERVES HER SADDEST ST. PATRICK'S DAY

DUBLIN, March 17.—Ireland observed her saddest St. Patrick's day today.

It was inaugurated with three attacks on military lorries. Residents within sound of the firing were thrown into panic, fearing the inception of reprisals for the six executions in Mountjoy prison Monday. The generally expected reprisals, it was feared, would precipitate serious fighting.

Eight civilians were wounded during the attacks last night when the soldiers sharply replied to firing from the street Apparently the victims were bystanders.

The Irish shamrock was flaunted before the military today in Dublin as well as other sections of the country. Special services were to be held in churches everywhere Despite the semi-religious nature of the observances, there was fear of an outbreak and soldiers, except for a few patrols, were kept in barracks in the hope of avoiding trouble.

The day was the culmination of "Irish week" In the seven days just preceding sinn feiners endeavored to speak only Gaelic and to purchase Irish made goods

Efforts were made to distribute the shamrock through Ireland and laborites were urged to stage demonstrations which might hasten the British government into peace negotiations.

SERIES OF DISORDERS IN DUBLIN WEDNESDAY NIGHT

DUBLIN, March 17.—Several serious shooting affrays occurred in this city last night and a number of persons were injured in encounters between military forces and police and civilians. A number of soldiers riding in a motor lorry were proceeding along Redmonds Hill street on the north side of the city, last evening, when a bomb was thrown at the machine. The soldiers returned the fire and wounded two persons.

Another lorry was bombed and fired upon from windows of houses along Camden street and three civilians were wounded when a bomb exploded in Anguier street. During a melee near the ship street barracks many shots were fired and three persons were wounded.

For the first time since disorders broke out in Ireland identification discs were given to the troops last night.

TEN COMMUNIST LEADERS IN FRANCE ARE ACQUITTED

PARIS, March 17.—The ten communist leaders who were placed on trial February 23 on the charge of plotting to overthrow the government in connection with the strikes of May 1, 1920, were acquitted today.

LAWYERS WERE EXPECTED TO COMPLETE ARGUMENTS BY 5; EARLY VERDICT ANTICIPATED

COURT HOUSE, ARDMORE, OKLA., March 17.—Prince Freeling made a plea for Clara Hamon's conviction late today.

His argument to convict Clara Hamon on charge of slaying Jake L. Hamon was scheduled to last forty minutes. After that the case will go to the jury

Frank Ketch, business associate of Hamon, who had been denounced all day by defense attorneys as wanting Clara convicted, entered as Freeling started.

"It's a great privilege, gentlemen, for a person charged with a crime to be tried in the United States," said Freeling.

"Much has been said here that is aside from record in the case.

"There is some desire by attorneys to minimize everything I say.

"This is the first jury I've ever seen in eight years

"Mathers did the governor of the state an injustice when he criticised him for sending me here.

"The condition that arose here caused the governor to send me here When the governor is unjustly assailed I must uphold his hands.

One Trouble With Country.

"That's the trouble with this country—that any man when he desires can assail a public official

"Innocence don't need a very strong voice to support it.

"In this case innocence demands a shouting voice to support it

"I have obeyed instructions I can not disregard If the Hamon interests were prosecuting this case wouldn't they have a lawyer here

"They have insinuated that Hamon's gold has lined the pockets of the jury You know whether or not it has

"If I could this minute get the consent of my conscience I would say acquit her—let the erring sister go in peace.

"It's no pleasure to prosecute a woman.

Started Ten Years Ago.

"Jake Hamon and Clara Smith started to live together 10 years ago If you are honest men you will not believe she seduced him

"She had the chance to show that Hamon seduced her. She did not.

"If I can do justice to the living why can't they do justice to the dead You can't show any record that Jake Hamon seduced Clara Smith

"I want you to take Jake Hamon as he was—he was guilty of adultery, but not seduction

"Both were responsible for the life they led; Jake Hamon was more responsible, but don't say he was wholly responsible.

"She was not a curly headed, short dressed girl, the first time there was ever a wrong between them; she was about 20

"She knew Jake Hamon was a married man and every girl knows it's doubly wrong to enter the home where the wife presides as a queen

"They say he snatched her from the cradle and began a systematic process of seduction.

Was Fascinated.

"I dare say Jake Hamon was fascinated with her.

"There is no evidence in the case that he ever made any threats against the defendant.

"We know there was the conventional feeling of the jealousy of one woman for another woman

"She has made threats against Hamon. She dared him to speak to his wife. She's been seen many times with a pistol

"If every woman can go about armed to the teeth then the men better beware.

"Mr. Harding had been elected president. Hamon realized he was to be a power, a confident of a president

"Jake Hamon had not been what he should have been Hamon was wealthy but all his wealth could not buy character.

DEFENDANT BREAKS DOWN ON LAST DAY OF THE TRIAL

COURT HOUSE, ARDMORE, OKLA., March 17.—Clara Smith Hamon wept and twitched nervously as court opened today.

The girl, charged with slaying Jake L. Hamon, broke down on the day she expected to learn her fate.

Calm and confident throughout the ordeal of the trial, Clara broke on what will perhaps be the last day

She slipped into court with her mother, Mrs J L. Smith, and Jimmie, her pal and brother.

Large tears rolled down her cheeks as she took her seat. Clara was ill last night and slept but little, her friends said

The defense was overruled by Judge Tom Champion in its efforts to send the case to the jury without making an argument to the jury.

The defense, although willing to rest its own case without argument, must proceed.

J. B. Champion, twin brother of the judge and defense counsel, opened the argument.

In opening he charged the prosecution with lengthening the case by postponement, and attacked H. H. Brown, prosecutor, for his speech of yesterday.

"He did not discuss the case," said Champion. "He discussed everything else. He did not have faith in his prosecution.

"The attorney general slipped out of court while his assistant made the speech. He took an official nap.

"What is Attorney General Freeling, who left his job to come down here to prosecute an innocent country girl for killing a rich man, going to talk about"

"The attorney general is down here holding up the hands of a millionaire.

Says It's Ridiculous.

"This girl is charged with seducing a forty year old millionaire; it's ridiculous.

"Gentlemen of the jury, we are here on our own playground and will be here when Freeling packs his grip and leaves."

Champion charged Freeling with trying to ridicule the "humble defense attorneys."

"The governor of Oklahoma is responsible for this case—he sent Freeling here to prosecute this country girl, whose virtue was stolen by Hamon," yelled Champion

Mrs. Hamon was court and heard her husband arraigned as a rogue and a stealer of virtue. She did not wince, she was unemotional.

Champion called jurymen by their first names during the address

"When Jake Hamon sent this girl to college she was a brown-eyed country girl in her teens. He wooed, cooed and won," said Champion. "He wouldn't have taken a crooked girl into his life and sent her to college to become an office associate.

"She was a chaste, pure sweet girl. He knew her in the town where she lived He took her because of her clean life

"He took her that she might ultimately yield her body to his brutal passion.

"Hamon almost snatched this girl from the cradle to debauch her."

Springs a Sensation.

A sensation was sprung when Champion charged that "Frank Ketch has his clutches safely fastened onto the millions of the dead man."

"How many of you yield to the worship of power?"

L. V Mullen, brother of J. S. Mullen, one of the friends of Hamon, whom Champion branded as countenancing adultery, lurched toward Champion.

Sheriff Buck Garrett grabbed Mullen and forced him in his chair.

"Sir" Walter Scott, defense counsel, then sat between Champion and Mullen

"The nation isn't interested in this case because of Clara's popularity—she isn't known out of town—but because of Jake L. Hamon.

"The throbbing heart of this nation is anxious to know why the powerful Hamon snatched a girl from high school

"Jake Hamon confessed to the world this girl was pure and chaste.

"Hamon was the only man in her life

"It was not a bullet that stole Hamon from his wife—he stole himself ten years ago

"It was not Clara Smith that brought the tears and mourning here; it was Jake L. Hamon.

"Hamon knew he was to blame. That's the reason he said he shot himself. He said to the sheriff:

"'Don't prosecute Clara Smith. I am to blame'

Refers to Frank Ketch.

"Frank Ketch, who told Clara he

BADLY WANTED MAN CAUGHT BY POLICE IN THRILLING CHASE

ESCAPED CONVICT LEADS OFFICERS IN DRAMATIC DASH THAT ENDS IN CAPTURE.

GOODS STOLEN AT PETROLIA ARE FOUND AT HIS HOME

Fugitive Boards Freight In Effort To Get Away, But Alights Under Detective's Fire.

A dramatic chase through alleyways and side streets in which a dozen or more shots were fired, and the final cornering of the fugitive in the cellar of his own home, culminated a two-days' search by local police officials for Frank Ellsworth, escaped convict and confessed thief.

Wednesday night Ellsworth was captured shortly after 6:00 o'clock by Detectives A. E Bridgwater and Jack Miller after he had escaped from his home, 201 Lamar, and had been pursued by the officers through the streets and alleys in the north part of town

Ellsworth is said to have confessed to having escaped from the Oklahoma state penitentiary at McAlister, and was being sought on this charge as well as one of burglary and car theft. A robbery of the Bishop Mercantile company at Petrolia, in which $2 500 worth of merchandise was stolen Tuesday night, has been traced to Ellsworth and a large part of the loot recovered He was also the one who removed a Ford touring car from the carnival grounds last Monday night, the machine being used to drive to Petrolia. The car has been recovered

The search for Ellsworth was started Wednesday noon by Chief of Police Huff and Commissioner Bralley, who had information that their quarry was in the city Huff went to his rooming place at 201 Lamar and made a search for the goods which resulted in their being found in a hidden recess Ellsworth was not at home at the time Commissioner Bralley, with a force of detectives, hunted the town over for him, but without success

In the meantime Huff learned that the man might be found at the home of friends near Charlie, and accordingly sent to the police station for relief Bridgwater and Miller were detailed to watch the house, while Huff and Bralley drove to Charlie

Late in the afternoon Ellsworth returned home and was placed under arrest by the two officers, but soon broke away and made a wild dash for freedom. The detectives opened fire and set out in pursuit, but were unable to overtake their fugitive who made good use of fences and barns as a protection from shots.

Ellsworth is reported to have boarded three automobiles in his attempt to escape from Bridgwater, who hung tenaciously on his trail Miller gave up the chase and made a detour in order to head him off

After putting more than a block of space between himself and the officer, Ellsworth arrived at the Denver tracks near Ohio and Fourth streets, and jumped on an outbound freight, but two carefully placed shots from Bridgwater's revolver, one of which drilled a hole in the car three inches from his waist line and the other which knocked off his hat, convinced him that it would be better to flee on foot.

Eventually he arrived back at his home, beating Bridgwater by a scant 100 feet, and took refuge in the cellar where he was cornered by Bridgwater Miller and City Patrolman Vines. The latter lives near the scene of the shooting and was aroused in time to join in the chase. It is reported that he narrowly missed stopping some bullets himself, for an irate housewife, who saw him leap her back fence and rush through a garden, procured a shot gun and made preparations to defend herself

At the city jail Wednesday night it was necessary to chain Ellsworth to his bunk, and Thursday morning it was found that he had broken a heavy ankle cuff which was also being used to hold him. Before being locked up he is alleged to have declared that if he had had a gun the city would be minum a good detective or two

According to Chief Huff, the man has a long criminal record, having done time in several penal institutions before escaping from McAlester. A vast amount of ladies' wearing apparel, silk hosiery, dresses and other articles which will easily total $2,500 in value, made up the booty taken from the Bishop company at Petrolia and which are now in the hands of the police. Officials of the mercantile company, together with police, were expected to come to this city Thursday to straighten up the affair

WARSAW, IND., March 17.—Arthur and Virgil Decker occupied adjoining cells in the Kosciusko county jail today, held for investigation in connection with the murder of Leroy Lovett, youthful pal and double" of Virgil

Arthur was taken into custody after he failed to answer a coroner's subpoena to appear at the inquest and Virgil was brought here from Marion, Ind., where he was arrested.

Authorities admitted today they had struck a stonewall in their investigation Virgil said he was in company with the murdered youth Saturday night, when the murder occurred, but declared he knew nothing of the actual slaying.

NEW YORK CENTRAL WANTS REDUCTIONS EFFECTIVE APRIL 1

NEW YORK, March 17—The New York Central railroad, whose wage reduction proposals have been rejected by unskilled labor, today forwarded a petition to the railroad labor board in Chicago, asking that tribunal to make the proposed reductions tenatively on April 1. The board's final decision in the wage controversy would be made retroactive to that date, the petition provides.

Union officials announced that they would oppose any attempt to put the proposed reduced scales in effect until the labor board has given a final decision after hearing the arguments of both sides. Those officials who represent the unskilled hands declared they had assurance of support from the "big four" brotherhoods.

Officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford whose wage plans affecting unskilled labor also have been rejected by the employes, announced they would carry their case to the labor board in an ex-parte appeal.

Union and railroad officials here agree that the cases of the New York Central and the New Haven would constitute a test of questions raised in railroad controversies throughout the country

NEW PROPOSED SCHEDULE OF WAGES ON I. & G. N.

HOUSTON, March 17—The International and Great Northern will send out notices to employes tomorrow advising them of a meeting for March 26, at Palestine, when the matter of wage reductions will be discussed, according to announcement of Thornwell Fay, executive officer of the system, this morning.

No proposed schedule of wages has been decided upon, according to Fay, nor has any date been set for application of lower wages. The scale and date of application will be discussed at the conference, and if no agreement can be reached the entire matter will go to the railroad labor board, Fay stated.

BRITISH FACTORIES BUSY TURNING OUT GOODS FOR RUSSIA

By ED L. KEEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 17—British factories hummed today, turning out products for Russia.

Conclusion of a trade agreement yesterday with the soviets was marked by immediate activity in several industries. Although warning had been given that greatly increased trade will not be possible immediately, manufacturers hastened to prepare for the future.

Mineral and oil from the vast Russian resources was expected to be available to British capitalists.

Completion of the treaty was regarded as a British victory. Not content with compelling the soviets to agree to cease all propaganda in British territory, President Horne of the board of trade submitted to Leonid Krassin the names of propagandists known to be operating in India, Afghanistan, Ireland and elsewhere and demanded that those individuals be withdrawn.

Newspapers were divided as to the value of the agreement. One paper stated cynically that the best thing about it was the certainty that it would not last long. The bolsheviki will break their agreement, it was said.

RAILROAD WORKERS IN MEXICO REFUSE TO RESUME DUTIES

Calles, secretary of the interior, yesterday, that after an extended conference with strike leaders the situation had been adjusted, but it was declared last night by both government officials and strikers as being "in status quo."

EIGHTY TO NINETY EGGS DAILY FROM 125 HENS

VERNON, TEXAS March 17—Eighty to 90 eggs a day from 125 Rhode Island Reds are being gathered by S D Lawliss, living six miles northeast of Oklaunion and of the 125 hens he is setting The week before last this progressive farmer sold over $60 worth of eggs, and he is continually receiving orders for both eggs and chickens from all parts of the country The great extent of the territory acquainted with the quality of eggs produced by chickens raised by Mr Lawliss is due entirely to the fact that the Oklaunion farmer tells the world about his wares through various mediums of advertising Poultry journals have been prominent vehicles of information for him and only recently an inquiry concerning what he had to sell came to him from old Mexico

Mr Lawliss has been breeding chickens for nine years and has met with ever increasing success He has won premiums at every fair he has entered

Mr Lawliss breeds for color and egg production He has made poultry raising an intensive study and intends during the next year to devote his entire attention to the work He is convinced that the remuneration from this source will more than equal that from general farming and he is more than willing to take a chance on beating the low price of cotton with high priced pens of chickens Two pens were sold last winter by the Oklaunion farmer for $1 0 apiece Forty roosters possessed were sold from $5 00 to $5

"A Beauty Sleep"—and then

"A Beauty Breakfast"

Try it for 30 days—to prove

This is what thousands do at the direction of experts to win back the healthful rose tint to pale cheeks—as told by the editor of a famous magazine which is read by half a million women.

They take regular exercise, sleep regular hours, and then start breakfast with stewed raisins. The raisins are plump, delicious fruit-meats stewed so the juice forms a luscious sauce. Note recipe printed on this page. A more alluring fruit dish never has been served in any home—nor any other food that's more effective in this way.

Read opposite what Dr. J. H. Kellogg, an authority who has made a life-time's study of foods, thinks of the raisin. You'll serve stewed raisins every morning when you know the good they do.

Luscious nuggets of food-iron

Raisins are nuggets of food-iron—and food-iron is an essential to good blood.

Get what you need of it each day, and an incomparable, natural rose tint on the cheeks is the reward—nature's irresistible attraction—the good looks of good health.

No need to imitate with rouge when nature thus provides.

Youthfulness is the real beauty, as every woman knows. And good blood is the first consideration. Women of fifty often look but thirty if that natural rose tint is still there.

Stewed raisins are mildly laxative also. Those who eat them regularly are apt to have the clear, white skin that sets the color off—unmarred by blemishes or sallowness.

Great sanitariums serve stewed raisins to rheumatic patients when other fruits might disagree.

So this simple but effective food is one of the most important that any woman ever used. Try daily for a month and see. Begin tomorrow morning. Look in your pantry now.

Let every member of the family have stewed raisins.

Be sure to mail coupon below for "100 Raisin Recipes," a valuable free book that every woman ought to have.

Stewed Raisins

Soak raisins over night, pour water off and place in stewpan, putting in not quite enough water to cover and cook slowly for about an hour, then sugar to taste and add a bit of vanilla. Some raisins do not require much or any sugar.

What Dr. J. H. Kellogg says:

(Dr Kellogg is head of the famous Battle Creek Sanitarium.)

"Raisins are served on the Battle Creek Sanitarium Table every day. A pound of Raisins has twice the food value, an equal amount of iron and seven times as much food lime as a pound of choicest lean steak. The sugar of Raisins is much more wholesome than cane sugar, requiring no digestion and being absorbed in one-fourth the time required for ordinary sugar. If the American people would eat more Raisins and less meat the results would be better digestion, less rheumatism, less Bright's disease, less heart disease, greater efficiency and longer life."

SUN-MAID RAISINS

Always use Sun-Maid Raisins for your every cooking need. Made from California's tenderest, sweetest, juiciest table grapes, noted for their fragile skins.

Packed in a great sun-lighted, glass-walled plant. Sweet, clean, wholesome American raisins—the kind you know are good.

Three varieties: Sun-Maid Seeded (seeds removed); Sun-Maid Seedless (grown without seeds); Sun-Maid Clusters (on the stem). All dealers. Insist upon the Sun-Maid Brand.

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

"I bet you don't know what I had for lunch" Mary Jane says to Joe Bluejay

Mary Jane and Joe Bluejay

ONE fine day when Spring had come and old Fatty Bullfrog had started to tell people "You-better-go-'round—You-better-go-'round" Mary Jane met Joe Bluejay.

Joe was sitting at the edge of a twig making faces and calling names at Tabby Whitenose, the cat. Tabby had a very bad temper anyhow, and what Joe said to her didn't make it any better.

Mary Jane drove tabby away and told Joe he ought to know better than to start a rumpus on a beautiful Spring day like that. Joe said he knew it, but old Whiteface was too smart anyway.

Mary Jane said "Well you know a lot, but I bet you don't know what I had for lunch." And Joe said what did she have for lunch.

Mary Jane said "I had the most delicious pancakes all spread over with Mary Jane Syrup. I ate, and I ate till my mother was afraid I'd bust. But she said 'I don't blame you—they are so good anybody would want to eat them just the way you do.'"

And then Mary gave Joe Bluejay one of the pancakes all for himself, and then he said, "Mary, your judgment of pancakes and syrup is all right. And you tell your mother I said so."

And Mary did, and now they have pancakes and waffles, and all sorts of delicious food spread with Mary Jane Syrup whenever they want it.

When I was going out with the pail to milk the cow and her [illegible] this morning I thought I heard a familiar [illegible] Mr. Farrel and I dropped the pail and climb the fence and it was Mr. Farrel and his auto which he [illegible] from the last [illegible] something happened to it. I thought it would be good for a fella's [illegible] to turn the crank and I asted him if he would [illegible] and he said to come ahead. But he ought to have waited a little bit because there was another auto coming up from Raveen street as fast as it could come and Mr. Farrel was going as fast as he could [illegible] and he lost both of his lamps [illegible] fender and the other fella lost his [illegible] guard and his tail light. Girls! Buttermilk Creates Beauty Overnight

The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you. It creates beauty almost like magic, but the most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dullest and most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough arms snowy white [illegible] there is not the slightest sign [illegible] after application. It [illegible] vanishes from sight and [illegible] least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

It is absolutely harmless and will neither produce nor stimulate the growth of hair. Within twenty-four hours this wonderful cream will work a marvelous transformation.

Get a small quantity today at any good drug or toilet goods counter. The directions are simple and it costs so little that any girl or woman can afford it. In addition the manufacturers authorize every druggist to return the purchase money unless the first application shows noticeable improvement, so be sure to try it at our expense.—Adv.

FIRST NATIONAL SENDS TRAVELERS' AID AND Y TWO DESKS WEDNESDAY

The First National bank won honors for the first response to the Y. W. C. A. Travelers Aid's request for information concerning a good second-hand desk and on Wednesday presented that department of the association with a handsome flat-top "good as new" desk perfectly gratis.

Besides the flat top desk the bank presented the Y with a much needed roller top desk also good as new for the cafeteria secretary, Miss Miller. The gifts were most sincerely appreciated as both desks have been badly needed for some time.

In addition to the Y. W. C. A.'s appreciation the Day Nursery babies will probably tender the First National a vote of thanks now that their penny-bottle in the Y. W. cafeteria need not be pillaged for money to buy the desk.

Coffee Bavarian Cream

The Designer for April has the following good recipe for coffee Bavarian cream on its "Experienced Cooks" page. Bavarian cream is one of the most delicious of the gelatin-foundation desserts but not all receipes for it work out well, so the Designer's recipe may come in handy:

One half box gelatin
One cup clear hot coffee,
One cup milk
One-half cup cold water
One cup sugar
One pint cream
One-half teaspoonful vanilla

Cover the gelatin with cold water and allow to stand for one hour. Then dissolve over a pan of hot water. Add the coffee, sugar and milk, strain and partly cool. Add the cream, whipped stiff, then vanilla. Fold carefully until the mixture begins to form. Turn into a mold and chill.

Do you get tired?

Not of work but everything else. The same virtues, the same charities, the same expectations, the same responses, the same necessities. Of the infinite repetition that makes up life.

Yesterday I ran across a little pamphlet issued by one of the relief organizations which I chose a year ago for contribution along with hundreds of thousands of regular contributors all over America. The pamphlet looked interesting but when I saw the name of the organization I had a sudden seizure of disinterest, either a feeling as if the regular maintenance of a year should have made further relief unnecessary, or simply unchristian boredom at the same subject, maybe both. Anyway before I had finished the thought Rabbi Wise forestalled it.

"Don't get tired," he said in perfectly good American on the reverse side of the pamphlet.

It's a human little plea. "Don't get tired!" And it struck a sudden chord in my memory. One evening last Christmas during the shopping week before Christmas eve I happened to be just behind an eager little four- or five-year-old girl clinging to her mother's hand and window shopping down Indiana. I don't know what had gone before but she caught her mother's hand tight in both her own suddenly and said "Oh don't get tired, mother! Don't get tired."

Mother was evidently subject to it as most mothers are, with all the reason in the world to getting tired on such outings when little feet know no path ends and eyes could stay wide open and bright all night.

Some of the greatest poems in the world have been built on the "Don't Get Tired" theme. Kipling's "If" is one and the fact that almost every printed publication has made it the common property of the world has not dulled its beauty or truth. It is so human to want a change, to get tired of the same effort, to grow bored with the same small hurryings to and fro. And more than all it is so almost inevitable that we grow tired of the same good works. They rouse our interest and sympathy at first and we give—and do willingly. Then we get tired.

And yet it most surely is true that the initial interest and sympathy count for very little. It is comparatively easy to touch people and many are touched but the few who stay with things when the novelty has worn off are those who stay on character. It's a little like auction bridge. The first six tricks don't count. Those that the ordinary hand is worth must be taken and got out of the way before points can begin to stack up. In other words it isn't the coming into a thing that matters. It's the staying after the fireworks have played out and the band has left. The banquet hall deserted has not a thing on the ordinary charitable project for desolation after the first enthusiasm has died down, nor a thing on a great many other things in life after the rose-shaded candles have sputtered out. It's the hardest thing in the world to keep doing anything and not get tired.

But there's nothing as Rabbi Wise knew like forestalling the feeling. Even our own consciousness can appreciate the brave humor of being beaten to a thing. What we know we can erect fortifications against, and even the devil wouldn't look so devilish if we knew exactly how he was got up.

So maybe just knowing puts a red flag on the door for the Tired Habit.

There are Pies and Pies.

BOND MARKET SHOWS INCREASED STRENGTH

Of the Large Number Of Offers To Buy County Road Bonds Highest Has Been at 92.

It is apparent from the numerous offers made to purchase the $1,500,000 worth of county road bonds submitted in the past week that the bond market is showing increased strength.

Judge J. P. Jones has received a large number of offers each day for the past four or five days. The highest bid made was at 92 net. The lowest one submitted was 89. One bond salesman stated that presumably the middle of April would bring the bond market back to a sound footing again and that the road bonds would bring much more than any present offer.

County officials state that they will not under any circumstances sell the bonds at such a great discount. The best offer made thus far would mean a cash discount of $120,000.

Wednesday afternoon, Judge Jones stated the mails brought him five different offers on the bonds.

An Invitation—

Mr. MacDowell is keeping a high-salaried expert buyer of long experience permanently located in New York for the exclusive purpose of buying and having made up by manufacturers the very latest modes and materials in dresses, suits and wraps.

MacDowell's store does not wait on jobbers and wholesalers, and does not depend on large orders to be turned out by manufacturers. The MacDowell store seldom receives a freight shipment. Through the MacDowell New York office, the best of modish materials are obtained from local and imported stocks. These materials are then made into original creations, or exact copies of the most exclusive garments of the high-priced Fifth Avenue shops. The manufacturing is done under the direct supervision of the MacDowell management and as rapidly as these originals and exact copies of latest New York modes are completed, they are sent by fast express or parcel post to Wichita Falls.

The result of this economical plan is the fact that MacDowell is positively offering the very latest New York modes every day—from thirty days to sixty days in advance of other stores, and the MacDowell prices on these distinctive and exclusive garments are exceptionally low—usually one-third to one-half less than the "job lots" and large quantity "freight shipments" of other houses.

To demonstrate what MacDowell's can save you and how MacDowell's can serve you, a special showing and sale of these exclusive garments will be held Friday, Saturday and Monday, March 18th, 19th and 21st.

Look over the suggestions in this invitation to you and come in early during this Spring Demonstration Sale. Whether you buy or not, you will be welcome—we just want to show you the one hundred garments now in our store from New York, and let you compare the quality and prices with the offering in other shops.

RHEA HOWARD MAKES STATEMENT ON RACE

Asks For Suppert Of White Voters And Makes Plain His Attitude In Contest.

Rhea Howard candidate for alderman at large position No 3 on the city council has addressed a statement to the white voters of Wichita Falls setting forth his views in connection with some of the developments of the campaign His statement follows

To the White Citizens of Wichita Falls At the solicitation of a few friends I consented to become a candidate for city commissioner place No 3 Before this candidacy was offered me the petition of another worthy citizen had been circulated but on the last day for the filing of petitions he decided not to become a candidate Various reasons have been given for his declination but the one most credited is that he did not want to get mixed up in a political campaign which is a very good reason Neither was I anxious to make the race, but realized that it was the duty of some one and I therefore have consented and if elected will serve the people to the best of my ability I want to state further that I will not receive orders from any organization to act on matters concerning the welfare and interests of the people unless it can be shown to me that such organization is trying to dictate to a council of the by a majority of the people is entitled to act in the same manner I will appreciate the vote and support of all white citizens

My reason for making this appeal to the white citizen is that I notice by the issues of yesterday that the Union of Negro Women or Negroes Business League claim to represent a large voting strength of 500 or 600 negro men and women in this city I am plain I do not is a fault for my opponent, Mr J L Shepherd So therefore even were I so inclined an appeal by me for negro votes would be in vain I am not inclined that way and will say frankly that I prefer going down in defeat rather than to humiliate myself to the extent of entering into negro union and women for their votes for a political office Should I have resorted to that means and had secured their votes, the negroes would naturally believe that I was indebted to them politically and would want such debt paid in a political way should I be elected

For myself I have only to say that I have never mistreated a negro and don't believe that as a race they should be mistreated but I am old enough to realize the danger of white people mingling too much on an equality with negroes and one way in which this is often done is on occasions like the present So long as the negroes are clannish and band together voting as a unit for any candidate or propositions they certainly can have no complaint if a sufficient number of white people resort to the same method and vote as a unit to defeat whatever scheme they may have in mind

If this happens to strike the eye of some white citizen who does not share my views on this matter then, sirs just consider I am not appealing to you for your vote or support It is only for those who believe as I do, that when negroes band together there is danger lurking somewhere and sooner or later will result in humiliation to white people and more trouble for the negro

This plain announcement may cause my defeat but if so I will have no complaint to make I only want to set myself right before the white people and leave it to their judgment if my position on this matter of seeking negro support by the wholesale or as a unit is not the correct one

NOT EVEN RIGGS HIMSELF KNOWS MYSTERY MAN'S NAME

That even Riggs himself does not know the name of the mystery man who has the power to bestow a suit of clothes upon the first Wichitan or visitor who inquires, "Have you seen Riggs" was learned by scores of disappointed close friends of the popular clother early this morning when they slipped down for a quiet tip just between friends don't you know

Riggs says he anticipated something like this and being a good hearted fellow was a bit afraid he'd weaken and let commission or commission give somebody the edge For that reason he requested a traveling man passing through the city to hand a certain little pass word to any reliable citizen, and on March 24 that citizen is to come into Riggs store making himself known say the mysterious little word and then announce the name and address of the party first asking him "Have you seen Riggs"

By a liberal use of printers ink and attractive prices, Riggs opened his store on the first day of his sale this morning to find a large crowd in waiting and at last accounts buying was brisk

SEVERAL ACTS VIE FOR FIRST HONORS IN WEEK'S VAUDEVILLE AT PALACE

Headed by Harry Richman's 'Varieties of 1921' and closely backed by three other fine acts, this week's vaudeville bill at the Palace got off to a running start toward success Wednesday evening In the opinion of those who were on hand for its debut the bill is the best that the Palace has offered since its opening for none of the acts are weak, and a large majority would serve as headliners on an average bill

Richman's Variety outfit gets the cement bicycle for veracity, because their act is what they claim for it—different. The songs dances and comedy while patterned along the standard lines, has a snap and swing which is lacking in many of the 'two-a-day' productions and the chorus—oh my Richman himself is a very capable comedian and takes the belt when it comes to long distance piano playing His supporting cast, composed of Norma Hark, Jack Waldron and the Ward sisters is also above the average

Pushing the headliners for premier honors of the evening at every turn was the Kellam and O'Dare team Frank and Patricia respectively who turned out to be a pair of stars from the word go Their songs and dances are not of the 'bottled in bond' type which are boxed up and carried over the circuit with the rest of the baggage but they had the personal vivacity and originality which is an attribute only of real artists

Lillian's Comedy Pets are warranted to entertain the youngsters, or grown-ups either for that matter for they are all dinky little canines that look about as big as a minute on the stage However their antics are pleasing and contain a large per cent of comedy

In 'My Home Town,' Mary Marble came back with all the pep and ginger which has made her a favorite on the stage for many moons Her present skit was written especially for her, and fits her like a glove The supporting cast is very capable and altogether the act is entirely pleasing

Billie Shone, the only solo performer on the bill has a whole of a line of songs and stories, some new, some otherwise, which he knows how to put over in the latest approved fashion Billie is all right and his debonair bearing on the stage made a big hit with the ladies

Ed Zolo and his partner who opens the evening's festivities have a new line of tumbling knock about stunts in which public approval is courted at the risk of their own necks Plenty of comedy is contained in this presentation also

The remaining offering of the evening was given by Lou Reed and Al Tucker a pair of comic cyclonists who romped over the stage to the latest popular airs, played by themselves on their own little fiddles Lou Reed were one of the strong points on the entire bill, and came in for a large share of applause

TRUCK OPERATORS TO BE HARD HIT BY NEW TAX MEASURE

IF GOVERNOR SIGNS, MUST PAY ONE CENT A MILE AND UP ON ALL RURAL TRIPS.

JOHNSON TELLS ROTARIANS OF LEGISLATURE'S LABORS

Club Starts Move To Foster Public Speaking Contests By Offering Rotary Prize.

Somebody slipped one over on the motor truck owners of Texas at the recent session of the legislature, according to B. Frank Johnson, who spoke at Thursday's session of the Rotary club. A bill was passed and now awaits the governor's signature, levying a tax of one to eight cents a mile, according to capacity, on all trucks operating outside of the city limits.

The tax would add an enormous expense to operating expenses of oil companies in this county, which daily send truck loads of pipe and equipment to their leases. Mr. Johnson said that he opposed the bill vigorously, but was almost alone in doing so.

Mr. Johnson's discussion of various legislative activities was one of several talks on the Rotary program Thursday. W. M. Priddy, in a short talk, started a movement to encourage public speaking in the schools of the city and county, by the offering of a Rotary prize. He thought that every aid should be given the public speaking activities in the schools, and after adjournment secured promises of assistance from a number of Rotarians.

E. S. Goodner spoke on "What Rotary Means to Me as a New Member." Declaring himself absolutely "sold" on Rotary, Mr. Goodner said that by reason of the fellowship, the creed and ethics and the type of men that Rotary gave to him, he had found that membership in the organization was something of real value.

Miss Shafer, accompanied by Miss Lorimer as pianist, gave two enjoyable vocal selections.

The report of the passage of the truck tax bill was given by Mr. Johnson in connection with an account of legislative proceedings. He said that the injustice that was being done the motor truck industry did not seem at all apparent to the house membership, which saw only a means of producing additional revenue. Mr. Johnson called attention to the fact that the governor has not yet signed the bill.

Mr. Johnson spoke of the irrigation bill as one of the most constructive pieces of legislation enacted. Changes which had been made in the state contracts law and in the minimum wage law, he said, made those laws more beneficial; on the minimum wage law no attempt will be made to lay down one rule for the entire state, but by means of a "zone system" the law will apply differently as living conditions and expenses are different. Mr. Johnson defended the legislature for its big eeducational appropriations, saying there could not be real economy in such matters.

LOYD CLARK ARRESTED AT RANGER FOR CAR THEFT

BRIDGEPORT WELL REPORTED TO HAVE 1,700 FEET OF OIL

NOCONA, TEXAS, March 17.—The test well, located about six miles west of Bridgeport in Wise county, and 35 to 40 miles south of the Big Six well, out southwest of Nocona, is reported to have 1,700 feet of oil in the hole from sand found at 4,300 feet. This well has been drilled for about two years. This is an important strike, and not only brings into view considerable new and deep territory, but shows the possibilities that lie between the Bridgeport well and the Healdton and Hewitt fields with Montague county lying between. This strike will again bring this county to the attention to those who are inclined to wildcat in the hopes of making a good strike, rather than pay the high prices usually demanded for close-in leases about a new well some distance removed from production. It will also show that, up to the present time, this county has not had a well drilled sufficiently deep to make a good test. A 30-foot sand was found in the Pure Oil company test in the Healdton field, which, it is believed, will make a paying well ,though some trouble is being experienced with collapsed casing. The oil is 45 gravity. Another well has a sand with oil showing at 2,785 near the Hewitt field. The Healdton-Hewitt and Bridgeport strikes would make the 3,100 foot level in the Pure Oil company and Gulf Phillips wells interesting, and possibly 3,400 feet at the Big Six, though these figures may need some corrections when the wells have been drilled deep enough to test out the horizons at which pay sands may come in. The Pure Oil and Gulf Phillips wells will drill for deep tests. An effort is being made to work out a deal for drilling the Big Six well to 3,500 feet. It begins to look like something would be found by deeper drilling in this well. A showing of oil and gas was found at 1,450 and gas at 2,180 feet, which would indicate the well is located in a saturized zone. The Bridgeport well brings the Big Six structure to view with renewed interest.

The Pure Oil company test on the Holts farm, about eight miles northeast of Nocona, started with 30-inch casing, and is having some difficulty with gumbo formation below 400 feet.

The Gulf Phillips test on the Boutdin ranch, near Spanish Fort, is making progress around 900 feet, and is drilling with rotary.

Each of these companies hauled out enough material to start an enterprise worthy of success in hunting for oil in a wildcat place, and it is believed they both stand a very good chance of being successful.

SOUTHERN'S ENTIRE LINE NOW COVERED BY WORK CONTRACTS

Contracts for construction of the entire new line of the Wichita Falls and Southern, from Newcastle to Jimkern, have now been awarded by the railroad company, it was learned Thursday.

Contracts for the portion from Newcastle through Graham to the Brazos river, and for the bridge across the Brazos had previously been let, and the no co. cts over the remaining portion of the new road. About 20 different contractors are sharing in the work.

Reports Thursday told of continued steady progress at all points where work is under way.

TELLING THE WHOLE TRUTH.

A little clothing store in Evanston, Illinois, has recently made itself famous through one advertisement; it has attained not only fame, but cash register results. The ad that made it famous attracted widespread attention, by its frankness and sincerity, and the result, selling 100 suits in a day as against a previous high record of 19 suits, speaks for itself as an object lesson. Here is the ad:

"One hundred suits, Hart Schaffner & Marx make, practically given away, at $20.

"We'll be frank about this.

"These suits have been in stock for two or three seasons.

"They are not in the very latest styles.

"Some are in colors and patterns that have not proven most popular.

"Some seem to be just as attractive as any we have, but for some reason we can't explain, haven't sold well.

"But—every one is all wool, every one is well tailored, every one is in perfect condition."

There were 250 men who answered the ad and they cleaned out the stock of $20 suits pretty quick. Then some of them bought newer, high priced suits after the $20 ones were gone.

According to "Printers' Ink," the ad proved so convincing, when used as a lesson by a university class in advertising, that a number of students were among those who bought suits.

You can write your own moral.

MERGER OF CATTLE ASSOCIATIONS.

The Texas Cattle Raisers Association has voted to merge with the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association, the merged association to be known as the Texas and Southwestern Stockmen's Association. The two associations which have now merged into one have been strong and useful associations to the cattle raising industry. The Texas association covered Texas and Oklahoma. The Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's association covered the Panhandle, New Mexico and Arizona. There was little overlapping of territory but there is the same community of interest among the cattlemen of all the territory and the merger was the result of a belief that an organization even stronger than either would result from the merger while overhead cost and effort could be reduced.

INCREASE IN REVENUES UNLIKELY.

Allison Mayfield, member of the Texas railway commission, has expressed doubt as to whether the increase in railway and pullman fares put into effect this week on the Texas railroads will result in any increase in revenues. Passenger revenues are pretty certain not be increased for Jones is on a strike against high prices and his strike has been successful in many things. The increase, effective upon the order of the interstate commerce commission, is twenty percent in passenger rates and 50 per cent in pullman fares. A great deal of passenger travel is not strictly necessity or a matter of business. The increased rates therefore are likely to bring a decrease in railway travel.

FARM LOAN BONDS.

The government has announced that it will place on the market $75,000,000 farm loan bonds, the proceeds from which will be loaned by the farm loan banks at a low rate of interest. Just as the federal farm loan bank began to function in good shape court action stopped its operation. A final decision by the courts a few weeks ago reopens the farm loan banks. The issuance of $75,000,000 bonds will provide funds which these banks can loan to the great advantage of farmers.

The session of the legislature adjourned last week was known as the "bill killing legislature" from the number of bills that were rejected or failed of enactment. In spite of this appellation we read that 139 bills were upon the governor's desk awaiting his signature or veto when the legislature adjourned.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

WHY?—

Do Stars Have Five Points?

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

When we speak of an object as "star-shaped," we immediately visualize something with five rays or arms projecting from a common center, seldom stopping to think that this bears little apparent resemblance to the stars which are seen at night, and which we know to be immense spheres or globes of matter. If we look at a bright star, however, we will see that five pointed rays of light appear to emanate from the center, and it is not until we see a photograph of the star in question that we realize that these points are merely ocular impressions which do not register upon the plate or negative of the camera.

If we study the arrangement of the sensitive portion of the eye—the part of the eye which we "see with"—we will find that a sharp bright image such as that of a star will fall upon one of these sensitive points only, but it will be reflected to a lesser degree upon the other points around it. The "cones," as the sensitive points of the retina are called, are arranged in such a manner that each of those in the center is surrounded by five others, and it is the reflection upon these neighboring cones which produces the impression of rays of light, when, in reality, the star sends forth only a single direct beam. Mankind, therefore, is accustomed to think of a star as being "star-shaped"—having five points—and it was not until the introduction of photographic apparatus that this theory was definitely disproven.

Tomorrow—Why is the name "America" applied to the Western Continent?

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

The Best-Loved Man.

It isn't all in getting rich, it isn't all in winning fame,
A bigger thing than victory is how you've tried to play the game;
Success is keeping faith with men and standing true to what is best,
And finding joy in humble things and being fit for every test.

The good men need not come to wealth nor need he rise to world renown,
Not often is the richest man the best-
loved citizen in town;
You'll find he walks in humble ways and modest is the garb he wears,
And on his back from day to day life piles a multitude of cares.

His glory is a generous heart, a voice that carries hope and cheer
A willingness to do his work, a wish to be of service here;
He asks no favored place from life, nor shirks the hardships in his way,
But meets all men with head erect and plays the friend from day to day.

The best loved man in any town is honest, manly, brave and true,
Sharing his life with all who live,
doing what work he finds to do;
He may not climb the heights of fame
nor come to treasure's golden fee,
But he is still accounted great in all
God asks a man to be.

THE BEGINNING OF A BEAUTIFUL FRIENDSHIP

DECLARE OBREGON GOVERNMENT FAILS TO GIVE PROTECTION

GALVESTON, TEXAS, March 17.—Declaring that the Obregon government had failed to protect life and property of Americans, members of the Association of Producers of Petroleum in Mexico last night went on record against American recognition of the southern republic until "absolute assurance for protection of American interests are forthcoming." Forty oil men representing nine companies with holdings in Mexico, attended yesterday's conference.

"It is not an oil question," Guy Stevens, a director of the association and spokesman of the conference asserted; "it is a Mexican question. The issue clearly defined," he added, "and the question is whether Americans are going to lie down or stand erect. We want nothing from the Mexican government but what is reasonable; nothing that might not be expected from any other government."

Oil men, attending the meeting, among whom is Edward L. Dowhony, president of the Mexican Petroleum corporation, maintained silence in regard to the business of the conference, saying that Mr. Stevens alone was authorized to speak for the members of the association.

PART ONE

During my long and intimate acquaintance with Mr Sherlock Holmes I had never heard him refer to his relations, and hardly ever to his own early life. This reticence upon his part had increased the somewhat inhuman effect which he produced upon me, until sometimes I found myself regarding him as an isolated phenomenon, a brain without a heart, as deficient in human sympathy as he was pre-eminent in intelligence His aversion to women and his disinclination to form new friendships were both typical of his unemotional character, but not more so than his complete suppression of every reference to his own people I had come to believe that he was an orphan with no relative living, but one day, to my very great surprise, he began to talk to me about his brother

It was after tea on a summer evening, and the conversation which had roamed in a desultory, spasmodic fashion from golf clubs to the causes of the change in the obliquity of the ecliptic, came round at last to the question of atavism and hereditary aptitudes The point under discussion was, how far any singular gift in an individual was due to his ancestry and how far to his own early training

'In your own case,' said I, 'from all that you have told me, it seems obvious that your faculty of observation and your peculiar facility for deduction are due to your own systematic training'

'To some extent,' he answered, thoughtfully My ancestors were country squires, who appear to have led much the same life as is natural to their class But, none the less, my turn that way is in my veins, and may have come with my grandmother who was the sister of Vernet, the French artist. Art in the blood is liable to take strangest forms'

'But how do you know that it is hereditary?'

'Because my brother Mycroft possesses it in a larger degree than I do'

This was news to me indeed. If there were another man with such singular powers in England, how was it that neither police nor public had heard of him? I put the question, with a hint that it was my companion's modesty which made him acknowledge his brother as his superior. Holmes laughed at my suggestion.

'My dear Watson' said he 'I cannot agree with those who rank modesty among the virtues To the logician all things should be seen exactly as they are, and to underestimate one's self is as much a departure from truth as to exaggerate one's own powers When I say therefore, that Mycroft has better powers of observation than I you may take it that I am speaking the exact and literal truth'

'Is he your junior'

'Seven years my senior'

'How comes it that he is unknown'

'Oh he is very well known in his own circle

'Where then?'

'Well in the Diogenes club, for example'

I had never heard of the institution, and my face must have proclaimed as much for Sherlock Holmes pulled out his watch

'The Diogenes club is the queerest club in London and Mycroft one of the queerest men He's always there from quarter to five to twenty to eight It's six now so if you care for a stroll this beautiful evening I shall be very happy to introduce you to two curiosities

Five minutes later we were in the street walking toward Regent's circus

'You wonder' said my companion 'why it is that Mycroft does not use his powers for detective work He is incapable of it'

'But I thought you said—'

'I said that he was my superior in observation and deduction If the art of the detective began and ended in reasoning from an arm chair, my brother would be the greatest criminal agent that ever lived But he has no ambition and no energy He will not even go out of his way to verify his own solutions, and would rather be considered wrong than take the trouble to prove himself right Again and again I have taken a problem to him, and have received an explanation which has afterwards proved to be the correct one And yet he was absolutely incapable of working out the practical points which must be gone into before a case could be laid before a judge or jury'

'It is not his profession then?'

'By no means What is to me a means of livelihood is to him the merest hobby of a dilettante He has an extraordinary faculty for figures, and audits the books in some of the government departments Mycroft lodges in Pall Mall and he walks round the corner into Whitehall every morning and back every evening From year's end to year's end he takes no other exercise and is seen nowhere else, except only in the Diogenes club which is just opposite his rooms'

'I cannot recall the name'

'Very likely not There are many men in London, you know who, some from shyness, some from misanthropy, have no wish for the company of their fellows Yet they are not averse to comfortable chairs and the latest periodicals It is for the convenience of these that the Diogenes club was started, and it now contains the most unsociable and unclubable men in town No member is permitted to take the least notice of any other one Save in the strangers room, no talking is under any circumstances allowed and three offenses if brought to the notice of the committee render the talker liable to expulsion My brother was one of the founders and I have myself found it a very soothing atmosphere

We had reached Pall Mall as we talked and were walking down it from the St James' end Sherlock Holmes stopped at a door some little distance from the Carlton, and cautioning me not to speak he led the way into the hall Through the glass panelling I caught a glimpse of a large and luxurious room in which a considerable number of men were sitting about and reading papers each in his own little nook Holmes showed me into a small chamber which looked out into Pall Mall and then leaving me for a minute he came back with a companion who I knew could only be his brother

Mycroft Holmes was a much larger and stouter man than Sherlock His body was absolutely corpulent but his face, though massive had preserved something of the sharpness of expression which was so remarkable in that of his brother His eyes, which were of a peculiarly light, watery gray, seemed to always retain that far-away, introspective look which I had only observed in Sherlock's when he was exerting his full powers

'I am glad to meet you sir' said he, putting out a broad fat hand like the flipper of a seal I hear of Sherlock everywhere since you became his chronicler By the way, Sherlock, I expected to see you round last week, to consult me over that Manor House case I thought you might be a little out of your depth

'No, I solved it' said my friend, smiling.

'It was Adams of course'

'Yes it was Adams'

'I was sure of it from the first.' The two set down together in the bow-window of the club To any one who wishes to study mankind this is the spot,' said Mycroft Look at the magnificent types! Look at these two men who are coming toward us, for example'

'The billiard-marker and the other?'

'Precisely What do you make of the other

The two men had stopped opposite the window. Some chalk marks over the waistcoat pocket were the only signs of billiards which I could see in one of them. The other was a very small dark fellow, with his hat pushed back and several packages under his arm

'An old soldier, I perceive,' said Sherlock

'And very recently discharged,' remarked the brother

'Served in India, I see'

'And a non-commissioned officer'

'Royal Artillery, I fancy,' said Sherlock

'And a widower'

'But with a child'

'Children my dear boy, children'

'Come said I, laughing, this is a little too much'

'Surely,' answered Holmes 'it is not hard to say that a man with that bearing, expression of authority, and sun-baked skin, is a soldier, is more than a private and is not long from india'

'That he has not left the service long is shown by his still wearing his ammunition boots, as they are called'

'Observed Mycroft

'He had not the cavalry stride, yet he wore his hat on one side, as is shown by the lighter skin on that side of his brow His weight is against his being a sapper He is in the artillery'

'Then, of course, his complete mourning shows that he has lost some one very dear. The fact that he is doing his own shopping looks as though it were his wife. He has been buying things for children, you perceive. There is a rattle, which shows that one of them is very young The wife probably died in childbed The fact that he has a picture-book under his arm shows that there is another child to be thought of'

I began to understand what my friend meant when he said that his brother possessed even keener faculties than he did himself He glanced across at me and smiled Mycroft took snuff from a tortoise-shell box, and brushed away the wandering grains from his coat with a large, red silk handkerchief

'By the way, Sherlock' said he, 'I have had something quite after your own heart—a most singular problem—it has submitted to my judgment I really had not the energy to follow it up save in a very incomplete fashion, but it gave me a basis for some pleasing speculations If you would care to hear the facts—'

'My dear Mycroft, I should be delighted'

The brother scribbled a note upon a leaf of his pocketbook, and ringing the bell, he handed it to the waiter

'I have asked Mr Melas to step across,' said he 'He lodges on the floor above me, and I have some slight acquaintance with him, which led him to come to me in his perplexity. Mr Melas is a Greek by extraction, as I understand, and he is a remarkable linguist. He earns his living partly as interpreter in the law courts and partly by acting as guide to any wealthy Orientals who may visit the Northumberland Avenue hotels I think I will leave him to tell his very remarkable experience in his own fashion

A few minutes later we were joined by a short stout man whose olive face and coal black hair proclaimed his Southern origin, though his speech was that of an educated Englishman He shook hands eagerly with Sherlock Holmes, and his dark eyes sparkled with pleasure when he understood that the specialist was anxious to hear his story

'I do not believe that the police credit me—on my word, I do not' said he in a wailing voice Just because they have never heard of it before they think that such a thing cannot be But I know that I shall never be easy in my mind until I know what has become of my poor man with the sticking plaster upon his face

'I am all attention,' said Sherlock Holmes

'This is Wednesday evening' said Mr Melas Well then it was Monday night—only two days ago you understand—that all this happened I am an interpreter as perhaps my neighbor there has told you I interpret all languages—or nearly all—but as I am a Greek by birth and with a Grecian name it is with that particular tongue that I am principally associated, for many years I have been the chief Greek interpreter in London, and my name is very well known in the hotels

'It happens not unfrequently that I am sent for at strange hours by foreigners who get into difficulties or by travellers who arrive late and wish my services. I was not surprised, therefore, on Monday night when a Mr Latimer, a very fashionably dressed young man came up to my rooms and asked me to accompany him in a cab which was waiting at the door A Greek friend had come to see him upon business he said, and as he could speak nothing but his own tongue, the services of an interpreter were indispensable. He gave me to understand that his house was some little distance off, in Kensington, and he seemed to be in a great hurry, bustling me rapidly into the cab when we had descended to the street

'I saw into the cab but I soon became doubtful as to whether it was not a carriage in which I found myself It was certainly more roomy that the ordinary four wheeled disgrace to London, and the fittings, though frayed were of rich quality Mr Latimer seated himself opposite to me and we started off through Charging Cross and up the Shaftesbury Avenue We had come out upon Oxford Street and I had ventured some remark as to this being a roundabout way to Kensington when my words were arrested by the extraordinary conduct of my companion

INCOME TAX RATE WILL BE THE SAME NEXT YEAR AS THIS

NO HOPE FOR A REDUCTION IS THE OPINION OF PARTY LEADERS.

CAMPAIGN PROMISE THAT CAN'T BE WHOLLY KEPT

Tug of War As to Which Shall Be Taken Up First, Tariff or Tax Revision.

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post

WASHINGTON March 17—The republican leaders are in a tug-of-war as to which to take up first—the tariff or the revision of taxes On this question there have been conferences between President Harding and some twenty of the republican leaders The conferences have ended without decision

It is a disagreeable thing to decide because each course promises disappointment at the end It is a competition in reluctance

A few of the old republican leaders who regard protection as an unfailing guarantee of national prosperity want to jump into that immediately The high priest of these is Lordney of Michigan Lordney and these other old leaders remember the McKinley tariff of a generation ago and think that what protection did then protection will do now They think protection is a prosperity miracle maker at all times and under all conditions

There is a group of younger leaders however who believe that there is a wide difference between the conditions of the 90's and the conditions of today They are far less certain that the mere device of high protection will now accomplish the things it seemed to accomplish in the time of McKinley and of Dingley These younger leaders are by no means unfriendly to the protective tariff principle On the contrary they are emphatically in favor of it but they have grave doubts whether protection alone will revive prosperity and they don't want to be in the position of reviving the tariff without doing anything else of leading the country to expect prosperity from that revision and then running the risk of the punishment to the party that would follow disappointment to the country

Want to Revise Taxes

What these younger leaders want is to take up the revision of the taxes first They believe that the corporations and firms engaged in productive business can not make their plans intelligently until they know what taxes they must pay and they want to get this uncertain factor out of the way first

Business men generally are behind this younger school of republican leaders

One need not to be a seer to foresee that in the outcome this struggle will be won by those who want to take up tax revision first The mere fact of time will decide it if nothing else should Everybody with any experience knows that the writing of a tariff will consume a minimum of six months Anyone who wants to satisfy himself on this can look up the history of the tariffs of McKinley, of Dingley of Payne and of Underwood

The house, which works much more compactly, can write a tariff in a comparatively short time, but no tariff bill can go into the senate and come out under six months Senators must talk If the republican leaders should take up the tariff first it is a fair prediction that they would not complete the work before close to the end of the present year

The revision of taxes on the other hand can be accomplished in a comparatively brief time

Rate Will Not Be Less.

On this point of the revision of the taxes the public can take a few things completely for granted The first will strike the taxpayer with a good deal of dismay Every person who has just written his check for the income tax payment due Tuesday can rely with confidence and with distaste on the fact that the check he will be paying a year from Tuesday will not be less than the check he is writing now What I mean of course is that the rate will not be changed and that the percentage of his income which he must pay will be the same

I know this is contrary to the republican campaign promises to reduce taxation but every well-informed republican leader knows now, and possibly some of them knew it during the campaign that this is a promise that can not be wholly kept As one of them said the other day 'We have promised to solve the insoluble"

It is true the excess profits tax will be reduced in rate or possibly wiped out altogether but the excess profits tax has already ceased to be a revenue producer

To the degree that the excess profits taxes have been reduced by the disappearance of profits and to the degree that they may be reduced by any change made in the rate to that same degree must the amount of revenue derived from income taxes be increased

The rate of taxation on individual incomes will be the same next year as this year There might be slight reductions in the rate on very large incomes In a rough way the republican leaders draw a line on incomes of about $80,000 a year They say that on incomes below that amount the rate of taxation can not be reduced On incomes above that amount the rate may be reduced not of course for the purpose of making it easier on the rich, but rather to induce the rich to quit putting their funds into tax free municipal bonds

Government Must Pay.

The amount of money the government must pay out is a stubborn fact and must be met To a certain extent, through the use of perfectly legitimate devices the amount of the government's immediate outlay can be reduced Appropriations can be pared but all that can be done in that respect for the current year has already been done

In another way an able secretary of the treasury can effect a certain amount of rearrangement of the government debt That is what Secretary Mellon is busy on now Short-term Liberty bonds can be refunded into long-term Liberty bonds Payments of the government debt which are now planned to be made over a period of twenty years can be extended over a period of forty years, or even sixty years

Nurse Tells of the Life of Stillmans While in Canada

By DALE VAN EVERY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 17—The first account of events at the summer home of James A Stillman, near the village of Grand Aunse, Quebec, during the summer of 1918 was given to the United Press here today by Miss Isabel Armstrong former nurse of the Stillman children

Miss Armstrong came east from Pasadena, Cal, a witness for Stillman, millionaire banker, in his divorce action The events at Grand Aunse figure largely in the divorce evidence

"I was at Grand Aunse with Mrs Stillman from March to September, 1918," Miss Armstrong said "Mr Stillman was not there during most of the summer

"Fred Beauvais (the French-Canadian named by Stillman) had complete authority as general manager of the whole establishment. He had power even to hire and discharge Mrs Stillman's servant

"Beauvais smoked cigarets in the house He was very highly regarded by all members of the family He was very strong I have seen him handle three sacks of cement with perfect ease

"Mrs Stillman was always out of doors in good weather She was very much interested in farm work and spent much of her time inspecting the growing crops and seeing that everything was properly attended to

Rides Gang Plow.

I remember seeing her riding on the seat of the big gang plow and helping with the haying Once I saw her weeding the vegetable garden She had a horror of weeds There were two houses on the farm which stretched along St Marie river The forest came right down to the edge of the farm One of the houses was occupied by Mrs Stillman This was called the white house

"The other house which was a stone's throw distant, was occupied by the Beauvais family. I was the only servant with Mrs Stillman except members of the Beauvais family Miss Anne Stillman slept in a tent which was very delightfully furnished, right near the house

"I had the care of Alexander Stillman, then the youngest of the family, since Guy Stillman was not born until the following November

(Guy Stillman is the infant made co-defendant with his mother in the divorce action)

"'Bud' (James Stillman Jr) and Miss Anne were there during most of the summer Some times Miss Anne and 'Bud' made trips into the wilderness with guides or visited Camp Illmans, which was some distance from the farm

"'Bud' was very fond of shooting He was always firing at targets or something, also he had a beautiful little yacht, the 'Happy Second' on which he spent much of his time Fred Beauvais was often with him"

SHOOTS WOMAN AND THEN KILLS HIMSELF

ROCKFORD, ILL, March 17—Arthur Bauscher, president of the Bauscher brothers company florists of Freeport Illinois, died here early today from a self-inflicted bullet wound and Miss Helen Wilson of Rockford is dying from a bullet wound in the head inflicted by Bauscher as they alighted from an interurban car here late last night

Miss Wilson recently divorced her husband Clarence Widholm an automobile salesman of Rockford Bauscher her employer and a widower employed her to marry him

Miss Wilson it is said became reconciled last week with her former husband and had planned to remarry him Last night she left Freeport on an interurban car bound for Rockford where Widhalm was waiting for her Bauscher also boarded the car and as she alighted at Rockford Bauscher shot her through the right temple then fired a bullet through his brain

REPEAL OF LAW MAKES IT EASY FOR ANARCHISTS TO SECURE EXPLOSIVES

WASHINGTON, March 17—Withdrawal of supervision over the manufacture and sale of explosives with the repeal by congress of war legislation has made it easy for anarchists, safe blowers and others to obtain explosives for illegal purposes, said a statement issued today by the bureau of mines

In urging legislation to control the handling as well as the manufacture and sale of explosives, the bureau announced that the United States is practically the only civilized government in the world that fails to exercise a national supervision over explosives

Large stores of explosives, the statement said, have been found within the limits of cities and towns where an explosion might cause loss of life and property State convicts have been known to hide dynamite which they had for road work to be used for safe blowing when their terms expired

Is Rheumatism Really Incurable?

Misdirected Treatment Will Make You Think So

Rheumatism is a very insidious disease. In fact, its pains may hardly be noticed at first. But they become more frequent, and gradually increase in severity, and before you hardly realize it, you are firmly in the grip of a disease that may make you helpless.

First of all, you must realize that Rheumatism's pains are not on the surface, and cannot be rubbed away. Then you will discard the liniment bottle, and seek the source of the disease.

Many forms of Rheumatism are due to a tiny germ in the blood, which multiplies by the million and spreads its pain to different parts of the body.

When you realize the logic of this conclusion, you will see that you are really wasting your time and money if you are expecting any permanent relief from the use of liniments, lotions, and other locally applied treatment, which can only reach the surface and have no effect whatever upon the origin of your trouble.

Any disease should be treated at its source, and especially one that causes as much suffering as rheumatism. For what you want is not mere temporary relief from the torturing pangs of pain, which will promptly return with renewed severity. The only treatment worth while is one that will show some progress toward getting at the source of the disease, and freeing the victim from its shackles.

The one point that the medical profession has agreed upon, is that some forms of rheumatism are caused by a tiny disease germ in the blood, which multiplies by the million, and until these germs are routed from the blood, you can see how futile local treatment will be. In fact, you can rub with liniments and use lotions by the gallon and never hope to reach the cause of your trouble.

So many people have found real permanent relief from their rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. that its use is justified in practically every case. Certainly if your rheumatism is due to a germ in the blood, as so many thousands of cases are, you should lose no time in beginning the use of S. S. S., because you can rely upon this fine old blood remedy to do you more good than any other treatment.

S. S. S. is beneficial in rheumatism because it is such a thorough blood medicine. It cleanses the blood of all impurities, and eradicates the germs which cause rheumatism. The wonderful results it has accomplished in other cases is proof of its great merit. S. S. S. has been on the market for more than fifty years and is sold by all druggists.

S. S. S. is the logical treatment for Rheumatism, because it purifies the blood and eliminates the disease germs.

You are invited to write our medical department for valuable literature and advice about the treatment of your own case, for which no charge is made. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 37 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia. —(Adv.)

DRILLING FOR OIL IN FLORIDA, HAVE AN UNUSUAL PROPOSITION TO OFFER THE GENERAL PUBLIC

260,000 ACRES—THREE DRILLING WELLS

$500,000 CAPITAL—PAR VALUE $10.00

OFFER A LIMITED AMOUNT OF SHARES FOR SALE TO BE USED FOR DEVELOPMENT PURPOSES

WHAT WOULD IT MEAN TO YOU TO HAVE SHARES IN AN OIL COMPANY WITH 260,000 ACRES OF LEASES SHOULD AN OIL WELL BE OBTAINED? Can you imagine what this amount of holdings would figure in millions with an oil gusher on it? You are well acquainted with the Burkburnett Northwest extension pool. This oil pool, covering approximately 4,000 acres, has already produced about $150,000,000 worth of oil and will be producing for the next ten years.

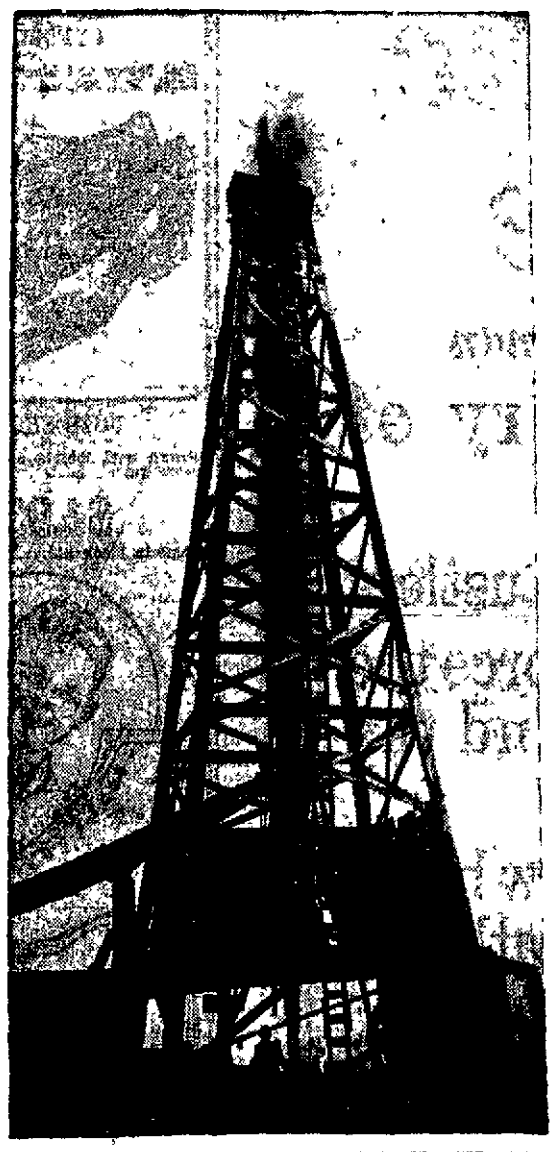
Here Is Our Proposition in a Nut Shell

THE FLORIDA OIL COMPANY, with approximately 260,000 acres of leases practically in a solid body in Walton County, Florida, has formed a Company with authorized capital of $500,000, with headquarters at DeFuniak Springs, Fla. The Company is operating under a Trust agreement, and all Shareholders and Trustees are exempt from personal liability. We are now drilling two wells and have our derrick up for the third well. The wells now drilling are thirty miles apart and the third well is about half-way between, and we own the leases between almost solid. Not one single acre has been reserved and all goes into the Company, and all shareholders will participate in the sale of leases as well as production. The log of the two wells drilling already convinces us that there is oil in Florida, but whether we discover oil or not, we are confident that with this enormous amount of acreage we can make all our shareholders money as we are in a position to sell acreage all over the United States if necessary. Several geologists have passed favorably on Western Florida and Southern Alabama, and our proposition is becoming so well advertised in that section that almost daily we are offered large tracts of land if we will only drill them an oil well. You can readily see that there is no limit to our possibilities should we discover oil as we would immediately become one of the big companies.

It stands to reason that if the Gulf Coast contains oil from Tampico to New Orleans, that there should at least be lots of tests made from New Orleans to Tampa, Florida. While we don't believe there is a chance for you to lose a dollar invested in our Company, just think what it would mean to you should we find oil. Your stock would immediately jump to 20 to 1, and possibly more. It is said that there are more than FOUR THOUSAND persons who became millionaires by starting out in a small way in the oil business. According to reliable statistics, 32 per cent more people lose money and fail in farming than in the oil business, and 20 per cent more in the business of banking. There is no other business in the world that gives the small investor such a chance to win wealth through the resources of Nature as does the oil business. One acre of oil land can produce more money in one year than the same acre could produce in potatoes in a thousand years at $3.00 per bushel.

In conclusion, I wish to state that this proposition has cost a lot of money, time, worry and effort on our part, but I honestly and sincerely believe that it is one of the fairest and best propositions ever placed on the market in the oil business. Believing that I have something good, I naturally come to my friends first to let them in on it. I do so conscientiously believing that it offers immeasurable returns with a very slight chance of losing a dollar. However, we don't want anyone's money who cannot freely and willingly take a chance in the oil business. We want optimists who are willing to take reasonable risks in life. Suppose you fail once, twice or even six times, in the end you will succeed. Like Charles M. Schwab, we believe that return is always in proportion to the risk. Don't sit around and hollow business depression and financial stringency. That is just what's the matter today. There are too many people waiting for things to adjust themselves. What we need is more action and less talk.

A Word As to the Officers and Managers of This Company



A. L. HUEY, President

As President of the Florida Oil Company, I have no bouquets to throw at myself. I do wish to state, however, for the benefit of those who may think that I have been promoter of many dry hole and fake propositions, that during my fifteen years' residence in the city of Wichita Falls that I have never promoted nor been an officer of but one Company that failed to pay good dividends, and this particular Company paid back 40% of its capital. I organized and successfully managed two corporations that put Floral Heights and Scotland Additions on the market, two of the largest additions to the city of Wichita Falls. As to how successful they were financially, four-fifths of the stockholders now residing in this city can tell you. The Scotland Addition is still paying dividends, having paid 100% last year and 35% already this year—and will continue on paying dividends. I always endeavor to make money for my stockholders and I personally guarantee them a square deal in this company.

CHARLES E. LOGAN, Vice-President

I have been intimately acquainted with Mr. Logan for twenty-one years, and while he is comparatively a young man he has put over some mighty big propositions. For the last twelve years he has resided in Kansas City. He promoted and was President and General Manager of the Good Roads Company, a corporation of $750,000 capital. This Company invented and manufactured a good roads machine for making oil and asphalt macadam roads, one of which machines was sold to this city less than two years ago. Mr. Logan is Active Manager of the Florida Oil Company, travels by airplane and does big things in a hurry. He has a pleasing approach and can call on the biggest of men from the United States senators on down. The largest bankers of Kansas City recommend Mr. Logan very highly.

H. E. McCONNELL, Treasurer

Mr. McConnell needs no introduction to the people of Wichita Falls, having resided here for the past nine years. As to his financial success, the leading banks of this city and R. G. Dunn & Co. can tell you. His success has been achieved by his honesty and good business judgment in the oil business.

I. W. DAVIS, Secretary

Mr. Davis is from Tulsa, Okla., and was chosen secretary of this company on account of his thorough knowledge of the oil and refining business and being an expert accountant. He has a wonderful system of bookkeeping and the stockholders in this company can rest assured that not one penny can get by Mr. Davis without being accounted for.

Trustees

Our Trustees consist of the very biggest bankers and business men that we could find in Western Florida and Southern Alabama, all of whom are enthused over the oil business and have always believed that there was oil in Walton County.

Topography and Geology of West Florida

I suppose many people, like myself, had Florida pictured in their minds as being a low, flat, swampy country with frogs and aligators. Never was I more surprised in my life to find in Walton County, where we are operating, a country that is hillier than either Young, Stephens or Eastland Counties, Texas. There are plenty of domes and anticlines and more oil seepages than I have ever witnessed in any country. Several noted geologists have passed favorably on Western Florida and Southern Alabama—viz.: Aldridge, Clapp, Conley, Barnett and many others whom I do not recall. Mr. Barnett has an office at 303 Morgan Building, this city, coming here from California two years ago. He is positive that there is plenty of oil in Florida.

Our Drillers and Prospects of Getting Oil

We have as good drillers as can be procured, several of them having brought in gushers in this county as well as Goose Creek and Humble. One of our drillers brought in his first gusher in Oil City, Pa., 27 years ago and since that time has brought in over two hundred gushers, having operated in all the principal oil fields of the globe.

One of our wells, drilling with rotary, is now down 1,200 feet and has had two good gas showings. The log of this well is identical with those at Goose Creek. The other well, which is thirty miles closer to the Gulf, is being drilled with cable tools and encountered two oil and gas showings up to 680 feet. Last week at 770 feet we struck an oil sand after going through a salt water and quicksand. Drilling with an open hole full of water, the quicksand was so bad that we could not go deeper. After repeated efforts we could not get closer than two feet of the bottom any more, but each time the tools were lowered oil would rise through the salt water. We repeatedly bailed oil from the well for three days. We took all of our drillers out to the well together with a large crowd of visitors and it was the unanimous opinion of drillers and all that we had some kind of an oil well, but how large we were, of course, unable to determine. Being a six-inch hole, we are now reaming down with a ten-inch bit to set new seven-inch casing which we had on hand. As soon as we case off the water and quicksand I am of the honest opinion that we will drill into a good paying oil well—and it may be a big one for that depth as I have never seen a well make a better showing with the chance it had.

To verify the above I desire to quote you a letter received from one of the visitors who is in nowise connected with our Company. This gentleman is President of the Marshall State Bank of Marshall, Ill., and has had lots of experience in the oil business.

DeFuniak Springs, Fla.
March 12, 1921.

MR. CHAS. E. LOGAN, Gen. Mgr.,
Florida Oil Company,
DeFuniak Springs, Fla.

Dear Sir: In regard to my visit at your well drilling in Sec. 22, Twp. 1, R. 17, near Bruce, Fla., I am greatly pleased with the showing of oil that was repeatedly bailed out of the well yesterday.

I will anxiously await the results of your plans to case off the cavings and quicksand in the hole. Then you will know whether or not you have a producing oil well.

This shallow oil is an agreeable surprise to myself and confirms my belief in the possibilities of the deeper oil sands. Yours truly,

GEO. G. ROBERTSON.

We Absolutely Control This Wonderful Field

You can readily see that we have a wonderful proposition with a good chance to get an oil well, and no one can possibly purchase a lease close to any of our wells without purchasing from us. Have you ever heard of a Company with so much acreage proposing to drill three oil wells and nearly have them drilled before offering any stock for sale? Remember, we have reserved nothing, but put everything in our Company, including leases, drilling wells, casing, six well equipped offices, automobiles, brand new three-passenger Curtis aeroplane, etc.—all goesinto the Company and everyone guaranteed a square deal.

Should we discover oil, our transportation facilities would be excellent as the big boats come up the river within four miles of one of our wells, and it is only eleven miles from this well to Freeport, on the Choctawatchee Bay, where there is a harbor. We are also just seventy miles east of Pensacola, the deepest harbor in the South, and on a through line of the L. & N. Railroad.

Whether you purchase any stock or not, we would like to have you call at our offices, 305-306 Morgan Bldg., where we have Maps, Literature, Pictures of Drilling Wells and all data pertaining to the proposition.

HAMON CASE TO JURY LATE IN AFTERNOON

would see that she was acquitted if she released claims against the Hamon estate, is a fine example of a law-abiding citizen

"The prosecution is run by those who want to project their clutches in the middle of Hamon's millions.

The state asked Clara if she had any children and if there was a will

"There is only one way to rifle the Hamon estate—that is to hustle her off to the penitentiary

"Hamon was drunk that day Everyone who saw him said he was drunk but Kelly Roach and Bill Nichols—and they were drunk too.

"Those interested in the Hamon millions are the ones who cooked up the state's case"

Champion grabbed the pistol, laid Jimmie Mathers another defense attorney on a table to visualize the state's charge that Clara shot Hamon while lying in bed

Mathers was propped up with law books as a pillow

"Jim You're Jake and I'm Clara," yelled Champion brandishing the gun. Murder fans laughed at this, Clara cried.

"Prince Freeling, where is the powder burn on the shirt if Hamon was shot with the gun against his breast'" asked Champion.

He spread Hamon's bloody percale shirt out on the table Clara sat on one side, Mrs. Hamon on the other

"Was there a reconciliation between Hamon and his good wife? They say he was going to change his life and join the church

"Wasn't he making a good start—getting drunk with Bill Nichols and Kelley Roach on the Sabbath and then pick up a chair and try to kill a little girl'"

"If the grave could open up the dead man would say to you

"Remember I am the one who stole this girl from purity.

"Remember I set a horrible example of open and notorious adulters.'

"God, breathes there a man who would say the death penalty for this little girl.

"There's no middle ground in this case, either death or liberty—there's no middle ground.

"Girls like this will forever be acquitted as long as the spirit of God lasts."

Mathers for Defense.

Jimmie Mathers, Ardmore prosecuting attorney who is one of the defense attorneys appeared before the jury next.

"Gentlemen," he said, "your verdict will be flashed to millions of mothers over the country

"There she sits like a mouse in a trap with the Hamon millions closing in on her.

"No verdict can give back to her, her sweet childhood. That she had when she met this social outlaw.

"Jake Hamon burned the scarlet letter on her breast. Your verdict will say whether she will be the sport of every passing libertine.

"Gentlemen, tell her to go and sin no more.

"The state does not expect a conviction. It expects a hung jury; it wonders if the gold of Hamon has not lined the pockets of a juryman.

"This builder of states, nations and empires whispered to this little girl thirteen years ago.

"The state said this little curly haired girl of sixteen roped Jake Hamon.

"If Hamon had not been a man of wealth, the attorney general, my superior officer would not have been here.

"The gold of the Hamons can not extend to the jury box to require you to stultify your conscience.

"Every detective money could buy has worked to find something slimy about this girl

Questions Testimony.

"The whole fabric and basis of this prosecution is founded on perjured testimony.

"It is a chest of gold against this girl

"The odor of the prosecution outstenches the cesspool of hell"

Mathers ridiculed the witness for the state and their testimony.

"Call Kelly Roach, Walter Hardy, Bill Nichols and others,

"and all of Hamon's friends lied when they gave out statements that Hamon shot himself accidentally.

"They would as soon swear to a lie as tell one," he shouted, jerking off his coat.

It was charged by Mathers that Dr Hardy was recalled to the stand five times by the state because "he was called when they wanted good lying done"

"Who is to blame" cried Mathers, "is it the man who was so powerful he could make presidents and dig twenty millions out of the earth or is it this innocent little girl'"

"The bullet that sent Jake Hamon to his death was the just execution of the sentence of God.

"I like Attorney General Freeling but I do not want him to walk into the governor's chair through the tears of this little girl

"If there is still justice in America, then this jury in ten minutes will flash a verdict of 'not guilty' to the civilized world," Mathers said

McLean Closes for Defense.

"Wild Bill" McLean jumped to his feet at the opening of the afternoon session and started to harangue the jury in Clara's defense.

He launched into the alleged dying declaration of Hamon that Clara had shot him in cold blood.

"A great many people think a man will not lie before he dies, but the law books do not say that," he shouted.

"The court ruled out of the room every child under 16 years of age.

"Every child should hear this trial. The preacher said he didn't know why God did it. We'll show why God did it!

"I think God did it to the man who deserted his wife and family," "Wild Bill," who yelled in a southern accent, pulled off his glasses and jerked open his vest. "The woman we should pity is not the defendant—it is Mrs. Jake L. Hamon," he continued.

"There has never been a stain on her—the deceased published himself before the country before he was shot.

"Hamon was teaching his noble son it was all right to marry a good woman and and then live in adultery with another woman.

"I see the dear old mother of Clara who couldn't believe her daughter was in adultery.

"That's what makes us men—they don't believe such things.

"They always lay it on the woman. There was never a woman in America that seduced a man. There never was a twenty year old girl who ever seduced a forty year old—lawyer—and you know it.

Does Not Argue Evidence.

"The evidence is blank and I will not argue it.

"Hamon accomplished his purpose before Clara was out of school."

"Wild Bill" launched into letters written by Clara to Hamon to prove that not she, but Hamon, was the aggressor in the unsanctioned love affair

"The story told by the state is unreasonable," he said. "She would have been justified in pumping him full of bullets because he attacked her.

"Your verdict should be an exoneration of the defendant.

"She may have sinned. He wrapped her in furs, put diamonds on her. Don't blame the woman. Fine clothes will not get all women—it will get some of them"

McLean closed at 2 55 and the court recessed for five minutes, after which Freeling will speak for the state.

Defense Waives Argument.

Confidence of the six attorneys for the defense that Clara would be freed led them late yesterday to attempt to waive the right of a closing argument and move that the jury be given the case immediately.

This followed the argument to the jury by H. H. Brown, who is assisting Freeling in the prosecution.

The judge held up decision on this most unusual motion of the defense and sent out after Prince Freeling, who was not in court at the time Brown spoke.

Freeling objected most strenuously, saying the defense had to make an argument according to law, after which he would have something to say.

The judge adjourned court until this morning, at which time he will make a ruling.

The state. It is generally conceded has had a very weak case against the defendant and has been unable to shatter the case of the defendant.

The speed with which Clara's trial has been rushed through has been a record for sensational murder trials.

It started just a week ago. The jury was completed the first day. The state, in two days presented its witnesses who testified that Hamon was not drunk on the day he was shot and that before he died the oil king made dying declarations that he had been deliberately shot by his paramour.

Slightly over a day was consumed by the defense in proving its contention that Hamon was drunk and that Clara shot him in self defense after he had beat her and swung a chair at her.

Trial Sensational.

The trial of the girl who shot the millionaire republican national committeeman has been the most sen.sational one, attorneys said, since the famous Thaw trial.

During the trial it was brought out that Hamon exiled his wife and two children and has lived with the defendant for eight years in his dingy love hovel in the second rate Randol Hotel.

Testimony also brought out that Hamon was a power politically and that when he was mortally wounded his concern was to get his friends who had helped him sweep Oklahoma into the republican column taken care of with political jobs.

One of his last requests to W. D. Nichols, was "to go straight to Warren Harding to get my friends taken care of."

Hamon was shot on November 21 in his rooms at the Randol hotel. He walked to the hospital and the next day statements were given out he accidentally shot himself while cleaning a gun. All of Hamon's friends at the time stuck by this story.

Russell Brown, county attorney at the time, started an investigation before Hamon died. He filed charges of immorality against Clara and Hamon and charged her with shooting Hamon.

Ordered to Leave Ardmore.

The day after the shotting, according to testimony given by Frank F. Ketch, thousand dollar a week business associate of Hamon, Clara was given $5,000 by Ketch and ordered to leave Ardmore and not to come back.

She fled to Mexico and while there confessed that she shot Hamon and returned to face trial.

All of Hamon's friends then repudiated their statements that Hamon had been shot accidentally and got behind the prosecution. These were the chief witnesses for the state.

Many believe that Hamon went to his death saying he shot himself to save his secretary-protege from punishment.

Whether he did or not was not definitely established at the trial—the defense said he did and the prosecution said he didn't.

POLICE AND RANGER FIND STOLEN GOODS HID ON RIVER BANK

Practically all of the goods stolen from the Noble store at Petrolia were recovered early Thursday afternoon by State Ranger J. H. Asher, Police Chief Huff and Police Commissioner Bratley.

The goods were in a suit case which had been carefully buried on the Wichita river bank about three miles northwest of the city. The thief had dug a hole and partially filled it with rotten wood and brush, to absorb the moisture and had also packed wood and brush about the suit and covered the hole with it. The goods are valued at $3,000.

Frank Ellsworth, arrested late Wednesday in connection with the theft, told officers that he had packed spongy wood around the goods to protect them from dampness until he could return for them. Ellsworth also told the officers that his two six-shooters, which the officers have not found, had been coated with tallow and placed "in the water" until he could get them again.

"I'll be out of the penitentiary again in three or six months," he said, "then I can come back and get those guns again.' He told of the system whereby, using tallow, he protected the guns from the water.

Some of the stolen silk was found in a wagon yard restaurant Thursday morning.

J. H. Asher, state ranger, had an active part in the exciting chase Wednesday afternoon that resulted in the capture of Ellsworth. A detailed account of this chase, which appears on page two of The Times Thursday, fails to mention Mr. Asher as one of the participants.

A horseman dashed up outside and presently strode into the room. He was tall and well put together; not quite as straight as an arrow, but straight, and not ungraceful in his height. This was Harry Van Horn, a neighboring cattleman, and he wore the ranchman's rig, including the broad hat and the revolver slung at his hip. His step was clean and springy as he crossed the room and looked keenly at his guests—last and longest at Kate.

PRODUCER'S PROBLEM NOT YET SOLVED SAYS THE PETROLEUM NEWS

The better tone lent to the crude oil situation by the resumption of 100 per cent purchases from existing connections by all agencies in the Mid-Continent except the Prairie Oil & Gas Company, was strengthened during the past week by payment of slight premiums over the $1.75 posted price in two pools, says the National Petroleum News of Wednesday.

At the same time, there still exists an excess of production from wells already completed over the amount that can be handled from day to day by refineries running so much as the demand calls for and during the past week the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's committee on conservation and conciliation felt called upon to warn producers against taking the increase in purchases as proof that the congested period was ended.

The committee emphasized that the condition which existed in December, when purchasing agencies were compelled to curtail runs for their own accounts, is possible of repetition if producers, believing there exists a ready market, bring in the large number of wells now shut down on the sand. It estimated the daily average production of the Mid-Continent, including Oklahoma, Kansas, central and north Texas and north Louisiana, to have been 650,000 barrels on March 1. It further estimated the Independent refineries on that date to have been taking 250,000 barrels daily, leaving a balance of 400,000 barrels daily, which was 30,000 to 40,000 barrels, daily, above pipe line capacity, and hence without market. The high point in runs by refineries of the Mid-Continent in 1920, was 319,000 barrels.

Drilling Status Is Perilous.

What might easily happen should the policy of restraint that has been pursued since the Mid-Continent association's committee inaugurated its co-operative plan on conservation, February 24, be disregarded is indicated by a report on the status of drilling operations, including only wildcat tests and wells which might extend producing limits of various fields, taking no account of wells within defined territory. On March 1, there were 3,140 rigs, drilling wells and wells shut down before completion, in the Mid-Continent, excluding north Louisiana. Of this total, 761 were rigs, 1,503 were drilling wells, and 906 were wells shut down at various stages, one-third of the latter class estimated as being on the top of the oil sand and ready to drill into production.

Duncan District Wells Show Water.

In the new Duncan district of Stephens county, Oklahoma, where a number of recent completions gave promise of a pool with big flush production, the recent showing has not been so promising. Four of the wells in what is known as the south pool, stopped flowing and salt water has appeared in several wells. It is not determined whether this is an operating condition or can be controlled. In the Empire pool of the same county, which a year ago looked important, water trouble has long ago eliminated the acreage from consideration as having any bearing on future output. Tests now drilling in the Duncan district will show within a few weeks whether this area is to go the same way.

Operation Curtailments Continue.

All fields were quiet during the week, with no extensions of producing areas of note and shut-downs in most fields continued. In southern Arkansas, recent completions have come in with big gas flows, but in two of the tests signs have been better for the future of the field, as these two have produced clean oil without the emulsion characteristic of others previously drilled in.

RIFLE LOCK BOXES OF A MASON, TENNESSEE, BANK.

NASHVILLE, TENN., March 17.—The lock boxes in the bank of Mason, Ma*son, Tennessee,* were rifled early today for between $15,000 and $25,000 in liberty bonds and war savings stamps by robbers who melted the lock of the vault door by means of an acetylene torch.

Indians and Yankees Look Like Best Bets in American League Race, Says Farrell

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 17—Up and down Broadway, they're talking about a "private world's series" on the Polo grounds next fall.

The Gotham bugs are sure that the major league pennants will drop into the arms of the Giants and the Yankees.

In disposing of the American league pennant however, there is just the slightest concern to find out what Tris Speaker will have to say about evacuating the front line trenches that he took last fall.

Looking over the world's champion Indians, one gets fairly hit in the face with the impression that Tris Speaker will have quite a lot to say.

Speaker thinks so well of his champions that he didn't turn a hand all winter to improve the club. Other clubs went through a hectic winter of trades and attempted trades, but Speaker went hunting.

On dope, unrealizable as it may be sometimes, the Cleveland tribe should repeat and win their second pennant in a row.

They face the same rosy prospects that the Cincinnati Reds had last spring but it is almost a certain fact that Speaker will not allow the Indians to follow the wild ways that wrecked the Moran bunch.

Duster Mails practically won the pennant for the Indians last year. That sterling southpaw came just at the opportune moment when the great Stan Coveleskie and Jim Bagby were about to break down under the terrific burden of carrying the club alone. Mails stepped in and won every game he pitched.

He should be just as good this season and working regularly with the other pair of stars, Speaker ought to have about the best staff in the league.

The Indian boss says he would not be surprised to see his trio turn in 75 victories during the season. If they do and if the other members of the staff do no better than break in their stars the pennant is sure for Ohio.

It was thought last fall that Speaker would try to get a more experienced shortstop to take the place of the game kid Joey Sewell but the Indian Chief is going to stick to him and claims that he will be the star of the year.

Only the New York Yankees seem to stand in the way of the Indians and the rag. The White Sox are absolutely gone and the St. Louis Browns are very uncertain.

The Yanks aren't much better than they were last year and they weren't good enough then.

Manager Huggins has a big outfield problem and even the return of Frank Baker does not make it sure that his infield will be any better than last year. He has a terrific hitting team of course but it is as slow as a tank. His pitching staff is no stronger, and although he has ridden the camp of "bolsheviks" there is no certainty that he will have any more authority than he had last season—which was practically none.

The St. Louis Browns are one of those things that are liable to pop out at any time. There was friction last year between the club owners and the management. This removed by the appointment of Lee Fohl, the club may do better and cause trouble in the race. The Browns have a good ball club and if Fohl is able to get them working consistently, they must be figured.

It may bring a laugh, but Connie Mack's club may be a big surprise. The lean old manager has been experimenting for five years and there's no telling when he will strike the right combination. The Athletics looked good last year at times.

Washington with a pitcher or two has a good club, one that will be a mark for none, but it isn't of pennant speed.

Ty Cobb with the Tigers and Hugh Duffy with the Red Sox may bring their clubs higher up in the race, but it is almost too much to expect pennants from them in their first year.

SPORT SHOTS

By Paul W. Larkin

Bischoff, the latest addition to Saim's catching staff, was out in uniform yesterday and warmed up a couple of hurlers. Last season the Memphis backstop hit the pill at a .251 clip and fielded at the rate of .960. Of the 79 hits that he gathered during the season 20 were doubles, two triples and two home runs. He booted only 14 out of over 300 fielding chances.

Wichita Falls' Gain.

In Wichita, Kan., they claim that Frank Isbell, president of the club, let Abe Bowman go because he was in wrong with the club. It seems that Bowman jumped the club during the season and drew a suspension and fine for the stunt. The deal whereby Saim purchased him is said to be the outgrowth of this difficulty and Isbell is quoted as saying that he thought it was for the best interests of the Wichita club to let him go. What's one's loss is another's gain. It was originally stated that Bowman won 17 out of 28 starts last year, but according to Spalding's averages the big flinger won 23 and lost 14. His complete record follows: Innings pitched, 292; hits 2[illegible]; runs 104; bases on balls 101; strikeouts 120; hit batsmen, 4; wild pitches 9.

Dick and "Commy" Step Out.

Dick Nelson is gradually coming into his own and looks better out around that first sack every day. It took him some time to work out his lameness, but it was finally boiled out and he's going along in fine style now. The same is true of "Specks" Comstock. Walter has been shifting Commy all over the lot and he's been coming through in handy fashion. He's been working behind the bat the past couple of days and he's not the worst backstop in the world. He can also play first base and has had quite a bit of experience at the bag. In addition to these qualifications he can hit from either the left or the right side of the plate. It's the little things like these that may land him that utility position in the end. He certainly is a utility man if he ever was one.

Buddy Walloping 'Em.

Every day at Athletic park some individual is the others when it comes to pasting the pill but for consistent wallop during the past week you've got to hand it to Buddy Tander. It makes no difference to him whether the hurlers lob the ball over or whether they put all they've got on it. Buddy thumps 'em just the same. He's been leaving the outgardeners a merry chase. Hope he keeps it up. Looks like a big year for Buddy.

Jake Should Rise.

Jake Miller is one who should boost his batting average this season. He fell a few points short of the .300 mark last year but will be able to hit to more than one field this year. He has been practicing hitting to left field faithfully, and if he gets that down pat he'll be very apt to show the way to the others. There'll be a merry scramble for hitting honors on the local club this year. The Spudders have a formidable crew in Clark Tanner, McDonald, Miller and McElwee.

At Last.

At last we'll know who is the better man—Wilson or O'Dowd. It took a lot of money to get these two birds together but a little thing like money is nothing in Tex Rickard's life. See where the odds are eight to five on Wilson of course the champion is always the favorite but for once we feel pretty safe in stringing along with the challenger. If Mike is in good condition he should have little trouble in getting his crown back but it is reported that he hasn't been taking care of himself as he used to. However that's the usual line of bunk that is handed out before every battle.

Evenly Matched.

The two scrappers are about as evenly matched as any pair in the country. There is no difference to speak of in their heights and reach while both are 26 years old. The rules require that they weight in at 160 pounds this afternoon but both are said to be well under weight. Should O'Dowd regain his title he will be the first to accomplish such a feat since Stanley Ketchel turned the trick. O'Dowd, being Irish, has great hopes in St. Patrick's day.

MISS STERLING RECEIVES WARM WELCOME IN ENGLAND

LONDON, March 17—Miss Alexa Stirling, woman golf champion of America, arrived today on the Carmania. She was met at the pier and welcomed by a large delegation of golf players and enthusiasts. The American champion said she had not come to England without knowing what difficulties she was going to encounter on her mission to win the British championship.

"I think I have a fighting chance to win the title," she said.

CIRCUIT CLOUTS PAY.

Does it pay to knock the ball out of the lot? A glance at the following should tell the tale. It is a list of the home run hitters who got better jobs this year.

Everett Yarvan, Western League, to Chicago White Sox. Made 41 for Wichita.

Earl Homer Sheely, Pacific Coast league, to White Sox. Made 33 for Salt Lake City.

Frank Willard Brower, International League, Washington. Made 22 for Reading.

Edmund John Miller, Southern Association, to Pittsburgh. Made 19 for Little Rock.

Norman Alexis McMillan, South Atlantic Association, to New York Yankees. Made 14 for Greenville.

Franklin Pierce Wetzel, Michigan Ontario League, to St. Louis Browns. Made 12 for Flint.

GIRL CHESS EXPERT TO PLAY BOY PRODIGY

Miss Alma Wells, pretty nineteen-year-old Chicago girl, one of the leading feminine chess players of the country, who will match her wits against the Polish boy wonder, Samuel Rzechowski, at the Illinois Athletic club in Chicago.

ODDS FAVOR CHAMPION IN TONIGHT'S BATTLE

Wilson Is 8 to 5 Favorite Over Challenger—Rumored O'Dowd Not In Condition.

NEW YORK, March 17—No bout of the season has worked such a guessing contest as the argument for the middleweight championship here tonight between Johnny Wilson, the Boston wop, and Mike O'Dowd, the St. Paul harp.

Wilson is an eight to five favorite to retain his title.

His backers have heard that O'Dowd is out of condition and they believe the former champion isn't good enough as a boxer to come in the mark in that the judges will grant Wilson as a champion.

O'Dowd will have to come close to knocking out the champion to win back the title.

If the judges showed the timidity in giving a decision that they have several times during the past it will be one of those draws. True the battle weight crown fight is not a decisive but for lynches superiority was much more marked over Jack Britton than it should be for a title.

Wilson is one of those awkward southpaw fighters who stands with his right hand and right foot extended. It was this position that upset O'Dowd in Boston if not even when Wilson took the title from Tommy Gibbons.

GIANT ROOKIE, ONLY SIX FEET SEVEN INCHES, MAKING GOOD

Claude Davenport, the lanky New York Giant rookie pitcher, snapped at the Giants training camp at San Antonio where he looks like a real find. Davenport is a little fellow, standing only six feet seven inches. Those who have seen him perform say he has a world of speed and makes the fall take numerous hops.

WOMAN GOLF CHAMPION AFTER EUROPEAN HONORS

Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta for three consecutive years women golf champion of the United States, photographed as she sailed for home from New York. Miss Stirling is going abroad to seek new honors. She will compete in both the British and French women's tournaments. This is Miss Stirling's second trip.

NEW CITY LEAGUE TO BE STARTED TONIGHT

Representatives From At Least Seven Clubs Will Meet To Discuss Plans

The first real move in the organization of a second city league will be undertaken tonight when representatives of at least seven outfits that could not enter the senior circuit will get together for a business session in the First Methodist church. Jim A. Bates, president of the senior circuit, will be in charge of the meeting and after the business meeting there will be an entertainment.

The organization of an city league is the outgrowth of a suggestion made by C. L. Carter, chairman of the athletic committee of the University club. Nick attended the first meeting of the City league in order to find a berth for the Varsity club but upon learning that the league was to be restricted to commercial and industrial organizations decided to get the other clubs to band together if possible, and play by themselves.

This suggestion met with the instant approval of the other clubs and he was assured the co-operation of the original League in anything that he undertook. It is thought that the games will be played on Sunday so that the clubs will not conflict with those of the first league.

Representatives from the following teams will be present tonight and any other clubs desiring to enter the league are invited to send delegates: University club, Methodists, Baptists, American Legion, White Mill and Elevator company, Wichita Brick and Tile company and the Red Ball Transfer company.

SCRAPPERS WILL FIGHT FOR IRISH RELIEF FUND MONDAY

NEW YORK, March 17—Two boxers, Joe Lynch, bantam champion, and Kid Norfolk, colored heavy weight champion, are to box for nothing at the show here Monday night for the Irish relief fund. Will Jackson demanded $10,000 and Rocky Kansas $5,000 to furnish the main bout.

Georgia Peach Will Be Satisfied if His Club Lands in 6th

NEW YORK, March 17—Sixth place in the American League pennant race will satisfy Ty Cobb this year. He has hopes however that his team may do better. If Detroit manages to finish better than sixth Cobb says he will feel thankful and will be ready to pay his respects to Lady Luck.

The newly appointed manager star of the Tigers is making no predictions. In a telegraphed interview he modestly tells of his plans for the coming season. He advances no claims for his team.

"As to my expectations regarding what Detroit may accomplish this year, I have very little to say," says Cobb. "We have about the same team which finished seventh in the 1920 pennant race. There is nothing I could do in the way of making changes, trades and the like for the simple reason that the men who did not do so well last year may be more successful under different conditions this year. As a result I must wait and find out the men who will attune themselves to my methods. If I should discover after two months or so that certain players cannot deliver the goods then I would go about making changes.

"Last year we finished seventh. This year I hope to be able to finish at least sixth. If we should be lucky enough to finish a little higher I would feel very thankful.

Will Do His Best.

"I have never claimed anything for our club or myself as a manager. I am simply going to do my best and finish as high as I can. One thing sure we will endeavor to let the opposition know that they are in a ball game every day.

"I hope to show a decided improvement in the pitching staff. Detroit has lacked consistent pitching for a number of years, and this department is going to be given a lot of my attention.

"As to training, I have decided to do away with the double period system, morning and afternoon. I will have a real, hard, snappy practice once each day. Also plenty of hitting practice, probably divided into two squads, the regulars and the recruits. I have a few more ideas regarding training that I will put into practice, but am not ready at this time to discuss them."

Cobb's efforts as manager of the "Bengals" will be watched with keen interest. For 15 years he has been the outstanding, all-around star of baseball, and his debut as manager and whether or not managerial duties will affect his playing will hold the attention of the baseball public.

SPORT BRIEFS

Manager Evers of the Cubs reports he is highly pleased with the work of Recruit Pitcher Earl Hanson, who came from the Peoria Three I team. Hanson pitched four innings in a game against Pasadena Merchants without allowing a hit.

The Chicago Cubs defeated the Pasadena Merchants 7 to 4, in the first real practice workout of the season yesterday.

Manager Tris Speaker of the world champion Cleveland Americans registered his first home-run of the season in a practice game yesterday at Hubbard City, Texas.

The first game in the world's championship chess tournament at Havana, Cuba, between Dr. Emanuel Lasker, the German champion and Jose Capablanca, Cuban title holder, was declared a draw after the fiftieth move. Play continues today.

Universities from all sections of the country are entered for the relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania scheduled for Franklin field in April. Deering of Nebraska and Gallagher of the Kansas agricultural college are booked for competition in the sprints and hurdles.

Ring Miller and Dick Borttam the two players awarded the Washington Senators by Judge Landis in his decision against the Pittsburgh Nationals, have arrived at Tampa, completing the Washington roster.

Pitcher Frank Graham of the Louisville club has been sold to the Memphis Southern Association team. Graham went to Louisville from Kansas City last year.

President Clark Griffith of the Washington Americans reports that Walter Johnson is fast rounding into top notch shape and probably will be able to resume his place this season as premier of the Washington pitching staff. Johnson was placed on the light duty list a part of last season when his arm weakened.

A delegation of 100 Pittsburgh bowlers start for Buffalo today to enter the American Bowling congress tournament. The group includes Harry Cavan who set the national singles record at 718 in the 1919 rolling of the A. B. C. and city title holders.

Kansas and Missouri universities compete in an indoor track and field at Kansas City Friday night.

Earl Sheely, 1920 batting champion of the Pacific Coast league, who cleared the season with an average of .3[illegible]53, 33 home runs and 51 doubles, has reported to the camp of the Chicago White Sox at Waxahachie. He will be tried out at first by Manager Gleason.

Twenty-five members of the University of Illinois track squad are ready for their journey to Chicago to participate in the western conference indoor track meet at Northwestern gymnasium Friday. Coach Gill declares the prospects for the success of the Illini were never brighter.

Decision is expected today on the plea of the state for postponement of the trial of White Sox players indicted in connection with the 1919 world's series baseball scandal. Attorneys for the players told Judge Dever at Chicago they were ready to proceed with the trial but more time is requested by the prosecution for gathering evidence.

Manager Cobb of the Detroit Tigers, in addition to rounding into shape for the championship season in baseball is devoting early morning hours to golf at the public courses of San Antonio.

SOUTHPAWS WILL BATTLE FOR FLYWEIGHT HONORS

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., March 17—One of the rare occasions of the meeting of two southpaw boxers is scheduled here tonight in the ten round bout between Sidney (Knockout) Brown of New Orleans, and Spike Sullivan of Cleveland. They are flyweights. Each fights with his right foot and arm extended. Frankie Mason has challenged the winner.

NO CHANGE IN STANDING IN BOWLING TOURNAMENT

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 17—No changes took place in the first ten standings of any event in the A. B. C. tournament here last night. A large aggregation from Syracuse will be on the alleys today. Buffalo bowlers today will get their last chance for prize money. Several mid-week teams also will roll.

Advance civilization continues to grow more and more complex. You rather step out [illegible] a fast [illegible] or an air speed [illegible] a [illegible] more bunk-[illegible] [illegible] Take the case of Jake Daubs. It has the base-ball [illegible]. A little thousand years ago all Hebrides had to clean out was the Arkansas.

TRAILING GELETT BURGESS

I've never hung a five base hit
[illegible]
[illegible] rules we start
And blame how they cramp one

I've never hooked a classic rap
My best is often punked
But what a rap it is to slap
A drive into a trunk

HOW LONG BEFORE THEY LEARN?

Organized [illegible] passionate [illegible] amounting to a keen abhorrence [illegible] White Sox scandal [illegible] finally [illegible] over the cliff.

[illegible] a fine opportunity to learn something connected with sudden [illegible] and quick [illegible]. What did O'B learn? [illegible]

[illegible] Then the Zimmerman flare up. Again was there [illegible] Again there was not. Always the old [illegible]. Apparently it has never occurred to organized baseball in its fifty years of existence that the public has anything to do with the game or may be able to be respected.

It has never occurred to anyone to let the public know precisely what is going on with or within a club.

[illegible] that consist of balking or attempting to cover up every scandal that develops.

This is why [illegible] will have a big [illegible] chance. There is nothing in common [illegible] that [illegible] which the baseball public is entitled to know as well.

THE HYBRIDS HALL.

It is with no intention of cavorting at the moment in calling over that we call attention to a few vital statistics connected with the modern baseball used.

Just how much livelier the present baseball is than the ball used eight years ago we don't say. But you can do a little [illegible] sums on your own hook after [illegible] these figures.

In 1911 the third hitting Athletics with Collins, Baker, McInnis, Strunk, Schang, Oldring and others at work accumulated 1415 base hits for a grand average of [illegible].

Last year St. Louis gathered 1415 hits for a grand average of .308. Also it should be noted that St. Louis, Cleveland, Chicago and Washington all had a higher club average last season than the slashing, Mackmen had eight years ago.

IN ADDITION

This testimony isn't all of it. In 1913 the eight American League clubs managed to dispatch a total of 1[illegible] home runs using practically the same bats and balls [illegible] in use today.

But last year the eight American League clubs ran up a total of 370 home runs, well more than double the 1913 output.

It isn't unlikely, of course, that even with the same ball some increase might have been noted, although that old Mackmen nine was a whale with the bat.

But to find four full clubs of today outhitting that nine by many points and [illegible] home runs [illegible] is proof enough that the ball has been injected with about 50 per cent more pep.

Not that any [illegible] made of the case or that any is invited. But certain fanatic extremes the big Bloke shows everything else, why I say it's [illegible].

But when it comes to comparing late batting records with those made a few years ago [illegible].

In 1917 when Collins was at his best he batted [illegible]. Last season seven years older he batted [illegible]. In 1914 Collins scored [illegible] runs on 156 hits. Last year he scored [illegible] runs on [illegible] hits.

As a spectacle the livelier ball helps the game. The 212 additional home runs struck off last year [illegible] over 1913 in [illegible] not an additional 212 pulse-cracking thrills. We have never seen a [illegible] ball club growling because too many home runs were pelted over the palings. Not yet. Not very soon.

The next move should be for a livelier football that you can kick seventy-five or eighty yards on a fly. Then we'll get action—plus nine.

May Mean Beer at Soda Fountains, Is Opinion of Palmer

HELENA Mont March 17 — The ruling that physicians may prescribe beer may mean beer at the soda fountain but never again bar over the saloon bar or beer in the hotel dining room said former Attorney General A Mitchell Palmer here today

The law has fixed one channel through which beer may be obtained for medicinal purposes said Mr Palmer in speaking of his ruling on beer recently made public after he left office It says plainly brewers may manufacture wholesale druggists only may sell at wholesale and it can be retailed only by registered pharmacists on physicians prescriptions That cuts out the beer parties and the growler

There was never any legal knot to be untied here Why it took the people interested in it so long to ferret out this advantage I do not understand

The prohibition law said Mr Palmer will never be fully effective until the public here has possessed of a consciousness of wrong doing in violating it I think the majority of politicians will treat this beer matter as one involving professional ethics

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK March 17 —The opening of the cotton market here today showed the influence of continued steadiness in Liverpool and somewhat more encouraging British trade reports Brokers with Wall street clients were good buyers on the opening advance of 12 to 15 points which carried May up to 12 06 and July to 12 10 The increased business reported in southern spot markets yesterday was reflected by more active hedge selling however while Liverpool was also a moderate seller by balance with prices easing off some five or six points from the best after the call Private cables reported investment buying in the Liverpool market and a better inquiry from India was again reported in the Manchester goods trade

After selling up to 12 08 for May 21 4 for July or 20 to 25 points net higher the market reacted ten to 15 points under realizing and southern selling Reports that southern mills were planning increased curtailment probably promoted profit taking on the advance but the market held fairly steady early in the afternoon with May ruling around 11 99 or about 11 points net higher

Weakness failed to increase realizing during the early afternoon with May contracts selling down to 11 89 and July to 12 28 or about five to eight points net lower

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, March 17—A mixture of buying and selling orders created considerable confusion at the opening of today's stock market Oils were strong Pla-mon asphalt and California petroleum soon rose 1¾ points Food equipment textile and motor specialties also were inclined to improve but the list reacted abruptly when Atlantic Gulf displayed fresh settlement That stock opened at a large fractional advance but extensive offerings soon caused a reaction of almost four points to the new low of 50¾ United Fruit and investment and secondary rails also eased but local utilities continued to strengthen

Aside from Atlantic Gulf preferred which reflected acute weakness stocks extended their rally after midday General asphalt was the chief feature rising 5¾ points Crucible and Lackawanna steels and Chandler Studebaker and Three Arrow rose 1 to 2 points

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO March 17 —Wheat traders quite generally assumed a waiting attitude today pending development of fresh export business or of definite advices of crop damage Opening quotations which varied from unchanged figures to 3c lower with March $1 53¾ and May $1 51 to 1 51¾ were followed by upturns that in some cases went well above yesterday's finish

Subsequently buying power gave out and the market underwent a material decline despite gossip current that an embargo against the importation of agricultural products into the United States had been decided on by President Harding The close was nervous 1¾@3¾c net lower with March $1 57@1 57¼

Corn was upheld by scantiness of receipts After opening ¼c off to shade advance including May at 69¾ to 69¾ the market sagged a trifle and then scored light gains

Later when wheat started downgrade the corn market also went lower The close was heavy at ¼@1¼c net decline with May 65¾c to 65¾@¾c and July 70¾c

Oats hardened a little in the absence of any selling pressure starting a shade to ¼@¼c higher May 43¾ to 43¾ and keeping at about the initial range

Provisions had an upward slant influenced by the fact that fresh pork loins were selling at the highest price of the year

FIRST LORD OF ADMIRALTY SAYS HE WAS MISQUOTED

LONDON March 17—Lord Lee of Fareham first lord of the admiralty declared today that his reference to the United States in his discussion of naval matters at a meeting of naval architects here yesterday had not been quoted correctly What he really said he asserted was

"We see that naval committee of the United States senate laying down the principle that America shall maintain a navy at least equal to that of any other power That is a claim to equality which this country never has accepted in the past and never would accept save in connection with the great English speaking nation which sprang from our loins and ever holding a great place in our regard and confidence

The difference between our formula and America's is so slight to be made the subject of controversy still less the subject of friction or hostility

CASING HEAD PLANT NEARING COMPLETION USES NEW PROCESS

Work is nearing completion on the gasoline plant of H. E. Boner and associates, in the Burkburnett field near Bridgetown, and it will probably be in operation before the end of the month.

This plant is the first in this field to use the absorption process of converting casing-head gas into gasoline, those previously established all employing the compression system. The absorption method is much in use in the California field. Mr. Boner, who was with the Union Oil company in California, moved here several months ago to establish the new plant.

CANNUCK LOSES IN EFFORT TO RIDE WHITE LIGHTNING AT EXPOSITION'S CONTEST

Before a crowd that completely filled the big arena from the top tier of seats, down and which utilized every available inch of standing space, Yakima Cannuck, title holder of many bronc riding contests, and the man who took first money at the stock show at Fort Worth during last week, met a clean cut defeat Wednesday night while trying to contest White Lightning, the seemingly unridable and star bucking bronc of the bunch of noted contest horses carried by the T. O. (Jack) Burroughs Wild West, a feature attraction ow exhibiting with the Frisco Exposition Shows at the ball park.

It was conceded by the three judges that Cannuck made a clean get-away, having secured the mount called for under contest rules but with a squeal of rage, and living up to its name, the beast with two lightning-like movements, threw the rider from the saddle. Expressing himself as having been completely taken by surprise, Cannuck had nothing to say, other than that he would try again. Thursday night Charlie Williams, known as the boy rider of the Big Horn and who claims to having won more contest money and trophies than any other man in the country and who won fourth money at Fort Worth last week out of 84 riders chosen for the finals, will undertake to conquer White Lightning. Williams, who has once before attempted to ride the horse and failed, will ride under the same conditions as Cannuck; he says the result will be different as he has solved White Lightning's method. Only one exhibition will be given and it will start at 8:30.

The Spring Festival given by the legion is now in full swing, last night's crowd being the biggest of the week. All of the many attractions carried by Frisco Shows were being well patronized and apparently giving satisfaction.

PLAN SPECIAL MEETING AT FLORAL HEIGHTS BAPTIST

A series of special meetings will begin Easter Sunday, March 27, at the Floral Heights Baptist church, with Dr. H. W. Virgin, pastor of the First Baptist church at Amarillo, in charge. The meetings have been under consideration for some time, and in securing the services of Dr. Virgin, Rev. J. W. Loving, the pastor, feels that he has obtained a man of unusual ability. Dr. Virgin was active in overseas work during the war.

JOHNSON RETURNS FROM LEGISLATURE

Sees Small Chance For Redistricting At Special Session—Crude Tax To Come Up Again.

Small chance for redistricting and entirely too much chance for the three per cent tax on crude are in prospect for the special session of the legislature, according to B. Frank Johnson, representative of the Wichita-Wilbarger district. Mr. Johnson got home late Wednesday from the regular session which ended Saturday, making the trip in his car.

Mr. Johnson confirmed previous reports that Governor Neff had declared he would submit the three per cent measure at the special session, which means that the oil men's fight must be made all over again. The principal matter before the special session will be the appropriation bill, and the governor has indicated that he will submit very few other bills, but that the production tax will be among those submitted.

"He may submit senatorial redistricting also," Mr. Johnson said. "The bill passed the house without much trouble, but failed in the senate because it wasn't handled right in a parliamentary way. West Texans feel that it would be a crime to fail to get the senatorial districts reorganized, and they may get the governor to submit it at the special session."

Belief that a "law enforcement" measure along more conservative lines than the one that brought on such a fight at the regular session will be enacted at the special session if the governor submits it, was expressed by Mr. Johnson.

Much of Mr. Johnson's work at Austin was on measures affecting his district. These bills included the two irrigation measures, the 92nd court bill, the bill for a stenographer for the county court at law, all of which passed, and the crude oil and gasoline tax bills, which he took part in opposing.

WORKING AGREEMENT WILL HAVE FURTHER CONSIDERATION SOON

Further consideration is to be given the new working agreement which has been placed before the various trades unions at the Labor Temple during the past month. It is believed that the agreement has appeared before practically all of the trades and is ready for final endorsement of the central body.

It was stated Thursday that several meetings are scheduled for the next week at which time this agreement will receive more attention.

All the meetings of the unions at this time are important, according to officials and urgent requests are being made to have a full attendance at each regular session.

The St. Patrick's dance of the Cooks' and Waiters' union will be given Thursday evening at the Labor Temple.

RECEIVER DELANO TO BE HERE NEXT WEEK ON PERIODICAL VISIT

Frederick A. Delano, federal receiver for disputed oil lands on Red River, will be back in Wichita Falls, some time next week, it was learned at the receivership offices here Thursday.

No special significance attaches to Mr. Delano's return at this time, it was explained, it being one of his trips to "take his periodical cussing" as one official expressed it.

HEADQUARTERS FOR OIL ASSOCIATION TO MOVE HERE SHORTLY

Wichita Falls has become headquarters for the Texas-Louisiana division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, as soon as suitable offices can be obtained, it was decided Wednesday, following the visit here of Homer Bennett, secretary of the division. Mr. Bennett was here to confer with W. D. Cline, president of the Texas-Louisiana division, and the move was decided upon.

The move will bring the headquarters to a point much more convenient to the officers and leading members of the organization, and has been under consideration for some time.

EVERYBODY STAYING AT HOME, PASSENGER RECEIPTS MAKE NEW LOW RECORD

In the face of a statement that passenger traffic was maintaining its equilibrium despite the advance in rates, comes the experience that Wednesday night the ticket agent at the Union depot had the smallest receipts in many years.

The sudden falling off of receipts however is regarded with optimism by railroad men as the new rates have not been in effect long enough to draw a real comparison. Each year, however, in the spring there is a falling off in traffic as many trust to their automobiles as methods of conveyance through the country.

E. F. Lott, superintendent of the Fort Worth & Denver Railroad of this city went to Fort Worth Thursday on business.

C. A. Frankling of the Denver warehouse, who was injured last week while on duty is reported as showing marked improvement at the hospital in Fort Worth. He underwent a surgical operation Monday.

W. L. Colburn of Kansas City, traveling agent for the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad was in the city Thursday on business for his company. He visited the local general agents.

H. T. Lindsey, commercial agent of the Louisiana Railway and Navigation company, out of Dallas, transacted business for his company in Wichita Falls Thursday.

Much interest is being manifested in a baseball nine in the Denver offices. Subscriptions for the equipment and maintenance are coming in steadily and a sufficient amount will be on hand by Thursday night.

Movements of oil both crude and refined has been heavy on all roads out of Wichita Falls during the past ten days, each day showing an increase. The incoming freight is also reported as showing an increase.

SAYS INDORSEMENT OF CANDIDATES NOT MEANT TO BIND NEGROES' VOTES

Ocie Williams, chairman of the publicity committee of the Negro Business league, called at The Times office Thursday to correct an impression concerning the indorsement given by the league Tuesday night to two candidates for aldermen.

"Our endorsement," said Williams, "was not intended to bind any member of the league to vote for these candidates or that we could not indorse other candidates for the same positions. These two candidates appeared before us and stated their platforms. We indorsed them and our indorsement was not intended to commit any negro to vote for them."

OFFICERS ARREST SIXTEEN ON VAGRANCY CHARGES

SOUTH IS TURNING AGAINST CALOMEL

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Responsible for Change for the Better

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason, Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.—Adv.

OUR STANDARDS
Our system of Neuro-Ophthalmology recognizes Standards, which we get direct from Nature, which are arrived at and recognized as fixed just as the temperature of the body which is accepted to be 98.6; or the law of astronomy or mathematics.
Having accepted a fixed Standard, we make use of deviations from that standard, in arriving at conditions, but always with the object of restoring the conditions back to the normal or standard.
Eyes that are below our standard of vision are brought up to same—if possible—and those above our standard are reduced to same, for the relief of the strain which is always required to produce better than normal vision.
We would no more increase the vision beyond our normal standard than the physician would increase the temperature of the body above the normal, and neither would work to a condition below the normal standard.

CLARA HAMON IS "NOT GUILTY"

LASTRO FATALLY SHOT MILAM NINICH STABBED

One Of Bandits Knocked Sprawling On The Lawn When Diamonds Are Demanded.

By United Press.

DALLAS, TEXAS, March 17.—P. W. Lastro, 51, was shot fatally and Milam Ninich, a confectioner, his brother-in-law, was stabbed and seriously wounded in a desperate battle with two masked highwaymen on the steps of Ninich home on Reiger street early today.

Lastro died on the operating table at the hospital. Five squads of police took up pursuit of the highwaymen and all roads and railroad stations were patrolled today to prevent the bandits from escaping from the city.

Lastro and Ninich were held up as they stepped onto the porch of the Ninich home.

"Give us that diamond," commanded one as he seized Ninich by the throat, referring to a $3,000 diamond ring Ninich wore. The other holdup man demanded the $1,000 stud Lastro wore. Lastro knocked the bandit sprawling onto the lawn.

"Shoot him, damn him, shoot," shouted the man struggling with Ninich. He hit Ninich between the eyes with a gun, dazing the confectioner who had also been slashed with a knife. He went to the aid of the companion who was in hands of Lastro. One of them shot Lastro and then both ran.

At the hospital this morning it was said Ninich may recover. He was a member of the firm of Dimitri & Ninich.

GRAY CHECKERED CAP IS ONLY CLUE TO MURDER

DALLAS, TEXAS, March 17.—A gray checkered cap is the only clue police had today to the identification of two men, who, shortly after midnight, killed Peter Lastro, 50, and wounded Milan Ninich, 45, Dallas business men, in an attempted holdup. Ninich and Lastro were attacked in front of the Ninich home and offered resistance. A two minute scuffle followed during which the bandits shot and killed Lastro. Ninich's wound is not serious. One of the would-be robbers left his cap.

PACKER EMPLOYES VOTE FOR A STRIKE

Result Of Referendum Said To Be Almost Unanimous In Favor Of Proposal.

By United Press.

CHICAGO, March 17.—Packer employes have voted practically unanimously in favor of a strike, union leaders said today.

Official results of the vote probably will be announced today.

Union delegates to the conference to be held in Washington next Monday will urge that the Aishuler arbitration pact, recently cancelled by the packers, be enforced on the ground that it is still legally in effect.

Heads of the organizations of packer workers decided to vest the power to call a strike in Dennis Lane, secretary of the Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers' union, and Attorney Redmond S. Brennan, delegate to the packing house wage conference.

A further conference of union leaders will be held in Washington Monday, it was said.

NINETY-EIGHT OF THE FIRST ONE HUNDRED FOR STRIKE

KANSAS CITY, MO., March 17.—Official count of the first hundred ballots in the packing house strike vote taken yesterday, showed 98 in favor of a walkout and two opposed, union officials announced today. The vote is being completed today with the taking of ballots from the workers at the Swift and Wilson packing plants and the count probably will be completed by midnight, according to union officials.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—An informal agreement to set aside during the summer present rates on shipment of feeder cattle from the southwest to pasturage in the northwest and restore the tariffs existing before the increase was made was reached today between representatives of the railways and livestock organizations in conference with Chairman Clark of the Interstate commerce commission. The new rates will be effective April 1 to July 1, after the commission has received and approved the new schedules.

BINGHAMPTON PAPER RESUMES PUBLICATION

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., March 17.—Binghampton newspapers resumed publication today after a lapse of eight days, due to a strike of union printers. The Press (afternoon) issued an eight page paper with advertising eliminated. The Morning Sun is arranging to resume publication tomorrow morning. Forces of non-union linotype operators and compositors were working for the papers. The strikers asserted today that they would continue their strike with support from the international union.

AIR SERVICE IS TO GAS A BATTLESHIP AS DEMONSTRATION

EXPECTS TO PROVE BIG VESSEL CAN BE FORCED INTO SUBMISSION.

POSSIBILITIES OF GAS ASTOUNDING SAYS OFFICER

Air Battle Will Probably Take Place First Week In June, It Is Announced.

By RALPH H. TURNER
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 17. — The army air service is preparing to gas a battleship.

When the army planes gather over an obsolete battleship next June to demonstrate that surface craft is helpless under a shower of bombs, the air service also intends to show that a battleship can be forced into virtual submission by the use of gas.

This was revealed today by Brigadier General William M. Mitchell, assistant general director of the air service, and Colonel A. E. Fries, head of the chemical warfare section, who is co-operating with Mitchell in the proposed gas attack.

The possibilities of gas bombs "are so astounding as to make one wince," Colonel Fries told the United Press today.

"Any form of gas," Fries said, "varying from the kind that puts men gently asleep to the poisonous mustard variety and the tear gas, can be placed in explosive shells and dropped by airplanes on an enemy fleet below. The was would permeate a battleship, some kinds continuing their effect for several days. The crew of the enemy ship presumably would don gas masks and rubber suits, but this would greatly incapacitate them for work aboard ship and some gases are so powerful as to defy artificial protection."

Liquid gas, Fries explained, could be showered on a battle fleet by a host of airplanes so that it would descend in a steady mist. Progress by the United States in chemical warfare, Fries said, also has reached the point where floating bombs can be dropped in the water, creating a smoke cloud both poisonous and obstructive to a ship's visibility.

The air battle probably will take place the first week in June. Mitchell plans to employ 100 planes, raining bombs as great as a ton in weight upon the battleship which will be sacrificed for the science of war.

FRANCE IS REPORTED READY TO RECOGNIZE GOVERNMENT MEXICO

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Recognition of the Obregon government in Mexico by France was reported as "imminent" in advices from Paris received today in official circles.

MEXICO CITY, March 17.—Delivery of a personal letter from President Millerand of France to President Obregon of Mexico was expected here today. It was announced last night that the arrival of such a letter was impending and newspapers agreed today that the missive might portend recognition of the Mexican government.

Cheer Up; Mercury At 90, and Summer Just 3 Months Off

The man who remembers that year when we had a big snow in April was fussing Thursday because the electric fan wouldn't run.

The guy who recalls the year when he didn't take 'em off until nearly June was wrapping himself around a cold one (less than ½ per cent) at the soda fountain.

The little birdlets are building their nestlets in the treelets. The ice men are wearing looks of ill-concealed satisfaction.

The thermometer at Art's store registered 90 degrees Thursday afternoon, after flirting around 75 and 80 all week.

The straw hat market is dull, but trade in be-vees is reported brisk.

It's three months by the calendar until sure-nuff summer, and already 90 degrees hot.

CHICAGO, March 17.—The state today dropped the cases against all of the White Sox baseball players indicted for the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series except Chick Gandil.

The action was taken after Judge Wm. E. Dever had refused to grant a continuance of more than 60 days in the case. The state demanded six months, on the grounds that it would take that length of time to gather evidence which would give the prosecution a chance of conviction.

Immediately after the action had been taken, Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney announced that an attempt would be made to gather evidence and that new indictments would be sought when obtainable. The players whose cases were dropped were those who had surrendered and given bail, namely Claude Williams, Joe Jackson, Oscar Felsch, Swede Risberg, Eddie Cicotte, Buck Weaver and Fred McMullin.

Stricken From Docket.

The cases of Gandil, Hal Chase, Abe Attell, Rachel Brown, Joseph J. Sullivan and Bill Burns were stricken off the court call by Judge Dever. They were charged with being the men who arranged the alleged conspiracy. Taking the cases off the call prevents calling them up again for six months.

Mr Crowe, in his announcement that the cases were dropped, said that he "was convinced that a crime had been committed, but that corruption of the state's principal witnesses made it impossible to go on with the case."

"Joe Jackson, Eddie Cicotte and Claude Williams, the men who confessed to the grand jury, have been corrupted," he declared.

"With their evidence available, we would have a clean cut case against these men and be sure of obtaining convictions. Without their evidence our case is hopeless.

Case Not Finished.

"This case is not finished, however, and these men have not escaped punishment. We are going right after the evidence that will convict and we know where to get it.

"When this evidence has been procured I shall personally go before the grand jury and seek new indictments. And there will be no mistakes next time."

Michael Ahearn, of counsel for Weaver, Felsch, McMullin and Risberg, issued a statement saying they always had been ready for trial and had assumed that the state's attorney himself would meet the expectations of the public and dispose of the matter fully and promptly.

"Our clients," the statement said, "do not want a half way vindication as a result of the nolle prosse. They want to be fully cleared. If there are new indictments, we will demand an immediate trial."

Mr. Crowe in his statements also said that a "news syndicate in some underhanded way obtained copies of the grand jury testimony," and offered it for sale, thus making it plain the defense was in "full possession of all our evidence and to proceed would be useless." The testimony has never been published.

JUDGE LANDIS DECLINES TO COMMENT ON ACTION

CHICAGO, March 17.—Judge Kenaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, refused to comment today on the action of the state in dropping the baseball gambling cases.

"They've what," he shouted, when told that the cases had been dropped. "I can't say a word," he continued.

Opponents Of Government Do Not Approve Action In Dealing With Panama Situation.

SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, March 17.—Opponents of the government of Costa Rica are sharply criticizing the administration for terminating hostilities between this country and Panama following intervention by the United States.

Exciting scenes are occurring in congress, many members of which are denouncing the government as favoring Panama and endangering the independence of Costa Rica.

The government is making conciliatory replies to the criticisms and endeavoring to calm the storm.

Costa Rican interests in Panama have been placed in the hands of the Spanish minister there. The Panaman government has repatriated many Costa Ricans who were taken prisoner during the recent fighting and has sent them to Puerto Limon. United States warships are reported to be watching the Costa Rican and Panaman coast.

URGENT DEMAND FOR AN IMMEDIATE SETTLEMENT

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—An urgent demand that the government of Panama immediately settle its boundary dispute with Costa Rica, is made by the United States in a note dispatched to Panama Tuesday and made public by the state department today.

The note insists that Panama abide by the boundary decision of Chief Justice White and that the United States "would view with apprehension a continuance of the dispute which has already given rise to hostilities with loss of life."

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The negro population of Fort Worth, Texas, shown by the 1920 census, was 15,896, an increase of 2,619 or 19.7 per cent in the last decade. The white population was 90,466, an increase of 30,506 or 50.9 per cent since 1910.

YOUNG MEN GIVE HOUSTON CITIZEN SEVERE WHIPPING

HOUSTON, TEXAS, March 17.—Silence today surrounded the kidnaping and whipping given by a party of young men last night to A. V. Hopkins, local business man. Hopkins was called from a business meeting, seized on a downtown street, carried to a lonely spot several miles south of the city and heavily lashed. He was warned not to "let it happen again."

While rumors were rife as to what caused the affair Hopkins was not "at home" it was stated at his apartment.

BOLSHEVIKI CAPTURE KRONSTADT FORTRESS SAYS LATE DISPATCH

RIGA, March 17.—The mission here asserted today that the bolsheviki captured Kronstadt from the revolutionists Wednesday night.

COPENHAGEN, March 17.—The bolshevik batteries on the Karelian headland opened a strong fire against Kronstadt yesterday, says the Helsingfors correspondent of the Berlingske Tidende today.

The bombardment from Kronstadt caused four extensive fires along the coast toward Petrograd, the warships at Kronstadt participating in the bombardment, the correspondent adds.

Finnish refugees from Systerbak report the bolshevik are making extensive preparations for a new attack on Kronstadt, four artillery divisions with forty-eight four-inch and six-inch guns being concentrated between Systerbak and Petrograd.

Last night there was a violent artillery duel between the fortress at Kronstadt, Krasynaye Gorka and Oranienbaum.

IMPORTANT TOWNS ARE OCCUPIED BY SEMENOFF

By Associated Press.

PARIS, March 16.—Occupation of the two towns of Klakhta and Troitskosavsk, located on the frontier between Mongolia and Siberia about 170 miles southeast of Irkutsk, by General Byron Michael Ungern-Sternberg, chief lieutenant of General Semenoff, is reported here. These towns are about 125 miles south of Verkhnie Udinsk, through which runs the Trans-Siberian railway. They were formerly of great commercial importance, being trading stations at which Chinese and Russian merchants met.

General Semenoff's forces have been in the process of organizing around Khailar, northwestern Manchuria, but the capture of the city of Urga, about 175 miles southeast of Klakhta, in January, showed that anti-bolshevik elements had moved westward from Manchuria to a point within striking distance of the Siberian frontier.

There have been reports of an anti-bolshevik uprising at Irkutsk and other points west of Lake Baikal, and it seems probable that the occupation of Kikhta and Troitskosavsk may foreshadow an attempton the part of General Semenoff's followers to join forces with elements in Siberia which are opposing the authority of the soviet government in Moscow.

FRENCH TURKISH FORCES ARE ENGAGED IN FIGHTING

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 17.—French Turkish forces in Cilicia have been engaged in renewed fighting there, it is said in advices received in this city. Further uprising against the bolshevik in Kuban, Terek and Daghestan are reported.

SUBMARINE RUNS UPON THE ROCKS HIGH AND DRY

WESTERLY, R. I., March 17.—The submarine N-2, a coastal type boat struck the Watch Hill reef while maneuvering off here today and ran upon the rocks high and dry. Coast guards who went out to her reported that Lieutenant Claude Farmer and his crew of 15 men would remain aboard.

TOSSING OF BOMBS FEATURE OF DUBLIN ST. PATRICK'S DAY

LARGE GATHERINGS BARRED BUT MANY PEOPLE APPEAR ON THE STREETS.

An Effort Is Made To Have The Day Mark The Turning Point Toward Peace.

DUBLIN, March 17. — Tossing of bombs ushered in St Patrick's day today.

Irishmen were awakened by the reverberations of explosions, echoing through the streets. Three military motor lorries were attacked, but were undamaged. The rifle fire of the troops wounded eight civilians.

Large gatherings were barred in Dublin, but many persons appeared in the streets wearing the ancient Gaelic costume, talking Gaelic.

British soldiers were noticed with shamrocks on their jackets.

Unofficially an effort was made to have the day mark the turning point toward peace.

Word reached sinn fein leaders that Great Britain is ready to recognize the Irish parliament as comprising the duly elected representatives of the Irish people. The recognition will be based, it was said, on the fact that the Dail Eireann is composed of men elected to British house of commons, but refusing to serve.

With that fairly definite assurance, Ireland's peace leaders hoped for the aid of the churches today to arouse a peace sentiment.

Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, requested that the special services today include prayers for peace.

At the same time a peace drive was launched in England where the archbishop of Canterbury has appealed for special prayers to mark the day.

St. Patrick's day found a British army of sixty thousand men scattered through the isle.

Opposing this force was a sinn fein army of five times that many men.

Despite the numerical superiority, there was little talk in Irish gatherings of driving the British out. The superior equipment of the military, the fact that it is mobilized at all times and that it could count speedy reinforcement were recognized.

IRELAND OBSERVES HER SADDEST ST. PATRICK'S DAY

DUBLIN, March 17.—Ireland observed her saddest St. Patrick's day today.

It was inaugurated with three attacks on military lorries. Residents within sound of the firing were thrown into panic, fearing the inception of reprisals for the six executions in Mountjoy prison Monday. The generally expected reprisals, it was feared, would precipitate serious fighting.

Eight civilians were wounded during the attacks last night when the soldiers sharply replied to firing from the street. Apparently the victims were bystanders.

The Irish shamrock was flaunted before the military today in Dublin as well as other sections of the country. Special services were to be held in churches everywhere. Despite the semi-religious nature of the observances, there was fear of an outbreak and soldiers, except for a few patrols were kept in barracks in the hope of avoiding trouble.

The day was the culmination of "Irish week." In the seven days just preceding sinn feiners endeavored to speak only Gaelic and to purchase Irish made goods.

Efforts were made to distribute the shamrock through Ireland and laborites were urged to stage demonstrations which might hasten the British government into peace negotiations.

SERIES OF DISORDERS IN DUBLIN WEDNESDAY NIGHT

DUBLIN, March 17.—Several serious shooting affrays occurred in this city last night and a number of persons were injured in encounters between military forces and police and civilians. A number of soldiers riding in a motor lorry were proceeding along Redmonds Hill street, on the north side of the city, last evening, when a bomb was thrown at the machine. The soldiers returned the fire and wounded two persons.

Another lorry was bombed and fired upon from windows of houses along Camden street and three civilians were wounded when a bomb exploded in Aungier street. During a melee near the ship street barracks many shots were fired and three persons were wounded.

For the first time since disorders broke out in Ireland identification discs were given to the troops last night.

ANDREW BONAR LAW QUITS CABINET AND HOUSE LEADERSHIP

By Associated Press.

LONDON, March 17.—Andrew Bonar Law, lord of the privy seal, today resigned from the cabinet. Ill health was given as the reason for his resignation.

Mr. Bonar Law also retired from the government leadership in the house of commons.

TEN COMMUNIST LEADERS IN FRANCE ARE ACQUITTED

PARIS, March 17.—The ten communist leaders who were placed on trial February 28 on the charge of plotting to overthrow the government in connection with the strikes of May 1, 1920, were acquitted today.

CASE IS SUBMITTED TO JURY AT 4:27 P. M. FOLLOWING TWO HOURS SPEECH BY FREELING

ARDMORE, OKLA., MARCH 17.—CLARA SMITH HAMON WAS ACQUITTED TODAY OF THE CHARGE OF SLAYING JAKE L. HAMON.

THE JURY WAS OUT 45 MINUTES. THE COURT HOUSE WAS ROCKED WITH CHEERS WHEN THE VERDICT CAME.

THE VERDICT CAME IN AT 5:07 P. M.

COURTHOUSE, ARDMORE, OKLA., March 17.—Clara Smith Hamon's fate was placed in the hands of the jury at 4:27 p. m. today.

This followed demands before the jury for her conviction of murdering Jake L. Hamon by Prince Freeling, prosecutor.

Freeling spoke nearly two hours following three attorneys for the defense.

Freeling, before the jury was given the case said: "No one on earth desires a heavy penalty for her. She has been wronged."

Judge Champion instructed the jury to eat if they did not reach a verdict before dinner and then return to the jury room.

Murder fans relaxed as the jury filed out of court.

Clara was calm. Her mother's head was bowed in prayer.

Mrs. Hamon was crying.

Not a person moved out of the court room—evidently all were determined to stay until the verdict was brought in.

COURTHOUSE, ARDMORE, OKLA., March 17.—Prince Freeling made a plea for Clara Hamon's conviction late today.

His argument to convict Clara Hamon on charge of slaying Jake L. Hamon was scheduled to last forty minutes. After that the case will go to the jury.

Frank Ketch, business associate of Hamon, who had been denounced all day by defense attorneys as wanting Clara convicted, entered as Freeling started.

"It's a great privilege, gentlemen, for a person charged with a crime to be tried in the United States," said Freeling.

"Much has been said here that is aside from record in the case.

"There is some desire by attorneys to minimize everything I say.

"This is the first jury I've ever seen in eight years.

"Mathers did the governor of the state an injustice when he criticized him for sending me here.

"The condition that arose here caused the governor to send me here. When the governor is unjustly assailed I must uphold his hands.

One Trouble With Country.

"That's the trouble with this country—that any man when he desires can assail a public official.

"Innocence don't need a very strong voice to support it.

"In this case 'innocence' demands a shouting voice to support it.

"I have obeyed instructions I can not disregard. If the Hamon interests were prosecuting this case wouldn't they have a lawyer here.

"They have insinuated that Hamon's gold has lined the pockets of the jury. You know whether or not it has.

"If I could this minute get the consent of my conscience I would say acquit her—let the erring sister go in peace.

"It's no pleasure to prosecute a woman.

Started Ten Years Ago.

"Jake Hamon and Clara Smith started to live together 10 years ago. If you are honest men you will not believe she seduced him.

"She had the chance to show that Hamon seduced her. She did not.

"If I can do justice to the living why can't they do justice to the dead. You can't show any record that Jake Hamon seduced Clara Smith.

"I want you to take Jake Hamon as he was—he was guilty of adultery, but not seduction.

"Both were responsible for the life they led; Jake Hamon was more responsible, but don't say he was wholly responsible.

"She was not a curly headed, short dressed girl, the first time there was ever a wrong between them; she was about 20.

"She knew Jake Hamon was a married man and every girl knows it is doubly wrong to enter the home where the wife presides as a queen.

"They say he snatched her from the cradle and began a systematic process of seduction.

Was Fascinated.

"I dare say Jake Hamon was fascinated with her.

"There is no evidence in the case that he ever made any threats against the defendant.

"We know there was the conventional feeling of the jealousy of one woman for another woman.

"She has made threats against Hamon. She dared him to speak to his wife. She's been seen many times with a pistol.

"If every woman can go about armed to the teeth then the men better beware.

"Mr. Harding had been elected president. Hamon realized he was to be a power, a confident of a president.

"Jake Hamon had not been what he should have been. Hamon was wealthy but all his wealth could not buy character.

"It may be that Hamon was drunk when he went to the hotel November 21.

Says Helplessly Drunk.

"As a matter of fact he was helplessly drunk.

"Could an intoxicated man beat her and throw her from the bed?

"I'll risk this case on this statement.

"You can load that gun and hit it with a chair or throw it on the floor and it will never be discharged—that's the thing the Colt people pride themselves on when they put this gun on the market.

"The principal facts are against the defendant.

"You can't put two people in the position the defense makes and cause that kind of a wound.

"As God is God and truth is truth you can't acquit this woman on your oath.

"At least give him credit that Hamon's last thought was of the family he deserted. It was her kiss that wafted him away to eternity."

DEFENDANT BREAKS DOWN ON LAST DAY OF THE TRIAL

COURT HOUSE, ARDMORE, OKLA., March 17.—Clara Smith Hamon wept and twitched nervously as court opened today.

The girl, charged with slaying Jake L. Hamon, broke down on the day she expected to learn her fate.

Calm and confident throughout the ordeal of the trial, Clara broke on what will perhaps be the last day.

She slipped into court with her mother, Mrs. J. L. Smith, and Jimmie, her pal and brother.

Large tears rolled down her cheeks as she took her seat. Clara was ill last night and slept but little, her friends said.

The defense was overruled by Judge Tom Champion in its efforts to send the case to the jury without making an argument to the jury.

The defense, although willing to rest its own case without argument, must proceed.

J. B. Champion, twin brother of the judge and defense counsel, opened the argument.

In opening he charged the prosecution with lengthening the case by postponement, and attacked H. H. Brown, prosecutor, for his speech of yesterday.

"He did not discuss the case," said Champion. "He discussed everything else. He did not have faith in his prosecution.

"The attorney general slipped out of court while his assistant made the speech. He took an official nap.

"What is Attorney General Freeling, who left his job to come down here to prosecute an innocent country girl for killing a rich man, going to talk about?

"The attorney general is down here holding up the hands of a millionaire.

Says It's Ridiculous.

"This girl is charged with seducing a forty year old millionaire; it's ridiculous.

"Gentlemen of the jury, we are here on our own playground and will be here when Freeling packs his grip and leaves."

Champion charged Freeling with trying to ridicule the "humble defense attorneys."

"The governor of Oklahoma is responsible for this case—he sent Freeling here to prosecute this country girl, whose virtue was stolen by Hamon," yelled Champion.

Mrs. Hamon was in court and heard her husband arraigned as a rogue and a stealer of virtue. She did not wince; she was unemotional.

Champion called jurymen by their first names during the address.

"When Jake Hamon sent this girl to college she was a brown-eyed country girl in her teens. He wooed, cooed and won," said Champion. "He wouldn't have taken a crooked girl into his life and sent her to college to become an office associate.

"She was a chaste, pure sweet girl. He knew her in the town where she lived. He took her because of her clean life.

"He took her that she might ultimately yield her body to his brutal passion.

"Hamon almost snatched this girl from the cradle to debauch her."

Clara wept intermittently during Champion's tirade against Hamon.

Springs a Sensation.

A sensation was sprung when Champion charged that "Frank Ketch has his clutches safely fastened onto the millions of the dead man."

"How many of you yield to the worship of power?"

L. V. Mullen, brother of J. S. Mullen, one of the friends of Hamon, whom Champion branded as countenancing adultery, lurched toward Champion.

Sheriff Buck Garrett grabbed Mullen and forced him in his chair.

"Sir" Walter Scott, defense counsel, then sat between Champion and Mullen.

"The nation isn't interested in this case because of Clara's popularity—she isn't known out of town—but because of Jake L. Hamon.

"The throbbing heart of this nation is anxious to know why the powerful Hamon snatched a girl from high school.

"Jake Hamon confessed to the world this girl was pure and chaste.

"Hamon was the only man in her life.

"It was not a bullet that stole Hamon from his wife—he stole himself ten years ago.

"It was not Clara Smith that brought the tears and mourning here; it was Jake L. Hamon.

"Hamon knew he was to blame. That's the reason he said he shot himself. He said to the sheriff:

"'Don't prosecute Clara Smith. I am to blame.'

Refers to Frank Ketch.

"Frank Ketch, who told Clara he

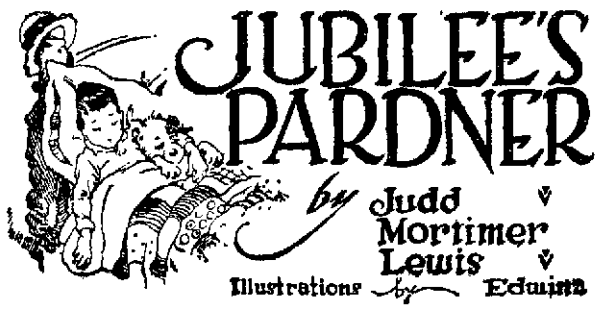
DAME FASHION REVIVES THE ART OF HAND EMBROIDERY

The art of hand embroidery is again coming into its own as significant with the showing of the new spring and summer dresses These two lesser models which were hand made by French peasant girls are striking examples of the latest creations The one on the left still retains the straight lines which were so prominent last year but with its kimono effect sleeves and deep collar reflects a distinctive individuality The other is a fanciful [illegible] white voile with hand [illegible] portion [illegible] delicate [illegible] hand embroidery which [illegible] striking [illegible]



When I was [illegible] with the pail and Jubilee to milk the cow and her dotter this morning I thought I heard a burglar shooting Mr Farrel and I dropped the pail and climb the fence and it was Mr Farrel and his auto which he had got tired up again from the last time something happened to it He was winding it up at the front end and then when he had give it a few twists it would start to shiver all over and would shoot a few times and he would let go of the crank and jump to get to the steering wheel before it would stop But he could not jump quick enough and I was a-to seen me looking at him he gave me a look that would of made my grandfather have another game leg if he had got

I thought it would be good for a fellas mussel to turn the crank and I asked him if he would let me and he said to come ahead So I climb down on his side and he got in and took hold of the wheel and I give her a couple of turns and he got her going off a sudden and went around the yard and out of the gate like a sky rocket

But he ought to have waited a little bit because there was another auto coming up from Raven street as fast as it could come and Mr Farrel was going as fast as he could go and he lost both of his lamps and his bumper and the other fella lost his mud guard and his tail light I was glad that I had went to the corner of the house to see him go away but I climb back over the fence and went out to do my milking before him and the man got done talking to each other because if I had stayed here he would of come back in the yard and blame me for it I got blamed for everything

Because if I stayed there he would of come back in the yard and blamed me for it I get blamed for everything

Girls! Buttermilk Creates Beauty Overnight

The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you It creates beauty almost like magic but the most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dullest and most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough arms snowy white yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated film sphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin

It is absolutely harmless and will neither produce nor stimulate the growth of hair Within twenty four hours this wonderful cream will work a marvelous transformation

Get a small quantity today at any good drug or toilet goods counter The directions are simple and it costs so little that any girl or woman can afford it In addition the manufacturers authorize every druggist to return the purchase money unless the first application shows noticable improvement so be sure to try it at our expense—Adv.

By Way of the Transom

By L. M. D.

Do you get tired?

Not of work, but everything else The same virtues the same charities the same expectations the same responses, the same necessities Of the infinite repetition that makes up life

Yesterday I ran across a little pamphlet issued by one of the relief organizations which I chose a year ago for contribution, along with hundreds of thousands of regular contributors all over America The pamphlet looked interesting but when I saw the name of the organization I had a sudden seizure of disinterest either a feeling as if the regular maintenance of a year should have made further relief unnecessary, or simply unchristian boredom at the same subject, maybe both Anyway, before I had finished the thought, Rabbi Wise forestalled it

It's a human little plea 'Don't get tired'" And it struck a sudden chord in my memory One evening last Christmas during the shopping week before Christmas eve I happened to be just behind an eager little four- or five-year-old girl clinging to her mother's hand and window shopping down Indiana I don't know what had gone before but she caught her mother's hand tight in both her own suddenly and said Oh don't get tired mother Don't get tired

Mother was evidently subject as most mothers are, with all the reason in the world, to getting tired on such outings when little feet know no path ends and eyes could stay wide open and bright all night

Some of the greatest poems in the world have been built on the Don't Get Tired theme Kiplings If is one and the fact that almost every printed publication has made it the common property of the world has not dulled its beauty or truth It is so human to want a change to get tired of the same effort to grow bored with the same small hurryings to and fro And more than all it is so almost inevitable that we grow tired of the same good works They rouse our interest and sympathy at first, and we give and do willingly Then we get tired

And yet it must surely be true that the initial interest and sympathy count for very little It is comparatively easy to touch people, and many are touched but the few who stay with things when the novelty has worn off are those who stay on character It's a little like auction bridge The first six tricks don't count Those that the ordinary hand is worth must be taken and got out of the way before points can begin to stack up In other words, it isn't the coming into a thing that matters It's the staying after the fireworks have played out and the band has left The banquet hall deserted" has not a thing on the ordinary charitable project for desolation after the first enthusiasm has died down nor a thing on a great many other things in life after the rose shaded candles have spattered out It's the hardest thing in the world to keep doing anything and not get tired

But there's nothing, as Rabbi Wise knew, like forestalling the feeling. Even our own consciousness can appreciate the brave humor of being beaten to a thing What we know we can erect fortifications against, and even the devil wouldn't look so devilish if we knew exactly how he was got up

BOND MARKET SHOWS INCREASED STRENGTH

Of the Large Number Of Offers To Buy County Road Bonds Highest Has Been at 92.

It is apparent from the numerous offers made to purchase the $1,500,000 worth of county road bonds submitted in the past week that the bond market is showing increased strength.

Judge J. P. Jones has received a large number of offers each day for the past four or five days. The highest bid made was at 92 net. The lowest one submitted was 89. One bond salesman stated that presumably the middle of April would bring the bond market back to a sound footing again and that the road bonds would bring much more than any present offer.

County officials state that they will not under any circumstances sell the bonds at such a great discount. The best offer made thus far would mean a cash discount of $120,000.

Wednesday afternoon, Judge Jones stated the mails brought him five different offers on the bonds.

"HOUSE OF PERSONALITY"
702 Indiana Ave.

An Invitation—

Mr. MacDowell is keeping a high-salaried expert buyer of long experience permanently located in New York for the exclusive purpose of buying and having made up by manufacturers the very latest modes and materials in dresses, suits and wraps.

MacDowell's store does not wait on jobbers and wholesalers, and does not depend on large orders to be turned out by manufacturers. The MacDowell store seldom receives a freight shipment. Through the MacDowell New York office, the best of modish materials are obtained from local and imported stocks. These materials are then made into original creations, or exact copies of the most exclusive garments of the high-priced Fifth Avenue shops. The manufacturing is done under the direct supervision of the MacDowell management and as rapidly as these originals and exact copies of latest New York modes are completed, they are sent by fast express or parcel post to Wichita Falls.

The result of this economical plan is the fact that MacDowell is positively offering the very latest New York modes every day—from thirty days to sixty days in advance of other stores, and the MacDowell prices on these distinctive and exclusive garments are exceptionally low—usually one-third to one-half less than the "job lots" and large quantity "freight shipments" of other houses.

To demonstrate what MacDowell's can save you and how MacDowell's can serve you, a special showing and sale of these exclusive garments will be held Friday, Saturday and Monday, March 18th, 19th and 21st.

Look over the suggestions in this invitation to you and come in early during this Spring Demonstration Sale. RHEA HOWARD MAKES STATEMENT ON RACE

Asks For Support Of White Voters And Makes Plain His Attitude In Contest

Rhea Howard candidate for alderman at large in the city council has this day issued a statement to the white voters of Wichita Falls setting forth his views in connection with some of the developments of the campaign. His statement follows:

To the White Citizens of Wichita Falls: At the solicitation of a few friends I have decided to become a candidate for alderman at large Place No. 3. Before this I was offered many times by other worthy citizens but declined but on the last day for filing petitions had added to it a candidate [illegible] been given for his decision [illegible] one most credited is that I did not want to get mixed up in political campaign which is a big disagreeable Neither was I any [illegible] make the race but realized that it was the duty of some one and I therefore have consented and if elected I will serve the people to the best of my ability. I would state further that I will take no orders from any [illegible] but will consult the interests of all the people and will [illegible] to be a [illegible] citizen [illegible] gets [illegible] and support [illegible]

My [illegible] the white [illegible] The [illegible] that the League of Negro Women Business League [illegible] negro voting [illegible] or 500 negro men and women in this city have pledged to vote against my opponent Mr. [illegible] Should therefore even a few hundred be lost by me the negro votes would be in vain. I am not inclined that way and will say frankly that I prefer going down in defeat rather than to humiliate myself to the extent of entertaining [illegible] women for their votes [illegible] off. Should I have resorted to that means and had secured their votes the negroes would naturally have that I was indebted to them for favors and would want to be [illegible] in politics and way [illegible]

For myself I have only to say that I have never mistreated a negro and do not believe that as a race they should be mistreated. I am called on to realize the dark or white people mingling too much on an equality with negroes and the way in which this is often done is one of reasons like the present. So long as the negroes are clannish and band together acting as a unit for their own propositions it certainly can have no complaint if a sufficient number of white people resort to the same method and vote as a unit to defeat whatever scheme they may have in mind.

If this happens to strike the eye of some white citizen who does not share my views on this matter then this just consider I am not appealing to you for your vote or support. It is only for those who believe as I do that when negroes band together there is danger lurking somewhere and sooner or later will result in humiliation to white people and more trouble for the negro.

This plain announcement may cause my defeat but if so I will have no complaint to make. I only want to set myself right before the white people and have it for their judgment if my position on this matter is hurting negro support by the wholesale or as a unit is not the correct one.

NOT EVEN RIGGS HIMSELF KNOWS MYSTERY MAN'S NAME

That even Riggs himself does not know the name of the mysterious man who has the power to be in several places at the first [illegible] visitor who inquires "Have you seen Riggs?" was learned by scores of disappointed close friends of the popular clothier early this morning when they slipped down for a quiet tip just between friends don't you know.

Riggs says he anticipated something [illegible] and long a [illegible] hearted fellow was a little afraid he would be [illegible] some of the [illegible] reason he requested a traveling man passing through the city to tell a certain little lass word to any inquiring citizen on or March 24 that [illegible] is the [illegible] Riggs store [illegible] if he was [illegible] the mysterious shifting world and then announce the [illegible] and address of the party first asking him "Have you seen Riggs."

SEVERAL ACTS VIE FOR FIRST HONORS IN WEEK'S VAUDEVILLE AT PALACE

Headed by Harry Richman's Varieties of 1921 and closely backed by three other first class acts, this week's vaudeville bill at the Palace got off to a running start toward success Wednesday evening. In the opinion of those who were in hand for its debut the bill is the best that the Palace has offered since its opening for none of the acts are weak and a large majority would serve as headliners on an average bill.

Richman's Variety outfit gets the cement bicycle for veracity, because their act is what they claim for it—different. The songs, dances and comedy while patterned along the standard lines has a snap and swing which is lacking in many of the two a day productions and the chorus—oh my. Richman himself is a very capable comedian and takes the belt when it comes to long distance piano playing. His supporting cast composed of Norma Hark, Jack Waldron and the Ward sisters is also above the average.

Pushing the headliners for premier honors of the evening at every turn was the Kellam and O'Dare team. Frank and Patricia respectively who turned out to be a pair of stars from the word go. Their songs and dances are not of the bottled in bond type which are boxed up and carried over the circuit with the rest of the baggage but they had the personal vivacity and originality which is an attribute only of real artists.

Lillian's Comedy Pets are warranted to entertain the youngsters, or grown ups either for that matter, for they are all dinky little canines that look all out as big as a minute on the stage. However their antics are pleasing and contain a large per cent of comedy.

In My Home Town Mary Marble came back with all the pep and ginger which has made her a favorite on the stage for many moons. Her present skit was written especially for her and fits her like a glove. The supporting cast is very capable and acting their parts is entirely pleasing.

Billie Shone, the only solo performer on the bill, has a whole of a line of songs and stories some new, some otherwise, which he knows how to put over in the latest approved fashion. Billie is all right and his debonair bearing on the stage made a big hit with the ladies.

Ed Zolo and his partner who opens the evening's festivities have a new line of tumbling, knock about stunts in which public approval is courted at the risk of their own necks. Plenty of comedy is contained in this presentation also.

The remaining offering of the evening was given by Lucier and Al Tucker, a pair of comic violinists who romped over the stage to the latest popular airs, played on themselves on their own little fiddles. Tucker and Reed were one of the strong points on the entire bill and came in for a large share of applause.

TRUCK OPERATORS TO BE HARD HIT BY NEW TAX MEASURE

IF GOVERNOR SIGNS, MUST PAY ONE CENT A MILE AND UP ON ALL RURAL TRIPS.

JOHNSON TELLS ROTARIANS OF LEGISLATURE'S LABORS

Club Starts Move To Foster Public Speaking Contests By Offering Rotary Prize.

Somebody slipped one over on the motor truck owners of Texas at the recent session of the legislature, according to B. Frank Johnson, who spoke at Thursday's session of the Rotary club. A bill was passed and now awaits the governor's signature, levying a tax of one to eight cents a mile, according to capacity, on all trucks operating outside of the city limits.

The tax would add an enormous expense to operating expenses of oil companies in this county, which daily send truck loads of pipe and equipment to their leases. Mr. Johnson said that he oppdsed the bill vigorously, but was almost alone in doing so

Mr Johnson's discussion of various legislative activities was one of several talks on the Rotary program Thursday. W. M Priddy, in a short talk, started a movement to encourage public speaking in the schools of the city and county, by the offering of a Rotary prize. He thought that every aid should be given the public speaking activities in the schools, and after adjournment secured promises of assistance from a number of Rotarians

E. S Goodner spoke on "What Rotary Means to Me as a New Member." Declaring himself absolutely "sold" on Rotary, Mr. Goodner said that by reason of the fellowship, the creed and ethics and the type of men that Rotary gave to him, he had found that membership in the organization was something of real value.

Miss Shafer, accompanied by Miss Lorimer as pianist, gave two enjoyable vocal selections.

The report of the passage of the truck tax bill was given by Mr. Johnson in connection with an account of legislative proceedings. He said that the injustice that was being done the motor truck industry did not seem at all apparent to the house membership, which saw only a means of producing additional revenue Mr. Johnson called attention to the fact that the governor has not yet signed the bill.

Mr. Johnson spoke of the irrigation bill as one of the most constructive pieces of legislation enacted Changes which had been made in the state contracts law and in the minimum wage law, he said, made those laws more beneficial; on the minimum wage law no attempt will be made to lay down one rule for the entire state, but by means of a "zone system" the law will apply differently as living conditions and expenses are different Mr Johnson defended the legislature for its big educational appropriations, saying there could not be real economy in such matters.

LOYD CLARK ARRESTED AT RANGER FOR CAR THEFT

Loyd Clark, wanted here on a charge of theft of over $50, was arrested at Ranger, Texas, Wednesday and is being held there pending his transfer to the county jail here It is alleged that he stole an automobile from a Mr Allen in this city. BRIDGEPORT WELL REPORTED TO HAVE 1,700 FEET OF OIL

NOCONA, TEXAS, March 17—The test well, located about six miles west of Bridgeport in Wise county, and 35 to 40 miles south of the Big Six well, out southwest of Nocona, is reported to have 1,700 feet of oil in the hole from sand found at 4,306 feet This well has been drilled for about two years. This is an important strike, and not only brings into view considerable new and deep territory, but shows the possibilities that lie between the Bridgeport well and the Healdton and Hewitt fields with Montague county lying between. This strike will again bring this county to the attention to those who are inclined to wildcat in the hopes of making a good strike, rather than pay the high prices usually demanded for close-in leases about a new well some distance removed from production. It will also show that, up to the present time, this county has not had a well drilled sufficiently deep to make a good test. A 30-foot sand was found in the Pure Oil company test in the Healdton field, which, it is believed, will make a paying well ,though some trouble is being experienced with collapsed casing. The oil is 45 gravity. Another well has a sand with oil showing at 2,785 near the Hewitt field. The Healdton-Hewitt and Bridgeport strikes would make the 3,100 foot level in the Pure Oil company and Gulf Phillips wells interesting, and possibly 3,400 feet at the Big Six, though these figures may need some corrections when the wells have been drilled deep enough to test out the horizons at which pay sands may come in The Pure Oil and Gulf Phillips wells will drill for deep tests. An effort is being made to work out a deal for drilling the Big Six well to 3,500 feet. It begins to look like something would be found by deeper drilling in this well. A showing of oil and gas was found at 1,450 and gas at 2,180 feet, which would indicate the well is located in a saturized zone. The Bridgeport well brings the Big Six structure to view with renewed interest.

The Pure Oil company test on the Holts farm, about eight miles northeast of Nocona, started with 20-inch casing, and is having some difficulty with gumbo formation below 400 feet.

The Gulf Phillips test on the Bouldin ranch, near Spanish Fort, is making progress,around 900 feet, and is drilling with rotary.

Each of these companies hauled out enough material to start an enterprise worthy of success in hunting for oil in a wildcat place, and it is believed they both stand a very good chance of being successful.

TELLING THE WHOLE TRUTH.

A little clothing store in Evanston, Illinois, has recently made itself famous through one advertisement; it has attained not only fame, but cash register results. The ad that made it famous attracted widespread attention by its frankness and sincerity, and the result, selling 100 suits in a day as against a previous high record of 10 suits, speaks for itself as an object lesson. Here is the ad:

"One hundred suits, Hart Schaffner & Marx make, practically given away, at $20

"We'll be frank about this.

"These suits have been in stock for two or three seasons.

"They are not in the very latest styles.

"Some are in colors and patterns that have not proven most popular.

"Some seem to be just as attractive as any we have, but for some reason we can't explain, haven't sold well.

"But—every one is all wool, every one is well tailored, every one is in perfect condition."

There were 250 men who answered the ad and they cleaned out the stock of $20 suits pretty quick Then some of them bought newer, high priced suits after the $20 ones were gone.

According to "Printers' Ink," the ad proved so convincing, when used as a lesson by a university class in advertising, that a number of students were among those who bought suits.

You can write your own moral.

MERGER OF CATTLE ASSOCIATIONS.

The Texas Cattle Raisers Association has voted to merge with the Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's Association, the merged association to be known as the Texas and Southwestern Stockmen's Association. The two associations which have now merged into one have been strong and useful associations to the cattle raising industry. The Texas association covered Texas and Oklahoma. The Panhandle and Southwestern Stockmen's association covered the Panhandle, New Mexico and Arizona. There was little overlapping of territory but there is the same community of interest among the cattlemen of all the territory and the merger was the result of a belief that an organization even stronger than either would result from the merger while overhead cost and effort could be reduced.

INCREASE IN REVENUES UNLIKELY.

Allison Mayfield, member of the Texas railway commission, has expressed doubt as to whether the increase in railway and pullman fares put into effect this week on the Texas railroads will result in any increase in revenues. Passenger revenues are pretty certain not be increased for Jones is on a strike against high prices and his strike has been successful in many things. The increase, effective upon the order of the interstate commerce commission, is twenty percent in passenger rates and 50 per cent in pullman fares A great deal of passenger travel is not strictly necessity or a matter of business. The increased rates therefore are likely to bring a decrease in railway travel.

FARM LOAN BONDS.

The government has announced that it will place on the market $75,000,000 farm loan bonds, the proceeds from which will be loaned by the farm loan banks at a low rate of interest. Just as the federal farm loan bank began to function in good shape court action stopped its operation. A final decision by the courts a few weeks ago reopens the farm loan banks. The issuance of $75,000,000 bonds will provide funds which these banks can loan to the great advantage of farmers.

The session of the legislature adjourned last week was known as the "bill killing legislature" from the number of bills that were rejected or failed of enactment. In spite of this appellation we read that 189 bills were upon the governor's desk awaiting his signature or veto when the legislature adjourned.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

WHY?—

Do Stars Have Five Points?

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

When we speak of an object as "star-shaped," we immediately visualize something with five rays or arms projecting from a common center, seldom stopping to think that this bears little apparent resemblance to the stars which are seen at night, and which we know to be immense spheres or globes of matter. If we look at a bright star, however, we will see that five pointed rays of light appear to emanate from the center, and it is not until we see a photograph of the star in question that we realize that these points are merely ocular impressions which do not register upon the plate or negative of the camera.

If we study the arrangement of the sensitive portion of the eye—the part of the eye with which we "see with"—we will find that a sharp bright image such as that of a star will fall upon one of these sensitive points only, but it will be reflected to a lesser degree upon the other points around it. The "cones," as the sensitive points of the retina are called, are arranged in such a manner that each of those in the center is surrounded by five others, and it is the reflection upon these neighboring cones which produces the impression of rays of light, when, in reality, the star sends forth only a single direct beam. Mankind, therefore, is accustomed to think of a star as being "star-shaped"—having five points—and it was not until the introduction of photographic apparatus that this theory was definitely disproven.

Tomorrow—Why is the name "America" applied to the Western Continent?

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

The Best-Loved Man.

It isn't all in getting rich, it isn't all in winning fame,
A bigger thing than victory is how you've tried to play the game;
Success is keeping faith with men and standing true to what is best,
And finding joy in humble things and being fit for every test.

The good men need not come to wealth nor need he rise to world renown,
Not often is the richest man the best-loved citizen in town;
You'll find he walks in humble ways and modest is the garb he wears,
And on his back from day to day life piles a multitude of cares.

His glory is a generous heart, a voice that carries hope and cheer
A willingness to do his work, a wish to be of service here;
He asks no favored place from life, nor shirks the hardships in his way,
But meets all men with head erect and plays the friend from day to day.

The best loved man in any town is honest, manly, brave and true,
Sharing his life with all who live, doing what work he finds to do;
He may not climb the heights of fame nor come to treasure's golden fee,
But he is still accounted great in all God asks a man to be.

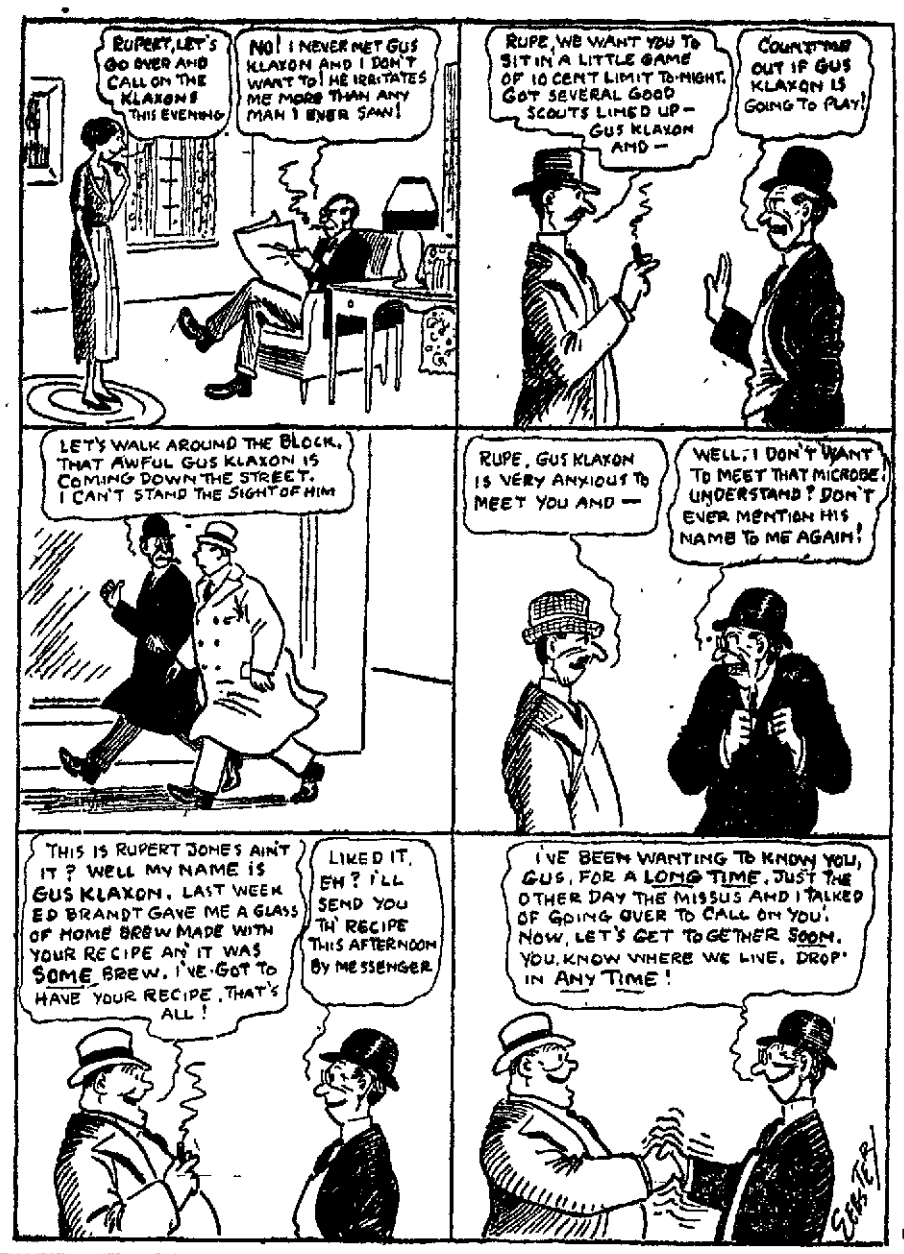
THE BEGINNING OF A BEAUTIFUL FRIENDSHIP



DECLARE OBREGON GOVERNMENT FAILS TO GIVE PROTECTION

GALVESTON, TEXAS, March 17—Declaring that the Obregon government had failed to protect life and property of Americans, members of the Association of Producers of Petroleum in Mexico last night went on record against American recognition of the southern republic until "absolute assurance for protection of American interests are forthcoming." Forty oil men representing nine companies with holdings in Mexico, attended yesterday's conference.

"It is not an oil question," Guy Stevens, a director of the association and spokesman of the conference asserted; "it is a Mexican question. The issue clearly defined," he added, "and the question is whether Americans are going to lie down or stand erect. We want nothing from the Mexican government but what is reasonable; nothing that might not be expected from any other government."

Oil men, attending the meeting, among whom is Edward L. Dowheny, president of the Mexican Petroleum corporation, maintained silence in regard to the business of the conference, saying that Mr. Stevens alone was authorized to speak for the members of the association.

PART ONE.

During my long and intimate acquaintance with Mr. Sherlock Holmes I had never heard him refer to his relations, and hardly ever to his own early life. This reticence upon his part had increased the somewhat inhuman effect which he produced upon me, until sometimes I found myself regarding him as an isolated phenomenon, a brain without a heart, as deficient in human sympathy as he was pre-eminent in intelligence. His aversion to women and his disinclination to form new friendships were both typical of his unemotional character, but not more so than his complete suppression of every reference to his own people. I had come to believe that he was an orphan with no relative living; but one day, to my very great surprise, he began to talk to me about his brother.

It was after tea on a summer evening, and the conversation which had roamed in a desultory, spasmodic fashion from golf clubs to the causes of the change in the obliquity of the ecliptic, came round at last to the question of atavism and hereditary aptitudes. The point under discussion was, how far any singular gift in an individual was due to his ancestry and how far to his own early training.

"In your own case," said I, "from all that you have told me, it seems obvious that your faculty of observation and your peculiar facility for deduction are due to your own systematic training."

"To some extent," he answered, thoughtfully. "My ancestors were country squires, who appear to have led much the same life as is natural to their class. But, none the less, my turn that way is in my veins, and may have come with my grandmother, who was the sister of Vernet, the French artist. Art in the blood is liable to take strangest forms."

"But how do you know that it is hereditary?"

"Because my brother Mycroft possesses it in a larger degree than I do."

This was news to me indeed. If there were another man with such singular powers in England, how was it that neither police nor public had heard of him? I put the question, with a hint that it was my companion's modesty which made him acknowledge his brother as his superior. Holmes laughed at my suggestion.

"My dear Watson," said he, "I can not agree with those who rank modesty among the virtues. To the logician all things should be seen exactly as they are, and to underestimate one's self is as much a departure from truth as to exaggerate one's own powers. When I say, therefore, that Mycroft has better powers of observation than I, you may take it that I am speaking the exact and literal truth."

"Is he your junior?"

"Seven years my senior."

"How comes it that he is unknown?"

"Oh, he is very well known in his own circle."

"Where, then?"

"Well, in the Diogenes club, for example."

"I had never heard of the institution, and my face must have proclaimed as much, for Sherlock Holmes pulled out his watch."

"The Diogenes club is the queerest club in London, and Mycroft one of the queerest men. He's always there from quarter to five to twenty to eight. It's six now, so if you care for a stroll this beautiful evening I shall be very happy to introduce you to two curiosities."

Five minutes later we were in the street, walking toward Regent's circus.

"You wonder," said my companion, "why it is that Mycroft does not use his powers for detective work. He is incapable of it."

"But I thought you said—"

"I said that he was my superior in observation and deduction. If the art of the detective began and ended in reasoning from an arm-chair, my brother would be the greatest criminal agent that ever lived. But he has no ambition and no energy. He will not even go out of his way to verify his own solutions, and would rather be considered wrong than take the trouble to prove himself right. Again and again I have taken a problem to him, and have received an explanation which has afterwards proved to be the correct one. And yet he was absolutely incapable of working out the practical points which must be gone into before a case could be laid before a judge or jury."

"It is not his profession then?"

"By no means. What is to me a means of livelihood is to him the merest hobby of a dilettante. He has an extraordinary faculty for figures, and audits the books in some of the government departments. Mycroft lodges in Pall Mall, and he walks round the corner into Whitehall every morning and back every evening. From year's end to year's end he takes no other exercise, and is seen nowhere else, except only in the Diogenes club, which is just opposite his rooms."

"I cannot recall the name."

"Very likely not. There are many men in London you know, who, some from shyness, some from misanthropy, have no wish for the company of their fellows. Yet they are not averse to comfortable chairs and the latest periodicals. It is for the convenience of these that the Diogenes club was started, and it now contains the most unsociable and unclubable men in town. No member is permitted to take the least notice of any other one. Save in the stranger's room, no talking is, under any circumstances, allowed, and three offenses, if brought to the notice of the committee, render the talker liable to expulsion. My brother was one of the founders, and I have myself found it a very soothing atmosphere."

We had reached Pall Mall as we talked, and were walking down it from the St. James' end. Sherlock Holmes stopped at a door some little distance from the Carlton, and, cautioning me not to speak, he led the way into the hall. Through the glass panelling I caught a glimpse of a large and luxurious room, in which a considerable number of men were sitting about and reading papers, each in his own little nook. Holmes showed me into a small chamber which looked out into Pall Mall, and then, leaving me for a minute, he came back with a companion who I knew could only be his brother.

Mycroft Holmes was a much larger and stouter man than Sherlock. His body was absolutely corpulent, but his face, though massive, had preserved something of the sharpness of expression which was so remarkable in that of his brother. His eyes, which were of a peculiarly light, watery gray, seemed to always retain that far-away, introspective look which I had only observed in Sherlock's when he was exerting his full powers.

"I am glad to meet you, sir," said he, putting out a broad, fat hand like the flipper of a seal. "I hear of Sherlock everywhere since you became his chronicler. By the way, Sherlock, I expected to see you round last week, to consult me over that Manor House case. I thought you might be a little out of your depth."

"No, I solved it," said my friend, smiling.

"It was Adams, of course."

"Yes, it was Adams."

"I was sure of it from the first." The two set down together in the bow-window of the club. "To any one who wishes to study mankind this is the spot," said Mycroft. "Look at the magnificent types! Look at these two men who are coming toward us, for example."

"The billiard-marker and the other?"

"Precisely. What do you make of the other?"

The two men had stopped opposite the window. Some chalk marks over the waistcoat pocket were the only signs of billiards which I could see in one of them. The other was a very small dark fellow, with his hat slouched back and several packages under his arm.

"An old soldier, I perceive," said Sherlock.

"And very recently discharged," remarked the brother.

"Served in India, I see."

"And a non-commissioned officer."

"Royal Artillery, I fancy," said Sherlock.

"And a widower."

"But with a child."

"Children, my dear boy, children."

"Come, said I, laughing, this is a little too much."

"Surely," answered Holmes, "it is not hard to say that a man with that bearing, expression of authority, and sun-baked skin, is a soldier, is more than a private, and is not long from India."

"That he has not left the service long is shown by his still wearing his ammunition boots, as they are called," observed Mycroft.

"He had not the cavalry stride, yet he wore his hat on one side, as is shown by the lighter skin on that side of his brow. His weight is against his being a sapper. He is in the artillery."

"Then, of course, his complete mourning shows that he has lost some one very dear. The fact that he is doing his own shopping looks as though it were his wife. He has been buying things for children, you perceive. There is a rattle, which shows that one of them is very young. The wife probably died in childbed. The fact that he has a picture-book under his arm shows that there is another child to be thought of."

I began to understand what my friend meant when he said that his brother possessed even keener faculties than he did himself. He glanced across at me and smiled. Mycroft took snuff from a tortoise-shell box, and brushed away the wandering grains from his coat with a large, red silk handkerchief.

"By the way, Sherlock," said he, "I have had something quite after your own heart—a most singular problem—submitted to my judgment. I really had not the energy to follow it up save in a very incomplete fashion, but it gave me a basis for some pleasing speculations. If you would care to hear the facts—"

"My dear Mycroft, I should be delighted."

The brother scribbled a note upon a leaf of his pocketbook, and, ringing the bell, he handed it to the waiter.

"I have asked Mr. Melas to step across," said he. "He lodges on the floor above me, and I have some slight acquaintance with him which led him to come to me in his perplexity. Mr. Melas is a Greek by extraction, as I understand, and he is a remarkable linguist. He earns his living partly as interpreter in the law courts and partly by acting as guide to any wealthy Orientals who may visit the Northumberland Avenue hotels. I think I will leave him to tell his very remarkable experience in his own fashion."

A few minutes later we were joined by a short stout man whose olive face and coal black hair proclaimed his Southern origin, though his speech was that of an educated Englishman. He shook hands eagerly with Sherlock Holmes, and his dark eyes sparkled with pleasure when he understood that the specialist was anxious to hear his story.

"I do not believe that the police credit me—on my word, I do not," said he in a wailing voice. "Just because they have never heard of it before they think that such a thing cannot be. But I know that I shall never be easy in my mind until I know what has become of my poor man with the sticking plaster upon his face."

"I am all attention," said Sherlock Holmes.

"This is Wednesday evening," said Mr. Melas. "Well, then, it was Monday night—only two days ago, you understand—that all this happened. I am an interpreter, as perhaps my neighbor there has told you. I interpret all languages—or nearly all—but as I am a Greek by birth and with a Grecian name it is with that particular tongue that I am principally associated. For many years, I have been the chief Greek interpreter in London, and my name is very well known in the hotels. It happens not unfrequently that I am sent for at strange hours by foreigners who get into difficulties, or by travellers who arrive late and wish my services. I was not surprised, therefore, on Monday night when a Mr. Latimer, a very fashionably dressed young man, came up to my rooms and asked me to accompany him in a cab which was waiting at the door. A Greek friend had come to see him upon business, he said, and as he could speak nothing but his own tongue, the services of an interpreter were indispensable. He gave me to understand that his house was some little distance off, in Kensington, and he seemed to be in a great hurry, hustling me rapidly into the cab when we had descended to the street.

"I saw into the cab, but I soon became doubtful as to whether it was not a carriage in which I found myself. It was certainly more roomy that the ordinary four-wheeled disgrace to London, and the fittings, though frayed, were of rich quality. Mr. Latimer seated himself opposite to me and we started off through Charing Cross and up the Shaftesbury Avenue. We had come out upon Oxford Street and I had ventured some remark as to this being a roundabout way to Kensington when my words were arrested by the extraordinary conduct of my companion.

INCOME TAX RATE WILL BE THE SAME NEXT YEAR AS THIS

NO HOPE FOR A REDUCTION IS THE OPINION OF PARTY LEADERS.

CAMPAIGN PROMISE THAT CAN'T BE WHOLLY KEPT

Tug of War As to Which Shall Be Taken Up First, Tariff or Tax Revision.

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The republican leaders are in a tug-of-war as to which to take up first—the tariff or the revision of taxes. On this question there have been conferences between President Harding and some twenty of the republican leaders. The conferences have ended without decision.

It is a disagreeable thing to decide, because each course promises disappointment at the end. It is a competition in reluctance.

A few of the old republican leaders who regard protection as an unfailing guarantee of national prosperity, want to jump into that immediately. The high priest of these is Fordney of Michigan. Fordney and these other old leaders remember the McKinley tariff of a generation ago, and think that what protection did then protection will do now. They think protection is a prosperity miracle maker at all times and under all conditions.

There is a group of younger leaders, however, who believe that there is a wide difference between the conditions of the '90's and the conditions of today. They are far less certain that the mere device of high protection will now accomplish the things it seemed to accomplish in the time of McKinley and of Dingley. These younger leaders are by no means unfriendly to the protective tariff principle. On the contrary, they are emphatically in favor of it, but they have grave doubts whether protection alone will revive prosperity, and they don't want to be in the position of reviving the tariff without doing anything else, of leading the country to expect prosperity from that revision and then running the risk of the punishment to the party that would follow disappointment to the country.

Want to Revise Taxes.

What these younger leaders want is to take up the revision of the taxes first. They believe that the corporations and firms engaged in productive business can not make their plans intelligently until they know what taxes they must pay, and they want to get this uncertain factor out of the way first.

Business men generally are behind this younger school of republican leaders.

One need not to be a seer to foresee that in the outcome this struggle will be won by these who want to take up tax revision first. The mere fact of time will decide it if nothing else should. Everybody with any experience knows that the writing of a tariff will consume a minimum of six months. Anyone who wants to satisfy himself on this can look up the history of the tariffs of McKinley, of Dingley, of Payne and of Underwood.

The house, which works much more compactly, can write a tariff in a comparatively short time, but no tariff bill can go into the senate and come out under six months. Senators must talk. If the republican leaders should take up the tariff first, it is a fair prediction that they would not complete the work before close to the end of the present year.

The revision of taxes, on the other hand, can be accomplished in a comparatively brief time.

Rate Will Not Be Less.

On this point of the revision of the taxes the public can take a few things completely for granted. The first will strike the taxpayer with a good deal of dismay. Every person who has just written his check for the income tax payment due Tuesday can rely with confidence and with distaste on the fact that the check he will be paying a year from Tuesday will not be less than the check he is writing now. What I mean, of course, is that the rate will not be changed and that the percentage of his income which he must pay will be the same.

I know this is contrary to the republican campaign promises to reduce taxation, but every well-informed republican leader knows now, and possibly some of them knew it during the campaign, that this is a promise that can not be wholly kept. As one of them said the other day, "We have promised to solve the insoluble."

It is true, the excess profits tax will be reduced in rate, or possibly wiped out altogether, but the excess profits tax has already ceased to be a revenue producer.

To the degree that the excess profits taxes have been reduced by the disappearance of profits, and to the degree that they may be reduced by any change made in the rate, to that same degree must the amount of revenue derived from income taxes be increased.

The rate of taxation on individual incomes will be the same next year as this year. There might be slight reductions in the rate on very large incomes. In a rough way, the republican leaders draw a line on incomes of about $60,000 a year. They say that on incomes below that amount the rate of taxation can not be reduced. On incomes above that amount the rate may be reduced, not, of course, for the purpose of making it easier on the rich, but rather to induce the rich to quit putting their funds into tax-free municipal bonds.

Government Must Pay.

The amount of money the government must pay out is a stubborn fact and must be met. To a certain extent, through the use of perfectly legitimate devices, the amount of the government's immediate outlay can be reduced. Appropriations can be pared, but all that can be done in that respect for the current year has already been done.

In another way an able secretary of the treasury can effect a certain amount of rearrangement of the government debt. That is what Secretary Mellon is busy on now. Short-term Liberty bonds can be refunded into long-term Liberty bonds. Payments of the government debt, which are now planned to be made over a period of twenty years, can be extended over a period of forty years, or even sixty years.

SANDERS SUIT SCHEDULED TO BE CALLED ON APRIL 18

HOUSTON, TEXAS, March 17.—Immunity of citizens from arrest by the military outside a specified military zone will be put to test here April 18.

At that time the $25,000 damage suit of the Houston Press for its editor, G. V. Sanders, against Col. Billie Mayfield and three other Texas national guard officers will be tried in the 55th district court, Houston.

The suit is a result of attempted arrest of Editor Sanders last August in Houston by military officers from the military zone at Galveston.

The officers resenting articles published in the Press against military occupation of Galveston at the time of the longshoremen's strike, attempted to arrest Sanders and take him to Galveston. Sanders escaped. The Texas attorney general will assist the defendants upon orders of former Governor Hobby.

Nurse Tells of the Life of Stillmans While in Canada

By DALE VAN EVERY
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The first account of events at the summer home of James A. Stillman, near the village of Grand Aunse, Quebec, during the summer of 1918 was given to the United Press here today by Miss Isabel Armstrong, former nurse of the Stillman children.

Miss Armstrong came east from Pasadena, Cal., a witness for Stillman, millionaire banker, in his divorce action. The events at Grand Aunse figure largely in the divorce evidence.

"I was at Grand Aunse with Mrs. Stillman from March to September, 1918," Miss Armstrong said. "Mr. Stillman was not there during most of the summer.

"Fred Beauvais, (the French-Canadian named by Stillman) had complete authority as general manager of the whole establishment. He had power even to hire and discharge Mrs. Stillman's servant.

"Beauvais smoked cigarets in the house. He was very highly regarded by all members of the family. He was very strong. I have seen him handle three sacks of cement with perfect ease.

"Mrs. Stillman was always out of doors in good weather. She was very much interested in farm work and spent much of her time inspecting the growing crops and seeing that everything was properly attended to.

Rides Gang Plow.

"I remember seeing her riding on the seat of the big gang plow, and helping with the haying. Once I saw her weeding the vegetable garden. She had a horror of weeds. There were two houses on the farm which stretched along St. Marie river. The forest came right down to the edge of the farm. One of the houses was occupied by Mrs. Stillman. This was called the white house.

"The other house which was a stone's throw distant, was occupied by the Beauvais family. I was the only servant with Mrs. Stillman except members of the Beauvais family. Miss Anne Stillman slept in a tent which was very delightfully furnished, right near the house.

"I had the care of Alexander Stillman, then the youngest of the family, since Guy Stillman was not born until the following November.

(Guy Stillman is the infant made co-defendant with his mother in the divorce action.)

"'Bud' (James Stillman, Jr.) and Miss Anne were there during most of the summer. Some times Miss Anne and 'Bud' made trips into the wilderness with guides or visited Camp Illmana, which was some distance from the farm.

"'Bud' was very fond of shooting. He was always firing at targets or something, also he had a beautiful little yacht, the 'Happy Second' on which he spent much of his time. Fred Beauvais was often with him."

SHOOTS WOMAN AND THEN KILLS HIMSELF

ROCKFORD, ILL., March 17.—Arthur Bauscher, president of the Bauscher brothers company, florists of Freeport, Illinois, died here early today from a self-inflicted bullet wound and Miss Helen Wilson of Rockford is dying from a bullet wound in the head inflicted by Bauscher as they alighted from an interurban car here late last night.

Miss Wilson recently divorced her husband, Clarence Widholm, an automobile salesman of Rockford. Bauscher, her employer and a widower, employed her to marry him.

Miss Wilson, it is said, became reconciled last week with her former husband and had planned to remarry him. Last night she left Freeport on an interurban car bound for Rockford where Widhalm was waiting for her. Bauscher also boarded the car and as she alighted at Rockford, Baucher shot her through the right temple then fired a bullet through his brain.

REPEAL OF LAW MAKES IT EASY FOR ANARCHISTS TO SECURE EXPLOSIVES

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Withdrawal of supervision over the manufacture and sale of explosives with the repeal by congress of war legislation has made it easy for anarchists, safe blowers and others to obtain explosives for illegal purposes, said a statement issued today by the bureau of mines.

In urging legislation to control the handling as well as the manufacture and sale of explosives, the bureau announced that the United States is practically the only civilized government in the world that fails to exercise a national supervision over explosives.

Large stores of explosives, the statement said, have been found within the limits of cities and towns where an explosion might cause loss of life and property. State convicts have been known to hide dynamite which they had for road work to be used for safe blowing when their terms expired.

Announcement.

Is Rheumatism Really Incurable?

Misdirected Treatment Will Make You Think So

Rheumatism is a very insidious disease. In fact, its pains may hardly be noticed at first. But they become more frequent, and gradually increase in severity, and before you hardly realize it, you are firmly in the grip of a disease that may make you helpless.

First of all, you must realize that Rheumatism's pains are not on the surface, and cannot be rubbed away. Then you will discard the liniment bottle, and seek the source of the disease.

Many forms of Rheumatism are due to a tiny germ in the blood, which multiplies by the million and spreads its pain to different parts of the body.

When you realize the logic of this conclusion, you will see that you are really wasting your time and money if you are expecting any permanent relief from the use of liniments, lotions, and other locally applied treatment, which can only reach the surface and have no effect whatever upon the origin of your trouble.

Any disease should be treated at its source, and especially one that causes as much suffering as rheumatism. For what you want is not mere temporary relief from the torturing pangs of pain, which will promptly return with renewed severity. The only treatment worth while is one that will show some progress toward getting at the source of the disease, and freeing the victim from its shackles.

The one point that the medical profession has agreed upon, is that some forms of rheumatism are caused by a tiny disease germ in the blood, which multiplies by the million, and until these germs are routed from the blood, you can see how futile local treatment will be. In fact, you can rub with liniments and use lotions by the gallon and never hope to reach the cause of your trouble.

So many people have found real permanent relief from their rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. that its use is justified in practically every case. Certainly if your rheumatism is due to a germ in the blood, as so many thousands of cases are, you should lose no time in beginning the use of S. S. S., because you can rely upon this fine old blood remedy to do you more good than any other treatment.

S. S. S. is beneficial in rheumatism because it is such a thorough blood medicine. It cleanses the blood of all impurities, and eradicates the germs which cause rheumatism. The wonderful results it has accomplished in other cases is proof of its great merit. S. S. S. has been on the market for more than fifty years and is sold by all druggists.

S. S. S. is the logical treatment for Rheumatism, because it purifies the blood and eliminates the disease germs.

You are invited to write our medical department for valuable literature and advice about the treatment of your own case, for which no charge is made. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 37 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia. —(Adv.)

260,000 ACRES—THREE DRILLING WELLS

$500,000 CAPITAL—PAR VALUE $10.00

OFFER A LIMITED AMOUNT OF SHARES FOR SALE TO BE USED FOR DEVELOPMENT PURPOSES

WHAT WOULD IT MEAN TO YOU TO HAVE SHARES IN AN OIL COMPANY WITH 260,000 ACRES OF LEASES SHOULD AN OIL WELL BE OBTAINED? Can you imagine what this amount of holdings would figure in millions with an oil gusher on it? You are well acquainted with the Burkburnett Northwest extension pool. This oil pool, covering approximately 4,000 acres, has already produced about $150,000,000 worth of oil and will be producing for the next ten years.

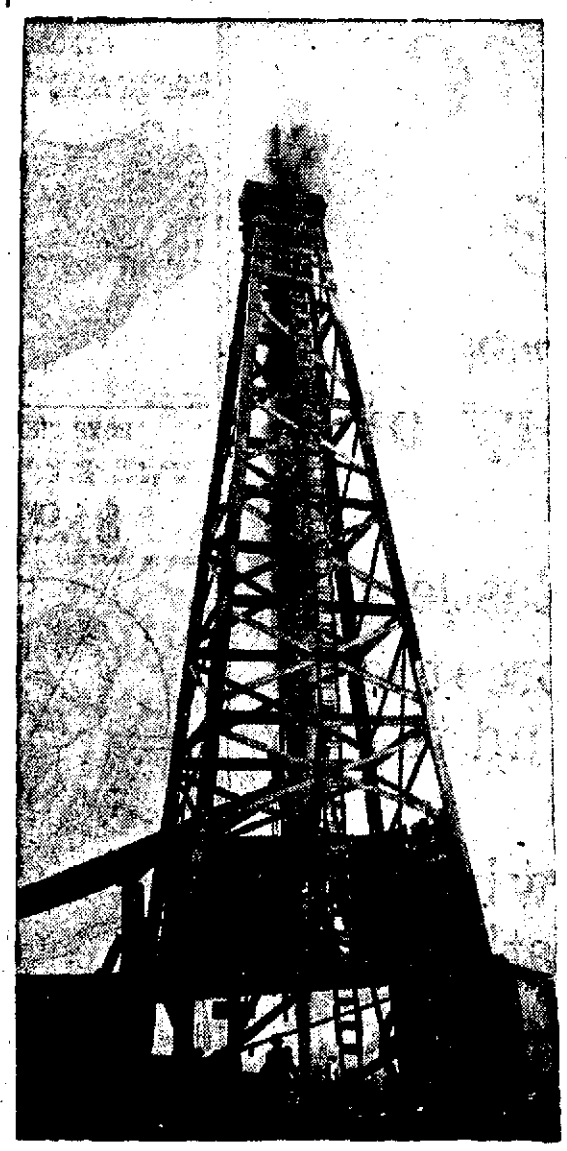
Here Is Our Proposition in a Nut Shell

THE FLORIDA OIL COMPANY, with approximately 260,000 acres of leases practically in a solid body in Walton County, Florida, has formed a Company with authorized capital of $500,000, with headquarters at DeFuniak Springs, Fla. The Company is operating under a Trust agreement, and all Shareholders and Trustees are exempt from personal liability. We are now drilling two wells and have our derrick up for the third well. The wells now drilling are thirty miles apart and the third well is about half-way between, and we own the leases between almost solid. Not one single acre has been reserved and all goes into the Company, and all shareholders will participate in the sale of leases as well as production. The log of the two wells drilling already convinces us that there is oil in Florida, but whether we discover oil or not, we are confident that with this enormous amount of acreage we can make all our shareholders money as we are in a position to sell acreage all over the United States if necessary. Several geologists have passed favorably on Western Florida and Southern Alabama, and our proposition is becoming so well advertised in that section that almost daily we are offered large tracts of land if we will only drill them an oil well. You can readily see that there is no limit to our possibilities should we discover oil as we would immediately become one of the big companies.

It stands to reason that if the Gulf Coast contains oil from Tampico to New Orleans, that there should at least be lots of tests made from New Orleans to Tampa, Florida. While we don't believe there is a chance for you to lose a dollar invested in our Company, just think what it would mean to you should we find oil. Your stock would immediately jump to 20 to 1, and possibly more. It is said that there are more than FOUR THOUSAND persons who became millionaires by starting out in a small way in the oil business. According to reliable statistics, 32 per cent more people lose money and fail in farming than in the oil business, and 20 per cent more in the business of banking. There is no other business in the world that gives the small investor such a chance to win wealth through the resources of Nature as does the oil business. One acre of oil land can produce more money in one year than the same acre could produce in potatoes in a thousand years at $3.00 per bushel.

In conclusion, I wish to state that this proposition has cost a lot of money, time, worry and effort on our part, but I honestly and sincerely believe that it is one of the fairest and best propositions ever placed on the market in the oil business. Believing that I have something good, I naturally come to my friends first to let them in on it. I do so conscientiously believing that it offers immeasurable returns with a very slight chance of losing a dollar. However, we don't want anyone's money who cannot freely and willingly take a chance in the oil business. We want optimists who are willing to take reasonable risks in life. Suppose you fail once, twice or even six times, in the end you will succeed. Like Charles M. Schwab, we believe that return is always in proportion to the risk. Don't sit around and hollow business depression and financial stringency. That is just what's the matter today. There are too many people waiting for things to adjust themselves. What we need is more action and less talk.

A Word As to the Officers and Managers of This Company



A. L. HUEY, President

As President of the Florida Oil Company, I have no bouquets to throw at myself. I do wish to state, however, for the benefit of those who may think that I have been promoter of many dry hole and fake propositions, that during my fifteen years' residence in the city of Wichita Falls that I have never promoted nor been an officer of, but one Company that failed to pay good dividends, and this particular Company paid back 40% of its capital. I organized and successfully managed two corporations that put Floral Heights and Scotland Additions on the market, two of the largest additions to the city of Wichita Falls. As to how successful they were financially, four-fifths of the stockholders now residing in this city can tell you. The Scotland Addition is still paying dividends, having paid 100% last year and 35% already this year—and will continue on paying dividends. I always endeavor to make money for my stockholders and I personally guarantee them a square deal in this company.

CHARLES E. LOGAN, Vice-President

I have been intimately acquainted with Mr. Logan for twenty-one years, and while he is comparatively a young man he has put over some mighty big propositions. For the last twelve years he has resided in Kansas City. He promoted and was President and General Manager of the Good Roads Company, a corporation of $750,000 capital. This Company invented and manufactured a good roads machine for making oil and asphalt macadam roads, one of which machines was sold to this city less than two years ago. Mr. Logan is Active Manager of the Florida Oil Company, travels by airplane and does big things in a hurry. He has a pleasing approach and can call on the biggest of men from the United States senators on down. The largest bankers of Kansas City recommend Mr. Logan very highly.

H. E. McCONNELL, Treasurer

Mr. McConnell needs no introduction to the people of Wichita Falls, having resided here for the past nine years. As to his financial success, the leading banks of this city and R. G. Dunn & Co. can tell you. His success has been achieved by his honesty and good business judgment in the oil business.

J. W. DAVIS, Secretary

Mr. Davis is from Tulsa, Okla., and was chosen secretary of this company on account of his thorough knowledge of the oil and refining business and being an expert accountant. He has a wonderful system of bookkeeping and the stockholders in this company can rest assured that not one penny can get by Mr. Davis without being accounted for.

Trustees

Our Trustees consist of the very biggest bankers and business men that we could find in Western Florida and Southern Alabama, all of whom are enthused over the oil business and have always believed that there was oil in Walton County.

Topography and Geology of West Florida

I suppose many people, like myself, had Florida pictured in their minds as being a low, flat, swampy country with frogs and aligators. Never was I more surprised in my life to find in Walton County, where we are operating, a country that is hillier than either Young, Stephens or Eastland Counties, Texas. There are plenty of domes and anticlines and more oil seepages than I have ever witnessed in any country. Several noted geologists have passed favorably on Western Florida and Southern Alabama—viz.: Aldridge, Clapp, Conley, Barnett and many others whom I do not recall. Mr. Barnett has an office at 303 Morgan Building, this city, coming here from California two years ago. He is positive that there is plenty of oil in Florida.

Our Drillers and Prospects of Getting Oil

We have as good drillers as can be procured, several of them having brought in gushers in this county as well as Goose Creek and Humble. One of our drillers brought in his first gusher in Oil City, Pa., 27 years ago and since that time has brought in over two hundred gushers, having operated in all the principal oil fields of the globe.

One of our wells, drilling with rotary, is now down 1,200 feet and has had two good gas showings. The log of this well is identical with those at Goose Creek. The other well, which is thirty miles closer to the Gulf, is being drilled with cable tools and encountered two oil and gas showings up to 680 feet. Last week at 770 feet we struck an oil sand after going through a salt water and quicksand. Drilling with an open hole full of water, the quicksand was so bad that we could not go deeper. After repeated efforts we could not get closer than two feet of the bottom any more, but each time the tools were lowered oil would rise through the salt water. We repeatedly bailed oil from the well for three days. We took all of our drillers out to the well together with a large crowd of visitors and it was the unanimous opinion of drillers and all that we had some kind of an oil well, but how large we were, of course, unable to determine. Being a six-inch hole, we are now reaming down with a ten-inch bit to set new seven-inch casing which we had on hand. As soon as we case off the water and quicksand I am of the honest opinion that we will drill into a good paying oil well—and it may be a big one for that depth as I have never seen a well make a better showing with the chance it had.

To verify the above I desire to quote you a letter received from one of the visitors who is in nowise connected with our Company. This gentleman is President of the Marshall State Bank of Marshall, Ill., and has had lots of experience in the oil business.

DeFuniak Springs, Fla.
March 12, 1921.

MR. CHAS. E. LOGAN, Gen. Mgr.,
Florida Oil Company,
DeFuniak Springs, Fla.

Dear Sir: In regard to my visit at your well drilling in Sec. 22, Twp. 1, R. 17, near Bruce, Fla., I am greatly pleased with the showing of oil that was repeatedly bailed out of the well yesterday.

I will anxiously await the results of your plans to case off the cavings and quicksand in the hole. Then you will know whether or not you have a producing oil well.

This shallow oil is an agreeable surprise to myself and confirms my belief in the possibilities of the deeper oil sands. Yours truly,

GEO. G. ROBERTSON.

We Absolutely Control This Wonderful Field

You can readily see that we have a wonderful proposition with a good chance to get an oil well, and no one can possibly purchase a lease close to any of our wells without purchasing from us. Have you ever heard of a Company with so much acreage proposing to drill three oil wells and nearly have them drilled before offering any stock for sale? Remember, we have reserved nothing, but put everything in our Company, including leases, drilling wells, casing, six well equipped offices, automobiles, brand new three-passenger Curtis aeroplane, etc.—all goesinto the Company and everyone guaranteed a square deal.

Should we discover oil, our transportation facilities would be excellent as the big boats come up the river within four miles of one of our wells, and it is only eleven miles from this well to Freeport, on the Choctawatchee Bay, where there is a harbor. We are also just seventy miles east of Pensacola, the deepest harbor in the South, and on a through line of the L. & N. Railroad.

Whether you purchase any stock or not, we would like to have you call at our offices, 305-306 Morgan Bldg., where we have Maps, Literature, Pictures of Drilling Wells and all data pertaining to the proposition.

HAMON CASE TO JURY LATE IN AFTERNOON

would see that she was acquitted if she released claims against the Hamon estate. Is a fine example of a law-abiding citizen

"The prosecution is run by those who want to project their clutches in the middle of Hamon's millions

"The state asked Clara if she had any children and if there was a will

"There is only one way to rifle the Hamon estate—that is to hustle her off to the penitentiary

"Hamon was drunk that day. Everyone who saw him said he was drunk but Kelly Roath and Bill Nichols—and they were drunk too

"Those interested in the Hamon millions are the ones who cooked up the state's case"

Champion grabbed the pistol, laid Jimmie Mathers another defense attorney on a table to visualize the state's charge it at Clara shot Hamon while lying in bed

Mathers was propped up with law books as a pillow

"Jim you're Jake and I'm Clara" yelled Champion brandishing the gun

Murder fans laughed at this, Clara cried

Prince Freeling where is the powder burn on the shirt if Hamon was shot with the gun against his breast?" asked Champion

He spread Hamon's bloody percale shirt out on the table Clara sat on one side, Mrs Hamon on the other.

"Was there a reconciliation between Hamon and his good wife? They say he was going to change his life and join the church

"Wasn't he making a good start—getting drunk with Bill Nichols and Kelley Roach on the Sabbath and then pick up a chair and try to kill a little girl?"

"If the grave could open up the dead man would say to you

"Remember I am the one who stole this girl from purity

"Remember I set a horrible example of open and notorious adultery"

"God, breathes there a man who would say the death penalty for this little girl

"There's no middle ground in this case, either death or liberty—there's no middle ground.

"Girls like this will forever be acquitted as long as the spirit of God lasts."

Mathers for Defense.

Jimmie Mathers, Ardmore prosecuting attorney who is one of the defense attorneys appeared before the jury next

"Gentlemen," he said, "your verdict will be flashed to millions of mothers over the country.

"There she sits like a mouse in a trap with the Hamon millions closing in on her.

"No verdict can give back to her, her sweet childhood That she had when she met this social outlaw

"Jake Hamon burned the scarlet letter on her breast Your verdict will say whether she will be the sport of every passing libertine.

"Gentlemen, tell her to go and sin no more

"The state does not expect a conviction; it expects a hung jury, it wonders if the gold of Hamon has not lined the pockets of a juryman.

"This builder of states, nations and empires whispered to this little girl thirteen years ago.

"The state said this little curly haired girl of sixteen roped Jake Hamon

"If Hamon had not been a man of wealth, the attorney general, my superior officer would not have been here.

"The gold of the Hamons can not extend to the jury box to require you to stultify your conscience.

"Every detective money could buy has worked to find something slimy about this girl

Questions Testimony.

"The whole fabric and basis of this prosecution is founded on perjured testimony

"It is a chest of gold against this girl

"The odor of the prosecution outstinches the cesspool of hell"

"Bill Kelly Roach, Walter Hardy, Bill Nichols and others.

"Not all of Hamon's friends lied when they gave out statements that Hamon shot himself accidentally

"They would as soon swear to a lie as tell one," he shouted, jerking off his coat

It was charged by Mathers that Dr. Hardy was recalled to the stand five times by the state because "he was called when they wanted good lying done"

"Who is to blame," cried Mathers, "is it the man who was so powerful he could make presidents and dig twenty millions out of the earth or is it this innocent little girl?"

"The bullet that sent Jake Hamon to his death was the just execution of the sentence of God

"I like Attorney General Freeling but I do not want him to walk into the governor's chair through the tears of this little girl

"If there is still justice in America, then this jury in ten minutes will flash a verdict of 'not guilty' to the civilized world" Mathers said

McLean Closes for Defense.

"Wild Bill" McLean jumped to his feet at the opening of the afternoon session and started to harangue the jury in Clara's defense.

He launched into the alleged dying declaration of Hamon that Clara had shot him in cold blood.

"A great many people think a man will not lie before he dies, but the law books do not say that," he shouted.

"The court ruled out of the room every child under 18 years of age.

"Every child should hear this trial The preacher said he didn't know why God did it. We'll show why God did it'

"I think God did it to the man who deserted his wife and family." "Wild Bill," who yelled in a southern accent, pulled off his glasses and jerked open his vest. "The woman we should pity is not the defendant—it is Mrs. Jake L. Hamon," he continued

"There has never been a stain on her—the deceased published himself before the country before he was shot.

"Hamon was teaching his noble son it was all right to marry a good woman and and then live in adultery with another woman.

"I see the dear old mother of Clara who couldn't believe her daughter was in adultery

"That's what makes us men—they don't believe such things.

"They always lay it on the woman There was never a woman in America that seduced a man. There never was a twenty year old girl who ever seduced a forty year old—lawyer—and you know it.

Does Not Argue Evidence.

"The evidence is blank and I will not argue it.

"Hamon accomplished his purpose before Clara was out of school."

"Wild Bill" launched into letters written by Clara to Hamon to prove that not she, but Hamon, was the aggressor in the unsanctioned love affair

"The story told by the state is unreasonable," he said "She would have been justified in pumping him full of bullets because he attacked her

"Your verdict should be an exoneration of the defendant.

"She may have sinned. He wrapped her in furs, put diamonds on her Don't blame the woman. Fine clothes will not get all women—it will get some of them"

McLean closed at 2 35 and the court recessed for five minutes, after which Freeling will speak for the state

Defense Waives Argument.

Confidence of the six attorneys for the defense that Clara would be freed led them late yesterday to attempt to waive the right of a closing argument and move that the jury be given the case immediately

This followed the argument to the jury by H. H Brown, who is assisting Freeling in the prosecution

The judge held up decision on this most unusual motion of the defense and sent out after Prince Freeling, who was not in court at the time Brown spoke

Freeling objected most strenuously, saying the defense had to make an argument according to law, after which he would have something to say.

The judge adjourned court until this morning, at which time he will make a ruling.

The state, it is generally conceded has had a very weak case against the defendant and has been unable to shatter the case of the defendant

The speed with which Clara's trial has been rushed through has been a record for sensational murder trials.

It started just a week ago. The jury was completed the first day. The state, in two days presented its witnesses who testified that Hamon was not drunk on the day he was shot and that before he died the oil king made dying declarations that he had been deliberately shot by his paramour.

Slightly over a day was consumed by the defense in proving its contention that Hamon was drunk and that Clara shot him in self defense after he had beat her and swung a chair at her

Trial Sensational.

The trial of the girl who shot the millionaire republican national committeeman has been the most sensational one, attorneys said, since the famous Thaw trial.

During the trial it was brought out that Hamon exiled his wife and two children and has lived with the defendant for eight years in his dingy love hovel in the second rate Randol Hotel.

Testimony also brought out that Hamon was a power politically and that when he was mortally wounded his concern was to get his friends who had helped him sweep Oklahoma into the republican column taken care of with political jobs.

One of his last requests to W. D Nichols, was "to go straight to Warren Harding to get my friends taken care of"

Hamon was shot on November 21 in his rooms at the Randol hotel He walked to the hospital and the next day statements were given out he accidentally shot himself while cleaning a gun. All of Hamon's friends at the time stuck by this story

Russell Brown, county attorney at the time, started an investigation before Hamon died He filed charges of immorality against Clara and Hamon and charged her with shooting Hamon

Ordered to Leave Ardmore.

The day after the shotting, according to testimony given by Frank F. Ketch, thousand dollar a week business associate of Hamon, Clara was given $5,000 by Ketch and ordered to leave Ardmore and not to come back.

She fled to Mexico and while there confessed that she shot Hamon and returned to face trial

All of Hamon's friends then repudiated their statements that Hamon had been shot accidentally and got behind the prosecution These were the chief witnesses for the state.

Many believe that Hamon went to his death saying he shot himself to save his secretary-protege from punishment.

Whether he did or not was not definitely established at the trial—the defense said he did and the prosecution said he didn't

POLICE AND RANGER FIND STOLEN GOODS HID ON RIVER BANK

Practically all of the goods stolen from the Noble store at Petrolia were recovered early Thursday afternoon by State Ranger J. H. Asher, Police Chief Huff and Police Commissioner Bradley.

The goods were in a suit case which had been carefully buried on the Wichita river bank about three miles northwest of the city. The thief had dug a hole and partially filled it with rotten wood and brush to absorb the moisture and had also packed wood and brush about the suit and covered the hole with it. The goods are valued at $3,000.

Frank Ellsworth, arrested late Wednesday in connection with the theft, told officers that he had packed spongy wood around the goods to protect them from dampness until he could return for them. Ellsworth also told the officers that his two six-shooters, which the officers have not found, had been coated with tallow and placed "in the water" until he could get them again.

"I'll be out of the penitentiary again in three or six months," he said, "then I can come back and get those guns again." He told of the system whereby, using tallow, he protected the guns from the water.

Some of the stolen silk was found in a wagon yard restaurant Thursday morning.

J. H. Asher, state ranger, had an active part in the exciting chase Wednesday afternoon that resulted in the capture of Ellsworth. A detailed account of this chase, which appears on page two of The Times Thursday, fails to mention Mr. Asher as one of the participants.

PRODUCER'S PROBLEM NOT YET SOLVED SAYS THE PETROLEUM NEWS

The better tone lent to the crude oil situation by the resumption of 100 per cent purchases from existing connections by all agencies in the Mid-Continent except the Prairie Oil & Gas Company, was strengthened during the past week by payment of slight premiums over the $1.75 posted price in two pools, says the National Petroleum News of Wednesday.

At the same time, there still exists an excess of production from wells already completed over the amount that can be handled from day to day by refineries running so much as the demand calls for and during the past week the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's committee on conservation and conciliation felt called upon to warn producers against taking the increase in purchases as proof that the congested period was ended.

The committee emphasized that the condition which existed in December, when purchasing agencies were compelled to curtail runs for their own accounts, is possible of repetition if producers, believing there exists a ready market, bring in the large number of wells now shut down on the sand. It estimated the daily average production of the Mid-Continent, including Oklahoma, Kansas, central and north Texas and north Louisiana, to have been 650,000 barrels on March 1. It further estimated the Independent refineries on that date to have been taking 250,000 barrels daily, leaving a balance of 400,000 barrels daily, which was 30,000 to 40,000 barrels, daily, above pipe line capacity, and hence without market. The high point in runs by refineries of the Mid-Continent in 1920, was 319,000 barrels.

Drilling Status Is Perilous.

What might easily happen should the policy of restraint that has been pursued since the Mid-Continent association's committee inaugurated its co-operative plan on conservation, February 24, he disregarded is indicated by a report on the status of drilling operations, including only wildcat tests and wells which might extend producing limits of various fields, taking no account of wells within defined territory. On March 1, there were 3,110 rigs, drilling wells and wells shut down before completion, in the Mid-Continent, excluding north Louisiana. Of this total, 761 were rigs, 1,303 were drilling wells, and 906 were wells shut down at various stages, one-third of the latter class estimated as being on the top of the oil sand and ready to drill into production.

Duncan District Wells Show Water.

In the new Duncan district of Stephens county, Oklahoma, where a number of recent completions gave promise of a pool with big flush production, the recent showing has not been so promising. Four of the wells in what is known as the south pool, stopped flowing and salt water has appeared in several wells. It is not determined whether this is an operating condition or can be controlled. In the Empire pool of the same county, which a year ago looked important, water trouble has long ago eliminated the acreage from consideration as having any bearing on future output. Tests now drilling in the Duncan district will show within a few weeks whether this area is to go the same way.

Operation Curtailments Continue.

All fields were quiet during the week, with no extensions of producing areas of note and shut-downs in most fields continued. In southern Arkansas, recent completions have come in with big gas flows, but in two of the tests signs have been better for the future of the field, as these two have produced clean oil without the emulsion characteristic of others previously drilled in.

A horseman dashed up outside and presently strode into the room. He was tall and well put together; not quite as straight as an arrow, but straight, and not ungraceful in his height. This was Harry Van Horn, a neighboring cattleman, and he wore the ranchman's rig, including the broad hat and the revolver slung at his hip. His step was clean and springy as he crossed the room and looked keenly at his guests—last and longest at Kate.

Indians and Yankees Look Like Best Bets in American League Race, Says Farrell

By Paul W. Larkin

Bischoff, the latest addition to Saints catching staff was out in uniform yesterday and warmed up a couple of hurlers Last season the Memphis backstop hit the pill at a 251 clip and fielded at the rate of 960 Of the 79 hits that he gathered during the season, 20 were doubles, two triples and two home runs He booted only 14 out of over 300 fielding chances

Wichita Falls' Gain.

In Wichita, Kan, they claim that Frank Isbell, president of the club, let Abe Bowman go because he was in wrong with the club It seems that Bowman jumped the club during the season and drew a suspension and fine for the stunt The deal whereby Saints purchased him is said to be the outgrowth of this difficulty and Isbell is quoted as saying that he thought it was for the best interests of the Wichita club to let him go What's one's loss is another's gain It was originally stated that Bowman won 17 out of 28 starts last year, but according to Spalding's averages the big flinger won 13 and lost 14 His complete record follows Innings pitched 2[illegible] hits 2[illegible] runs, 174 bases on balls 101 strikeouts, 120 hit batsmen, 4 wild pitches, 9

Dick and "Commy" Step Out

Dick Nelson is gradually coming into his own and looks better out around that first sack every day It took him some time to work out his lameness but it was finally boiled out and he's going along in fine style now The same is true of Specks Comstock Walter has been shifting Commy all over the lot and he's been coming through in handy fashion He's been working behind time but the last couple of days and he's not the worst back stop in the world He can also play first base and has had quite a bit of experience at the bag In addition to these qualifications he can hit from either the left or the right side of the plate Its the little things like these that may land him that utility position in the end If Crandall is a utility man if there ever was one

Buddy Walloping 'Em

Every day at Athletic park some individual excels the others when it comes to pasting the pill but for consistent slugging during the past week you've got to hand it to Buddy Tanner It makes no difference to him whether the hurlers job the ball over or whether they put all they've got on it Buddy thumps 'em just the same He's been leading the intersquad league merry chase He looks like a big star for Buddy Looks like a big year for Buddy

Jake Should Rise

Jake Miller is one who should boost his batting average this season He fell a few points short of the 300 mark last year but will be able to hit it more than one field this year He has been practicing hitting to left field faithfully and if he gets that down pat he'll be very apt to show the way to the others There'll be a merry scramble for hitting honors on the local club this year The Spudders have a formidable crew in Clark Tanner, McDonald Miller and McIlwee

At Last

At last we'll know who is the better man—Wilson or O'Dowd It took a lot of money to get 'em set Cards together but a little thing like money is nothing in Tex Richard's life See where the odds are eight to five on Wilson Of course the champion is always the favorite but for one week pretty safe in stringing along with the challenger If Mike is in good condition he should have little trouble in getting his crack back but it is reported that he hasn't been taking care of himself as he used to However, that's the usual line of bunk that is handed out before every battle

Evenly Matched.

The two scrappers are about as evenly matched as any pair I think of in country There is no difference to speak of in their heights and reach while both are 26 years old The rules require that they weight in at 175 pounds this afternoon but both are said to be well under weight Should O'Dowd regain his title he will be first to accomplish such a feat since Stanley Ketchel turned the trick O'Dowd being Irish, has great hopes in St Patrick's day

Georgia Peach Will Be Satisfied if His Club Lands in 6th

NEW YORK March 17—Sixth place in the American League pennant race will satisfy Ty Cobb this year He has hopes however that his team may do better If Detroit manages to finish better than sixth Cobb says he will feel thankful and will be ready to pay his respects to Lady Luck

The newly appointed manager star of the Tigers is making no predictions in a telegraphed interview he modestly tells of his plans for the coming season He advances no claims for his team

As to my expectations regarding what Detroit may accomplish this year I have very little to say says Cobb We have about the same team which finished seventh in the 1920 pennant race There is nothing I could do in the way of making changes trades and the like for the simple reason that the men who did not do so well last year may be more successful under different conditions this year As a result I must wait and find out the men who will attune themselves to my methods If I should discover after two months or so that certain players cannot deliver the goods then I would go about making changes

"Last year we finished seventh This year I hope to be able to finish at least sixth If we should be lucky enough to finish a little higher I would feel very thankful

Will Do His Best.

"I have never promised anything for our club or myself as a manager I am simply going to do my best and finish as high as I can One thing sure we will endeavor to let the opposition know that they are in a ball game every day

I hope to show a decided improvement in the pitching staff Detroit has lacked consistent pitching for a number of years and this department is going to be given a lot of my attention

As to training I have decided to do away with the double period system morning and afternoon I will have a real, hard snappy practice once each day Also plenty of hitting practice probably divided into two squads the regulars and the recruits I have a few more ideas regarding training that I will put into practice but am not ready at this time to discuss them

Cobb's efforts as manager of the "Bengals" will be watched with keen interest For 15 years he has been the outstanding all around star of baseball and his debut as manager and whether or not managerial duties will affect his playing will hold the attention of the baseball public

Wilson is 8 to 5 Favorite Over Challenger—Rumored O'Dowd Not In Condition.

NEW YORK March 17—No bout of the season has worked such a guessing contest as the argument for the middle weight battle coming here tonight between Johnny Wilson the Boston swap and Mike O'Dowd the St Paul hard

Wilson is an eight to five favorite to retain his title

His backers have heard that O'Dowd is out of condition and they believe the former champion is using it enough as a boxer to win on the margin that the judges will grant Wilson as a champion

O'Dowd will have to come close to knocking out the champion to win back the title

If the judges showed the timidity in giving a decision that they have several times during the past it will be one of these draws True the battling wrecker won his passage to a decision but Joe Lynch his superiority was much more marked over Tommy Herman than it should be tonight

Wilson is one of those awkward southpaw fighters who lands with his right and is quite effective at it It was this punch which caused O'Dowd in their first meeting when Wilson took the title from him on a foul

GIANT ROOKIE, ONLY SIX FEET SEVEN INCHES, MAKING GOOD

Nick Allen at the last meeting of the city league expressed himself in favor of the city league but up in favor of the city league but he was strongly in favor of a second industrial organization so that it could get the other clubs to bond together if possible and play in Hamilton Park

The suggestion met with the instant approval of the other fans and he was assured of the cooperation of the original league in anything that had stood Tonight it is hoped that the game will be played on Sunday so that the clubs will not conflict with those of the first league

Representatives from the following teams will be present tonight and any other clubs desiring to enter the league are invited to send delegates Universities Methodists Lagrave American Legion Wichita Mill and Elevator company Wichita Brick and Tile company and the Red Ball Trans for company

Advancing civilization continues to grow more and more complex You either step into a tunnel from a fast line of ground or an air pocket if you live the rest of civilization merely means that many more bunks are to be given you for the game of life The game of baseball made a thousand years ago It has also had to clean out with the years as well

TRAILING GRIFFITH BURGESS

I've never hung in five base hit
And yet I'd like to hang it
Those new fair rules won't stand for
And I'm now they cramp my

I've never holed a brassie rap
My best is often punker
But what a pipe it is to slap
A drive into a bunker

HOW LONG BEFORE THEY LEARN?

Organized baseball still with a passionate reluctance amounting to a keen abhorrence toward taking up the White Sox and disorganized baseball finally moved when it was pushed over the cliff

The developments of that affair offered Organized Baseball a fine opportunity to learn something connected with sudden action and quick thinking What did O B learn Not a big lesson

Then followed the Benton Moriarty middle Then the Zimmerman flare-up Again there was no sudden leap toward an up to the minute fight on" Again there was not A wave the old cry Yes things are the same Apparently it has never occurred to organized baseball in its five years of existence that the public has something to do with the game or may rightly be respected

It has never occurred to any one to let the public know precisely what is going on without waiting two or three

These things hurt the game

They do Especially all those things that consist of taking or attempting to foist up every scandal that develops

This is where Judge Landis will have his greatest chance There is nothing in connection with any scandal that has yet arisen which the public has not known all the time

THE LIVELIER BALL

It is well to point out in passing that the livelier ball is one that we call attention to a few wild statements recently made with the modern baseball used

Just how much livelier the present baseball is than the ball used eight years ago we can't say but we can do a little thinking on our own hook with a few simple figures

In 1911 the Athletics with Collins Baker Mathews Strunk Schang Oldring and Coombs at work accumulated 1[illegible] hits for a grand average of [illegible]

Last year St Louis gathered 1,615 hits for a great average of 1[illegible] Also it might be noted that St Louis Cleveland Chicago and Washington all had a higher club batting average than the Athletics had eight years ago

IN ADDITION

This testimony isn't all of it In 1911 the eight American League clubs managed to pile up a total of 1[illegible] home runs or an average of [illegible] per club In 1920 the same clubs ran up a total of 3[illegible] home runs or more than double the 1911 output

It isn't unlikely of course that even with the same ball some increase might have been noted although that old Mack in making his team a whale with the [illegible]

But to find four ball clubs of today scoring that much better by many points and to find them hitting that much harder is enough to show that the ball is only lively when injected with about 50 per cent more pep

Not the ball made of it however but the ball as it is now used is responsible for the big fly as well as everything else, which is the point

It will not do to compare late hitting records with those made a few years ago If the figures hold up they will not stand

In 1917 when Collins was at his best he led the league Last season seven years later he led the league In 1914 Collins scored 122 runs on 184 hits Last year he scored [illegible] runs on [illegible] hits

Yet we seem to be the livelier ball when the game Do the 21 additional home runs struck off last season over 1913 merely mean an additional 212 pulsing ticking drills We have never seen a game where fans groaning because too many home runs were piled over the fences Not yet Not very soon

The next move should be for a drive to draw that sixth kick seventh five or eight yards on a fly Then we'll get action plus nine

May Mean Beer at Soda Fountains, Is Opinion of Palmer

PHILADELPHIA March 17 — The ruling that physicians may subscribe beer may be followed at the soda fountain, but never again for over the saloon bar, Mr Palmer in the hotel dining room said former Attorney General A Mitchell Palmer here today.

The law has fixed one channel through which beer may be obtained for medicinal purposes, said Mr Palmer in speaking of his ruling on beer recently made public. After he left office it says druggists may sell at wholesale and it can be retailed only by registered pharmacists on physicians' prescriptions. That cuts out the bootleggers and the growler.

There was never any legal knot to be untied here. Why it took the people interested in it so long to ferret out this advantage I do not understand.

The prohibition law, said Mr Palmer, will never be fully effective until the public becomes possessed of a consciousness of wrong doing in violating it. I think the majority of politicians will treat this beer matter as one involving professional ethics.

WAY WITHDRAW WHISKEY FROM BONDED WAREHOUSES

WASHINGTON March 17—The banning withdrawal of whiskey from bonded warehouses insofar as it affects retail druggists will be lifted April 1 under an order issued today by Prohibition Commissioner Kramer. Modification of the order stopping withdrawals was not extended to wholesale liquor dealers.

Coincidentally Mr Kramer announced that wholesale dealers must go out of business about May 1. He said also that plans of the bureau provided for the completion of regulations based on to our Attorney General Palmers opinion as to whole alers to be effective about the same date.

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK March 17—The opening of the cotton market here today showed the influence of continued steadiness in Liverpool and somewhat more encouraging British trade reports. Brokers with Wall street clients were good buyers on the opening decline of 12 to 15 points which carried May up to 11.63 and July to 12.0. The increased business reported in southern spot markets yesterday was reflected by more active hedge selling, however, while Liverpool was also a moderate seller by balance with prices easing off some five or six points from the best after the call. Private cables reported investment buying in the Liverpool market and a better inquiry from India was again reported in the Manchester goods trade.

After selling up to 12.08 for May, 21.85 for July or 20 to 25 points net higher the market reacted ten or 17 points under realizing and southern selling. Reports that southern mills were planning increased curtailment probably promoted profit taking on the advance but the market held fairly steady early in the afternoon with May ruling at and 11.90 or about 11 points net higher.

Weakness failed to increase realizing during the early afternoon with May contracts selling down to 11.80 and July to 12.28 or about five to eight points net lower.

The cotton market closed steady.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS LA March 17—A much higher Liverpool market than due caused a rise on the opening of the cotton market here today. Shorts covered and a fair amount of new buying for long account was felt. In the first half hour of the session the active months were sent 12 to 17 points higher than the final prices of yesterday, May reaching 11.69.

Reports of a somewhat better demand for spots in Texas markets and claims by such points as Houston that preparations for planting the new crop were backward increased the demand and in the trading up to 11 o'clock prices were sent 20 to 23 points higher than the last prices of yesterday, May went to 11.71.

In the early afternoon the market was filled with reports of mills closing down at several points in the south and the advance was wiped out. At 1.30 o'clock prices of the more active months were 2 to 7 points under the finals of yesterday with May down to 11.4[illegible].

The cotton market closed steady at net decline of 6 to 11 points.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK March 17—A mixture of buying and selling orders created considerable confusion at the opening of today's stock market. Oils were strong Flaymen asphalt and California petroleum soared 1½ points. Food, equipment, textile and motor specialties also were inclined to improve but the list reacted abruptly when Atlantic Gulf displayed fresh settlement. That stock opened at a large fractional advance but extensive offerings soon caused a reaction of almost four points to the new low of 9[illegible]. United Fruit and investment and secondary rails advanced but local utilities continued to weaken.

Aside from Atlantic Gulf preferred which reflected bear weakness stocks extended their rally after midday. General asphalt was the chief feature rising 5½ points. Lehigh and Lackawanna steels and Chandler Studebaker and Pierce Arrow rose 1 to 2 points.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO March 17—Wheat traders quite generally assumed a waiting attitude today pending development of fresh export business or of definite advices of crop damage. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to ¾c lower with March $1.59¾ and May $1.51 to 1.51½ were followed by upturns that in some cases went well above yesterday's finish.

Subsequently buying power gave out and the market underwent a material decline despite gossip current that an embargo against the importation of agricultural products into the United States had been decided on by President Harding. The close was nervous 1¾@1¾c net lower with March $1.57@1.57¼.

Corn was upheld by scantiness of receipts. After opening ¼c off to shade advance including May at 69¼ to 69⅝ the market sagged a trifle and then scored light gains.

Later when wheat started downgrade the corn market also went lower. The close was heavy at ¼@1¼c net decline with May 68⅞c to 68¾@⅞c and July 70⅝.

Oats holder in little in the absence of any selling pressure starting a short to 1/8@¼ higher May 47½ to 47⅝ and keeping at about the initial range.

Provisions had an upward slant influenced by the fact that fresh pork loins were selling at the highest price of the year.

FREE MOVIES LIKELY TO BE NIGHTLY FEATURE AT LAKE WICHITA THIS SEASON

Free movies every night will probably be a feature of attractions at the Lake Wichita resort. A contract for the open air movies is expected to be closed shortly, and this feature is expected to add much to the popularity of the lake on summer evenings.

Work is well under way on the new bathing pavilion and grand-stand while the repainting of the main pavilion and other improvements are going forward steadily.

The circle parkway is to be made quite a little beauty spot according to present plans the road will be graded and graveled and a large quantity of shrubbery and flowers set out.

No date for opening the resort has yet been definitely fixed but it will probably be about April 1.

SHAMROCKS APPEAR ON EVERYBODY'S COAT AND IRISH DAY IS OBSERVED

It was St Patrick's day Thursday morning and in fact all day.

Shamrocks and green tinted carnations appeared in many lapels. Everyone who went near the corner of Eighth and Scott just had to buy one the committee of women working for the relief fund for Irish women and children passed no one up seeing to it that Hungarians and Swedes were decked out Irishly and made to contribute accordingly.

No special exercises of any sort were scheduled in connection with the observance of the day.

POLAND HAS ADOPTED A NEW CONSTITUTION

By Associated Press

WARSAW, March 17—The legislature of the republic on the eve of plebiscite to determine whether Upper Silesia shall be Polish or German today adopted as constitutional after its third and final reading. Eighteen months ago a special commission of the diet began struggling with the question. A constitution now has been compiled which the Poles believe will have a favorable influence upon the participants in the plebiscite. In the event that the Upper Silesians decline to join Poland after a separation of more than 500 years, the legislators have promised the Silesians wide autonomy with their own diet elected upon a broad democratic basis and representing all trades of the industrial district half size of Belgium which has been the object of dispute between Poland and Germany.

FIRST LORD OF ADMIRALTY SAYS HE WAS MISQUOTED

LONDON, March 17—Lord Lee of Fareham, first lord of the admiralty declared today that his reference to the United States in his discussion of naval matters at a meeting of naval architects here yesterday had not been quoted correctly. What he really said he asserted was:

"We see that naval committee of the United States senate having down the principle that America shall maintain a navy at least equal to that of any other power. That is a claim to equality which this country never has conceded in the past and never would accept save in connection with the great English speaking nation which sprang from our loins and never held [illegible] ing a great place in our regard and confidence.

The difference between our formula and America's is too slight to be made the subject of controversy still less the subject of friction or hostility.

CANNUCK LOSES IN EFFORT TO RIDE WHITE LIGHTNING AT EXPOSITION'S CONTEST

Before a crowd that completely filled the big arena from the top tier of seats down and which utilized every available inch of standing space Yakima Cannuck title holder of many bronc riding contests and the man who took first money at the stock show at Fort Worth during last week met a clean cut defeat Wednesday night while trying to contest White Lightning the seemingly unridable and star bucking bronc of the bunch of noted contest horses carried by the T O (Jack) Burroughs Wild West a feature attraction ow exhibiting with the Frisco Exposition Shows at the ball park

It was conceded by the three judges that Cannuck made a clean get-away having secured the mount called for under contest rules but with a squeal of rage and living up to its name the beast with two lightning like movements threw the rider from the saddle Expressing himself as having been completely taken by surprise Cannuck had nothing to say other than that he would try again Thursday night Charlie Williams known as the boy rider of the Big Horn and who claims to having won more contest money and trophies than any other man in the country and who won fourth money at Fort Worth last week out of 84 riders chosen for the finals will undertake to conquer White Lightning Williams who has once before attempted to ride the horse and failed will ride under the same conditions as Cannuck he says the result will be different as he has solved White Lightning's method Only one exhibition will be given and it will start at 8 30

The Spring Festival given by the legion is now in full swing last night's crowd being the biggest of the week All of the many attractions carried by Frisco Shows were being well patronized and apparently giving satisfaction

Sees Small Chance For Redistricting At Special Session—Crude Tax To Come Up Again.

Small chance for redistricting and entirely too much chance for the three per cent tax on crude are in prospect for the special session of the legislature according to B Frank Johnson, representative of the Wichita-Wilbarger district Mr Johnson got home late Wednesday from the regular session which ended Saturday, making the trip in his car

Mr Johnson confirmed previous reports that Governor Neff had declared he would submit the three per cent measure at the special session which means that the oil men's fight must be made all over again The principal matter before the special session will be the appropriation bill and the governor has indicated that he will submit very few other bills, but that the production tax will be among those submitted

He may submit senatorial redistricting also Mr Johnson said "The bill passed the house without much trouble, but failed in the senate because it wasn't handled right in a parliamentary way West Texans feel that it would be a crime to fail to get the senatorial districts reorganized and they may get the governor to submit it at the special session

Belief that a law enforcement measure along more conservative lines than the one that brought on such a fight at the regular session will be enacted at the special session if the governor submits it, was expressed by Mr Johnson

Much of Mr Johnson's work at Austin was on measures affecting his district These bills included the two irrigation measures the 82nd court bill the bill for a stenographer for the county court at law all of which passed and the crude oil and gasoline tax bills which he took part in opposing

In the face of a statement that passenger traffic was maintaining its equilibrium despite the advance in rates comes the experience that Wednesday night the ticket agent at the Union depot had the smallest receipts in many years

The sudden falling off of receipts however is regarded with optimism by railroad men as the new rates have not been in effect long enough to draw a real comparison. Each year, however in the spring there is a falling off in traffic as many trust to their automobiles as methods of conveyance through the country

Ocie Williams chairman of the publicity committee of the Negro Business league called at The Times office Thursday to correct an impression concerning the indorsement given by the league Tuesday night to two candidates for aldermen

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Responsible for Change for the Better

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine, no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated Don't lose a day—Adv.

OUR STANDARDS

Our system of Neuro-Ophthalmology recognises Standards, which we get direct from Nature, which are arrived at and recognized as fixed just as the temperature of the body which is accepted to be 98 6, or the law of astronomy or mathematics

Having accepted a fixed Standard, we make use of deviations from that standard, in arriving at conditions, but always with the object of restoring the conditions back to the normal or standard

Eyes that are below our standard of vision are brought up to same—if possible—and those above our standard are reduced to same, for the relief of the strain which is always required to produce better than normal vision.

We would no more increase the vision beyond our normal standard than the physician would increase the temperature of the body above the normal, and neither would work to a condition below the normal standard
